McDonough, 2006-07-19 The men in plays such as Arthur Miller s Death of a Salesman or Sam Shepard s True West are often presented as universal little attention is given to the gender dynamics involved in the characters This work looks at how contemporary playwrights including Miller Shepard Eugene O Neill David Mamet and August Wilson stage masculinity in their works It becomes apparent that male playwrights return often to the issues of troubled manhood usually masked in other issues such as war business or family The plays indicate both the attractiveness of the model of traditional masculinity and the illusive nature of this image which all too often fractures and fails the characters who pursue it O'Neill's play The Hairy Ape and the character Yank receive much attention Dramatists James Vinson, D. L. Kirkpatrick, 1979 American Voices Esther Harriott, 2013-04-01 Sam Shepard Lanford Wilson David Mamet Charles Fuller and Marsha Norman were born within ten years of one another While they are not linked to a particular movement or school they are fellow members of a generation of writers one that has come to prominence during a turning point in American theater From the midseventies to the late eighties emphasis on the written word returned after a decade dominated by nonverbal theater that subordinated language to the visual Each of these playwrights has regarded the written word as the center of a theatrical production All have received the Pulitzer Prize for drama The contexts of race religion region class and gender from which they write are very different yet each is typically American in some way Through interviews with Wilson Mamet Fuller and Norman and critical study of works of all five Harriott examines their disparate voices and their distinctive images of America
