Part 1: Literary Devices

Remember that in Shakespearean literature, literary devices are ways to make your language more powerful. Remember that in English literature, we use them a lot.

Figuralism is a way of saying that something is general or specific.

Example: "The first of the three is the first of the three" (Antigone, 1.1.1).

Remember that the first of the three is the first of the three, and the first of the three is the first of the three. Remember that the first of the three is the first of the three.
