Boivin,2021-05-21 The concept of the medieval city is fixed in the modern imagination conjuring visions of fortified walls towering churches and winding streets In Riemenschneider in Rothenburg Katherine M Boivin investigates how medieval urban planning and artistic programming worked together to form dynamic environments demonstrating the agency of objects styles and spaces in mapping the late medieval city Using altarpieces by the famed medieval artist Tilman Riemenschneider as touchstones for her argument Boivin explores how artwork in Germany's preeminent medieval city Rothenburg ob der Tauber deliberately propagated civic ideals She argues that the numerous artistic pieces commissioned by the city's elected council over the course of two centuries built upon one another creating a cohesive structural network that attracted religious pilgrims and furthered the theological ideals of the parish church By contextualizing some of Rothenburg's most significant architectural and artistic works such as St James's Church and Riemenschneider's Altarpiece of the Holy Blood Boivin shows how the city government employed these works to establish a local aesthetic that awed visitors raising Rothenburg's profile and putting it on the pilgrimage map of Europe Carefully documented and convincingly argued this book sheds important new light on the history of one of Germany's major tourist destinations It will be of considerable interest to medieval art historians and scholars working in the fields of cultural and urban history Art Book News Annual, volume 4: 2008 Art Book News Annual, volume 4: 2008 , Daily Life of Women in Medieval Europe Belle S. Tuten,2022-08-23 This book is an introduction to the everyday lives of medieval European women how they ate and slept what their work was like and the many factors that shaped their experiences Ordinary people are often hard to see in the historical record This resource for students reveals the everyday world of the Middle Ages for women sex marriage work and power Using up to date scholarship from both archeology and history this book covers major daily concerns for medieval people their understanding of the world their relationships with others and their place in society It attempts to clarify what we know and what we do not know about women's daily lives in the Western European Middle Ages between approximately 500 and 1500 CE The book's focus is everyday life so the topics are organized around women's chores expectations and difficulties especially with regard to sexuality and childbirth In addition to broad survey information about the Middle Ages the book also introduces major women writers and thinkers and provides some examples of their work giving the reader an opportunity to engage with the women themselves Reflections on Play, Sport, and Culture Felix Lebed,2024-02-06 The psychological dependence of humanity on playing is huge Its nature and functional utility are unclear These linked yet contradictory issues have created the intrigue that has fed philosophical thought for more than two hundred years During this period philosophy transferred many of the subjects of its analysis to the aegis of the humanities that it spawned Each of them pays close attention to human play and studies it with its own methods of theoretical and experimental research Thus what was once a general philosophical comprehension of human play has branched out into different directions definitions and theories This new book represents a renewed general view of human play The unique quality of the volume lies in its fairly rare interdisciplinary methodology encompassing a broad spectrum of the humanities philosophy anthropology sociology and the history of play and behavioral analysis of playing which have been done by the author As a result the volume ends with the proposition of a new general approach to human play that is named by the author play field theory Such an approach makes reflections on play sport and culture a source for all scholars studying play by widening their knowledge through both a new general view and their familiarization with notions from neighboring fields and disciplines
