The New World of Economics Richard B. McKenzie, Gordon Tullock, 2012-05-16 The New World of Economics 6th edition by Richard McKenzie and Gordon Tullock represents a revival of a classic text that when it was first published changed substantially the way economics would be taught at the introductory and advanced levels of economics for all time In a very real sense many contemporary general audience economics books that seek to apply the economic way of thinking to an unbounded array of social issues have grown out of the disciplinary tradition established by earlier editions of The New World of Economics This new edition of The New World will expose new generations of economics students to how McKenzie and Tullock have applied in a lucid manner a relatively small number of economic concepts and principles to a cluster of topics that have been in the book from its first release and to a larger number of topics that are new to this edition with the focus of the new topics on showing students how economic thinking can be applied to business decision making This edition continues the book's tradition of taking contrarian stances on important economic issues Economics professors have long reported that The New World is a rare book in that students will read it without being required to do so

Forestry Economics John E. Wagner, 2011-07-26 Forestry Economics introduces students and practitioners to all aspects of the management and economics of forestry The book adopts the approach of managerial economics textbooks and applies this to the unique processes and problems faced by managers of forests While most forestry economics books are written by economists for future economists what many future forest and natural resource managers need is to understand what economic information is and how to use it to make better business and management decisions John E Wagner draws on his twenty years of experience teaching and working in the field of forest resource economics to present students with an accessible understanding of the unique production processes and problems faced by forest and other natural resource managers There are three unique features of this book The first is its organization The material is organized around two common economic models used in forest and natural resources management decision making The second is the use of case studies from various disciplines Outdoor and Commercial Recreation Wood Products Engineering Forest Products and Forestry The purpose of these case studies is to provide students with applications of the concepts being discussed within the text The third is revisiting the question of how to use economic information to make better business decisions at the end of each chapter This ties each chapter to the preceding ones and reinforces the hypothesis that a solid working knowledge of these economic models and the information they contain are necessary for making better business decisions This textbook is an invaluable source of clear and accessible information on forestry economics and management for not only economics students but for students of other disciplines and those already working in forestry and natural resources The Future of the MBA Mihnea C. Moldoveanu, Roger L. Martin, 2008-04-25 The MBA is probably the hottest ticket among the current university graduate degree offerings every year more than 120 000 students enroll in MBA programs in the United States and the estimates in Europe do not lag far behind In addition job prospects have never looked better for business school graduates corporations are hiring more business school graduates every year and compensating them more handsomely The Future of the MBA provides a sorely needed detailed and systematic review of the major contemporary debates on management education At the same time it makes a striking new proposal that will certainly have an impact in business schools that managers need to develop a series of qualitative tacit skills which could be appropriately developed by integrative curricula brought from different disciplines including sociology philosophy and other social sciences Moldoveanu and Martin both involved in the greatly respected integrative business education program at the Rothman School of Management provide a guide on how to design a reliable integrated program for management students One of the main assets of the book is that it relies not just on speculative thinking but on real life experience and that it also includes case studies that will appeal to practicing managers As an authoritative reference on MBA education it will appeal to faculty and staff of business schools as well as students in related fields like education and public policy Executive MBA in IT - City of London College of Economics - 12 months - 100% online / self-paced City of London College of Economics, Overview An MBA in information technology or a Master of Business Administration in Information Technology is a degree that will prepare you to be a leader in the IT industry Content Managing Projects and IT Information Systems and Information Technology IT Manager s Handbook Business Process Management Human Resource Management Principles of Marketing The Leadership Just What Does an IT Manager Do The Strategic Value of the IT Department Developing an IT Strategy Starting Your New Job The First 100 Days etc Managing Operations Cut Over into Operations Agile Scrum Project Management IT Portfolio Management The IT Organization etc Introduction to Project Management The Project Management and Information Technology Context The Project Management Process Groups A Case Study Project Integration Management Project Scope Management Project Time Management Project Cost Management Project Quality Management Project Human Resource Management Project Communications Management Project Risk Management Project Procurement Management Project Stakeholder Management 50 Models for Strategic Thinking English Vocabulary For Computers and Information Technology Duration 12 months Assessment The assessment will take place on the basis of one assignment at the end of the course Tell us when you feel ready to take the exam and we ll send you the assignment questions Study material The study material will be provided in separate files by email download link MBA in Finance - City of London College of Economics - 10 months -
