TAP Reports Now Available!

New Available: TAP Report!

We are excited for the arrival of new reports for CDC's Targeted Assessment for Prevention (TAP) strategy! The TAP strategy enables identification and prioritization of facilities (or locations) for targeted infection prevention interventions.

New subject options, referred to as "TAP Reports", are available for facilities and groups and can be generated for CLABSI, CAUTI, and CDR reports data. The reports rank facilities (or groups) by the number of excess infections identified, calculated as the cumulative attributable infection (CAI). The CAI can help to prioritize the facilities (or locations) where the greatest prevention impact could be achieved. Ranking will occur for overall regional CAI (highest to lowest) and then by location within each hospital.

For more information about CDC's TAP strategy, including how to use the TAP reports online NHSN, please visit <http://www.cdc.gov/nhsn/tap.html>. Additional tools that can be used as part of the TAP strategy (e.g., Facility assessment and implementation tool) will be posted to this website as they become available.
