Handbook of Research on Social and Cultural Dynamics in Indian Cinema Biswal, Santosh Kumar,Kusuma, Krishna Sankar,Mohanty, Sulagna, 2020-06-26 Cinema in India is an entertainment medium that is interwoven into society and culture at large. It is clearly evident that continuous struggle and conflict at the personal as well as societal levels is depicted in cinema in India. It has become a reflection of society both in negative and positive ways. Hence cinema has become an influential factor and one of the largest mass communication mediums in the nation. Social and Cultural Dynamics in Indian Cinema is an essential reference source that discusses cultural and societal issues including caste, gender oppression and social movements through cinema and particularly in specific language cinema and culture. Featuring research on topics such as Bollywood film studies and gender equality, this book is ideally designed for researchers, academicians, film studies students and industry professionals seeking coverage on various aspects of regional cinema in India.

The Aesthetics of Ugliness in Contemporary Malayalam Cinema Sunitha Srinivas C, Arunlal K, 2024-09-27 Cinema as an aesthetic construct exists in a specific historical and political context reflecting the society and its aesthetic values. Visual representation of the Ugly, its politics and aestheticization are deeply rooted in the screen space. Featuring unconventional characters, unembellished visuals, raw and gritty storytelling, the unaesthetic challenges conventional notions of beauty on screen. The physical, psychological and social manifestations of the ugly are incorporated into the cinematic space through content, theme, physical representations, symbols, setting, dialogue as well as the camera. Exploring the intricate connection between ugliness and the cinematic medium, the book focuses on identity, gender and other manifestations of Ugly in contemporary Malayalam cinema. It meticulously analyses the portrayal of ugliness in characters, narratives and visual aesthetics, thus highlighting societal norms and realities of life. The book is a must read for film scholars, enthusiasts and anyone interested in the intersection of aesthetics and storytelling.

Horror Fiction in the Global South Ritwick Bhattacharjee, Saikat Ghosh, 2021-04-30 Horror Fiction in the Global South: Cultures, Narratives and Representations believes that the experiences of horror are not just individual but also simultaneously cultural. Within this understanding, literary productions become rather potent sites for the relation of such experiences both on the individual and the cultural front. It is not coincidental then that either William Blatty's The Exorcist or Gabriel Garcia Marquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude become archetypes of the representations of the way horror affects individuals placed inside different cultures. Such an affectation, though, is but a beginning of the ways in which the supernatural interacts with the human and gives rise to horror. Considering that almost all aspects of what we now designate as the Global North and its concomitant, the Global South, political, historical, social, economic, cultural and so on, function as different paradigms, the experiences of horror and their telling in stories become functionally different as well. Added to this are the variations that one nation or culture of the East has from another. The present anthology of essays in such a scheme of things seeks to examine and demonstrate these cultural differences embedded in the impact that figures of horror and specters of the night have on the narrative imagination of storytellers from the Global South. If horror has an everyday presence in the phenomenal reality that Southern cultures subscribe to, it demands alternative phenomenology. The anthology allows scholars and connoisseurs of Horror to explore theoretical possibilities that may help address precisely such a need

From the powerful god Shiva greatest of all yogis and most beautiful of all beings to stone dancers twisting along temple walls the body in Indian art is always richly adorned Alankara ornament protects the body and makes it complete and attractive to be unornamented is to invite misfortune In The Body Adorned Vidya Dehejia who has dedicated her career to the study of Indian art draws on the literature of court poets the hymns of saints and acharyas and verses from inscriptions to illuminate premodern India's unique treatment of the sculpted and painted form She focuses on the coexistence of sacred and sensuous images within the common boundaries of Buddhist Jain and Hindu sacred spaces redefining terms like sacred and secular in relation to Indian architecture She also considers the paradox of passionate poetry in which saints praised the sheer bodily beauty of the divine form and nonsacred Rajput painted manuscripts which freely inserted gods into the earthly realm of the courts By juxtaposing visual and literary sources Dehejia demonstrates the harmony between the sacred and the profane in classical Indian culture Her synthesis of art literature and cultural materials not only generates an all inclusive picture of the period but also revolutionizes our understanding of the cultural ethos of premodern India
