Drinking from the Cosmic Gourd B. Nyamnjoh, 2017-03-15 This book questions colonial and apartheid ideologies on being human and being African ideologies that continue to shape how research is conceptualised taught and practiced in universities across Africa Africans immersed in popular traditions of meaning making are denied the right by those who police the borders of knowledge to think and represent their realities in accordance with the civilisations and universes they know best Often the ways of life they cherish are labelled and dismissed too eagerly as traditional knowledge by some of the very African intellectual elite they look to for protection The book makes a case for sidestepped traditions of knowledge It draws attention to Africa's possibilities prospects and emergent capacities for being and becoming in tune with its creativity and imagination It speaks to the nimble footed flexible minded frontier African at the crossroads and junctions of encounters facilitating creative conversations and challenging regressive logics of exclusionary identities The book uses Amos Tutuola's stories to question dualistic assumptions about reality and scholarship and to call for conviviality interconnections and interdependence between competing knowledge traditions in Africa

Riddles of Belonging Christi A. Merrill, 2009 Can the subaltern joke Christi A Merrill answers by invoking riddling oral based fictions from Hindi Rajasthani Sanskrit and Urdu that dare to laugh at what traditions often keep hidden whether spouse abuse ethnic violence or the uncertain legacies of a divinely wrought sex change Herself a skilled translator Merrill uses these examples to investigate the expectation that translated work should allow the non English speaking subaltern to speak directly to the English speaking reader She plays with the trope of speaking to argue against treating a translated text as property as a singular material object to be carried across as translatus implies She refigures translation as a performative telling in turn from the Hindi word anuvad to explain how a text might be multiply possessed She thereby challenges the distinction between original and derivative fundamental to nationalist and literary discourse humoring our melancholic fixation on what is lost Instead she offers strategies for playing along with the subversive wit found in translated texts Sly jokes and spirited double entendres she suggests require equally spirited double hearings The playful lessons offered by these narratives provide insight into the networks of transnational relations connecting us across a sea of differences Generations of multilingual audiences in India have been navigating this Ocean of the Stream of Stories since before the 11th century arriving at a fluid sense of commonality across languages Salman Rushdie is not the first to pose crucial questions of belonging by telling a version of this narrative the work of non English language writers like Vijay Dan Detha whose tales are at the core of this book asks what responsibilities we have to make the rights and wrongs of these fictions come alive again after age Tradition and Modernity Lobiane Francis Rakotsoane, Roman Meinhold, 2007

Focus On: 100 Most Popular Fictional African-American People Wikipedia contributors, Afropolitan Horizons Ulf Hannerz, 2022-02-11 Nigeria is a country shaped by internal diversity and transnational connections past and present Leading Nigerian writers from Chinua Achebe Amos Tutuola and Wole Soyinka to Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie and Teju Cole have portrayed these Nigerian issues and have also written about some of the momentous events in Nigerian history Afropolitan Horizons discusses their work alongside other novelists and commentators as well as describing the ways in which Nigeria has appeared in foreign news reporting It is all interwoven with the author's own anthropological field research in a town in Central Nigeria Love and Marriage in Africa in the Novels of Elechi Amadi, Buchi Emecheta and Chinua Achebe Dr. Richa Jha, 2022-03-03 The theme of love and marriage in literature is perhaps as old as literature itself Works of literature across borders and genres have worked around these twin themes to give us some of the most memorable tales yet they appear quite neglected by the critics when making a study of African literature The world of literary criticism has witnessed a newfound interest in the African continent which had for a long time been suffering in ignominious darkness yet the majority of critical study is still focused on postcolonial themes and human relationships have largely been ignored The white man s perception and portrayal of Africa as a land of savages devoid of finer emotions could be a major influence in this regard This study strives to prove that the Africans have always had a rich history and culture of interpersonal relationships and the twin themes of love and marriage run across their literature justifying their claim to being as capable of harboring finer emotions as any other civilization of the world The novels under study in this research work present the importance of love in various aspects like the man woman relationship parent child relationship and an individual s love for his native land Various types of matrimonial alliances with the different aspects of an African marriage such as settling of marriage settlement and payment of the bride price gender equations polygamy widow remarriage etc have all been studied in the backdrop of the three novels taken under consideration This research work based on the novels of Elechi Amadi Buchi Emecheta and Chinua Achebe studies the representation of love and marriage in African literature as an important and recurrent theme that touches upon other aspects of the society like class division human relationships social beliefs myths superstition and most importantly the gender perspectives
