

The background of the cover is a painting of a harbor scene. In the distance, a bridge with several tall, thin towers spans the water. On the left, there are dark, silhouetted hills or mountains. The water is a muted teal color, and a small, dark boat is visible in the middle ground. The overall tone is somber and atmospheric.

American Spaces Of Conversion The Conductive Imaginaries Of Edwards Emerson And James:

American Spaces of Conversion Andrea Knutson, 2011 This study examines how the concept of conversion and specifically the legacy of the doctrine of preparation as articulated in Puritan Reform theology as transplanted to the Massachusetts Bay colony remained a vital cultural force shaping developments in American literature and philosophy It begins by discussing the testimonies of conversion collected by the Puritan minister Thomas Shepard which reveal an active pursuit of belief by prospective church members occurring at the intersection of experience perception doctrine affections and intellect This pursuit of belief codified in the morphology of conversion and originally undertaken by the Puritans as a way to conceptualize redemption in a fallen state established the epistemological contours for what Jonathan Edwards Ralph Waldo Emerson and William James would theorize as a conductive imaginary consciousness imagined as a space organized or that self organizes around the dynamics and tensions between abstract truth and concrete realities certainty and uncertainty and perception and objects perceived Each writer offers a picture of consciousness as both a receptive and active force responsible for translating the effects of experience and generating original relations with self community and God This study demonstrates that each writer ministered to their audiences by articulating a method or habit of mind in order to foster an individual's continual efforts at regeneration conceived by all the subjects of this study as a matter of converting semantics that is a dedicated willingness to seeking out personal and cultural renewal through the continual process of attaching new meaning and value to ordinary contexts

The Crisis of Conversion J. August Higgins, 2024-06-25 This book attempts to identify a central problem within the North American evangelical imagination around the issue of religious experience and its relationship to the basic hermeneutical stance of biblical and theological interpretation The relatively recent emergence of the academic discipline of Christian spirituality offers a new set of methodological insights that may help to mediate the theological impasse between more conservative and progressive perspectives concerning the appropriate role of human experience for evangelical thought and practice Specifically we will explore the experience of religious conversion that lies at the center of evangelical spirituality in critical dialogue with the challenges and opportunities brought about by recent philosophical discourse and the postmodern turn variously understood

"Born Again": A Portrait and Analysis of the Doctrine of Regeneration within Evangelical Protestantism Stephen J. Hamilton, 2017-04-03 Stephen J Hamilton attempts to create a portrait of born again Christianity by providing a general introduction to the doctrine of regeneration including its development in modernity as well as short exegeses of relevant scriptural texts followed by a close reading of four theologians Philipp Jakob Spener Jonathan Edwards Friedrich D E Schleiermacher and Charles G Finney who all associate the doctrine of regeneration with an experience of presence in the individual believer In light of these analyses he then traces a general theological structure of the born again understanding of regeneration including a catalogue of theological issues over which there is significant disagreement in order to create a topography of born again theologies In the final section he applies these results to contemporary conversion narratives of non theologians It is in such conversion narratives the author argues that theologians can discover an implicit lived theology that reveals how doctrines are perceived and put into practice among Christians Accordingly this is to be understood as the result of the creative reciprocity between often tacit theological convictions and the experiences of the Christian life The final chapter as a coda to the entire work offers some concluding reflections on the present cultural and political situation in the USA pertaining to born again Christianity and argues against any oversimplifications of the relationship between born again theologies culture and politics

William James and the Art of Popular Statement Paul Stob,2013-03-01 At the turn of the twentieth century no other public intellectual was as celebrated in America as the influential philosopher and psychologist William James Sought after around the country James developed his ideas in lecture halls and via essays and books intended for general audiences Reaching out to and connecting with these audiences was crucial to James so crucial that in 1903 he identified popular statement or speaking and writing in a way that animated the thought of popular audiences as the highest form of art Paul Stob s thought provoking history traces James s art of popular statement through pivotal lectures essays and books including his 1878 lectures in Baltimore and Boston Talks to Teachers on Psychology The Varieties of Religious Experience and Pragmatism The book explores James s unique approach to public address which involved crafting lectures in science religion and philosophy around ordinary people and their experiences With democratic bravado James confronted those who had accumulated power through various systems of academic and professional authority and argued that intellectual power should be returned to the people Stob argues that James gave those he addressed a central role in the pursuit of knowledge and fostered in them a new intellectual curiosity unlike few scholars before or since The Jonathan Edwards Encyclopedia Harry S.
