Berger,Raluca A. Roman,2020-06-09 Financial crises are recurring phenomena that result in the financial distress of systemically important banks making it imperative to understand how to best respond to such crises and their consequences Two policy responses became prominent for dealing with these distressed institutions since the last Global Financial Crisis bailouts and bail ins The main questions surrounding these responses touch everyone Are bailouts or bail ins good for the financial system and the real economy Is it essential to save distressed financial institutions by putting taxpayer money at risk in bailouts or is it better to use private money in bail ins instead Are there better options such as first lines of defense that help prevent such distress in the first place Can countercyclical prudential and monetary policies lessen the likelihood and severity of the financial crises that often bring about this distress Through careful analysis authors Berger and Roman review and critically assess the extant theoretical and empirical research on many resolution approaches and tools Placing special emphasis on lessons learned from one of the biggest bailouts of all time the Troubled Asset Relief Program TARP while also reviewing other programs and tools TARP and Other Bank Bailouts and Bail Ins around the World sheds light on how best to protect the financial system on Wall Street and the real economy on Main Street Presents a well informed and rich account of bailouts bail ins and other resolution approaches to resolve financially distressed banks Uses TARP as a key case study of bailouts that has been thoroughly researched Provides valuable research and policy guidance for dealing with future financial crises

Responding To Financial Crisis Changyong Rhee,Adam S Posen,2013-09-30 The Asian financial crisis of 1997 98 was devastating for the region but policymakers at least believed that they gained a great deal of knowledge on how to prevent mitigate and resolve crises in the future Fifteen years later the Asian developing countries escaped the worst effects of the global crisis of 2008 10 in part because they had learned the right lessons from their own experience In this important study the Asian Development Bank and Peterson Institute for International Economics join forces to illuminate the contrast between Asia's performance during the more recent crisis with its performance during its own crisis and the gap between what the US and EU leaders recommended to Asia then and what they have practiced on themselves since then. The overriding lessons emerging from the essays in this volume are that countries need to prepare for crises as if they cannot be prevented, make room for stabilization policies and deploy them rapidly when crises hit and address the need for self insurance globally if they can or regionally if they must.
