Launching Liberty Doug Most, 2025-08-19 Out of nothing but the government's behest a few bold men conjured a giant ship building industry in 1940 and launched the ships that took America to war and to victory In 1940 the shadow of war loomed large over American life President Roosevelt understood that it wasn't a matter of if the United States would be pulled into battle but when He foresaw a new kind of war one that hinged on efforts at home Long before the attack on Pearl Harbor German U boats were relentlessly attacking American vessels prompting Roosevelt to launch a monumental ship building campaign He knew that no matter how much weaponry and how many tanks planes and trucks America built the Arsenal of Democracy would be useless unless it could be brought in massive volume and at breakneck speed to troops fighting overseas Launching Liberty tells the remarkable story of how FDR partnered with private businessmen to begin the production of cargo freighters longer than a football field ships he affectionately dubbed ugly ducklings These colossal Liberty Ships took over six months to build at the start of his 350 million emergency shipbuilding program far too long The government turned to Henry Kaiser the man who had delivered the Boulder Dam ahead of schedule and under budget but had never built a ship in his life Kaiser established a network of shipyards from coast to coast and recruited tens of thousands of workers eager to contribute to the war effort Many particularly African Americans and women traveled from some of the most downtrodden rural parts of the nation to help their country and to find a better life of greater equality As German U boats maintained their pace of attack Roosevelt and Kaiser initiated a bold nationwide competition among shipyards to see who could construct ships the fastest Driven by duty and the thrill of innovation workers reduced the shipbuilding timeline from months to weeks and then to days Launching Liberty is a tapestry of voices reflecting the diverse American experience of World War II From the halls of the White House to the cramped quarters of half finished cargo ships

Consumption Peter Dauvergne,2010-09-24 An environmentalist maps the hidden costs of overconsumption in a globalized world by tracing the environmental consequences of five commodities The Shadows of Consumption gives a hard hitting diagnosis many of the earth s ecosystems and billions of its people are at risk from the consequences of rising consumption Products ranging from cars to hamburgers offer conveniences and pleasures but as Peter Dauvergne makes clear global political and economic processes displace the real costs of consumer goods into distant ecosystems communities and timelines tipping into crisis people and places without the power to resist In The Shadows of Consumption Peter Dauvergne maps the costs of consumption that remain hidden in the shadows cast by globalized corporations trade and finance Dauvergne traces the environmental consequences of five commodities automobiles gasoline refrigerators beef and harp seals In these fascinating histories we learn for example that American officials ignored warnings about the dangers of lead in gasoline in the 1920s why China is now a leading producer of CFC free refrigerators and how activists were able to stop

Canada's commercial seal hunt in the 1980s but are unable to do so now Dauvergne's innovative analysis allows us to see why so many efforts to manage the global environment are failing even as environmentalism is slowly strengthening He proposes a guiding principle of balanced consumption for both consumers and corporations We know that we can make things better by driving a high mileage car eating locally grown food and buying energy efficient appliances but these improvements are incremental local and insufficient More crucial than our individual efforts to reuse and recycle will be reforms in the global political economy to reduce the inequalities of consumption and correct the imbalance between growing economies and environmental sustainability
