Wearing Culture Heather Orr, MatthewLooper, 2013-03-15 Wearing Culture connects scholars of divergent geographical areas and academic fields from archaeologists and anthropologists to art historians to show the significance of articles of regalia and of dressing and ornamenting people and objects among the Formative period cultures of ancient Mesoamerica and Central America Documenting the elaborate practices of costume adornment and body modification in Panama Costa Rica Nicaragua Honduras Oaxaca the Soconusco region of southern Mesoamerica the Gulf Coast Olmec region Olman and the Maya lowlands this book demonstrates that adornment was used as a tool for communicating status social relationships power gender sexuality behavior and political ritual and religious identities Despite considerable formal and technological variation in clothing and ornamentation the early indigenous cultures of these regions shared numerous practices attitudes and aesthetic interests Contributors address technological development manufacturing materials and methods nonfabric ornamentation symbolic dimensions representational strategies and clothing as evidence of interregional sociopolitical exchange Focusing on an important period of cultural and artistic development through the lens of costuming and adornment Wearing Culture will be of interest to scholars of pre Hispanic and pre Columbian studies

Collecting Across Cultures Daniela Bleichmar, Peter C. Mancall, 2011-03-17 In the early modern age more people traveled farther than at any earlier time in human history Many returned home with stories of distant lands and at least some of the objects they collected during their journeys And those who did not travel eagerly acquired wondrous materials that arrived from faraway places Objects traveled various routes personal imperial missionary or trade and moved not only across space but also across cultures Histories of the early modern global culture of collecting have focused for the most part on European Wunderkammern or cabinets of curiosities But the passion for acquiring unfamiliar items rippled across many lands The court in Java marveled at collected and displayed myriad goods brought through its halls African princes traded captured members of other African groups so they could get the newest kinds of cloth produced in Europe Native Americans sought colored glass beads made in Europe often trading them to other indigenous groups Items changed hands and crossed cultural boundaries frequently often gaining new and valuable meanings in the process An object that might have seemed mundane in some cultures could become a target of veneration in another The fourteen essays in Collecting Across Cultures represent work by an international group of historians art historians and historians of science Each author explores a specific aspect of the cross cultural history of collecting and display from the dawn of the sixteenth century to the early decades of the nineteenth century As the essays attest an examination of early modern collecting in cross cultural contexts sheds light on the creative and complicated ways in which objects in collections served to create knowledge some factual some fictional about distant peoples in an increasingly transnational world

Collecting Asian Art Markéta Hánová,Yuka Kadoi,Simone Wille,2024-02-29 Rather than centering on the well known collections in Western European and North American museums Collecting Asian Art turns to museum collections of Asian art in Central Europe which emerged from the late 19th century onwards Highlighting the dimensions of Central European connectedness this volume explores how these collections evolved and changed under changing cultural and political conditions from the pre World War I to the post World War II periods With a primary focus on collections of East Asian South Asian and West Asian art in Vienna Prague Berlin Warsaw Krak w Budapest and Ljubljana it outlines the transregional connections and networks that gradually developed Collecting Asian Art locates Asian art across the twentieth century in Central Europe via discourse and ideology and discusses key collections and the way individual collectors built their networks It thus explores transregional connections that developed through collecting activities and strategies in the prewar interwar and postwar eras Contributors also examine the personal connections between a group of Indologists from postwar Prague and modernist Indian artists from the early 1950s to the 1980s and also discuss the systematic archiving of East Asian art collections in Slovenia A concluding conversation looks at colonisation and decolonisation from a broader perspective by approaching it through recent art historical discussions on the global dimensions of modernism By defining the region through its external relationships and its entanglements with regions across Asia rather than as a self contained unit the contributions in this volume outline how these transregional connections and networks evolved and changed over time thus highlighting their singularity in comparison to developments in Western Europe Based on recent research Collecting Asian Art reveals neglected sources while reinterpreting well known ones

Spirit and Ritual Robert L. Thorp,Virginia Bower,Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.),1982 Terres cuites grecques Augustin Cartault,1891 Gender and Archaeology Rita Wright,1996-10 Gender and Archaeology challenges archaeologists to draw on wider feminist discourses in their interpretations of past societies and also challenges feminist scholars in other disciplines to consider new engendered approaches to archaeology

The Oxford Handbook of Prehistoric Figurines Timothy Insoll,2017-04-13 Figurines dating from prehistory have been found across the world but have never before been considered globally The Oxford Handbook of Prehistoric Figurines is the first book to offer a comparative survey of this kind bringing together approaches from across the landscape of contemporary research into a definitive resource in the field The volume is comprehensive authoritative and accessible with dedicated and fully illustrated chapters covering figurines from the Americas Europe Africa Asia and Australasia and the Pacific laid out by geographical location and written by the foremost scholars in figurine studies wherever prehistoric figurines are found they have been expertly described and examined in relation to their subject matter form function context chronology meaning and interpretation Specific themes that are discussed by contributors include for example theories of figurine interpretation meaning in processes and contexts of figurine production use destruction and disposal and the cognitive and social implications of representation Chronologically the coverage ranges from the Middle Palaeolithic through to areas and periods where an absence of historical sources renders figurines prehistoric even though they might have been produced in the mid 2nd millennium AD as in parts of sub Saharan Africa The result is a synthesis of invaluable insights into past thinking on the human body gender identity and how the figurines might have been used either practically ritually or even playfully

Resistance at the Edge of Empires Cameron A. Petrie, 2020-12-28 From 1985 to 2001 the collaborative research initiative known as the Bannu Archaeological Project conducted archaeological explorations and excavations in the Bannu region in what was then the North West Frontier Province NWFP of Pakistan now Khyber Pakhtunkhwa This Project involves scholars from the Pakistan Heritage Society the British Museum the Institute of Archaeology UCL Bryn Mawr College and the University of Cambridge This is the third in a series of volumes that present the final reports of the exploration and excavations carried out by the Bannu Archaeological Project This volume presents the first synthesis of the archaeology of the historic periods in the Bannu region spanning the period when the first large scale empires expanded to the borders of South Asia up until the arrival of Islam in the subcontinent at the end of the first and beginning of the second millennium BC The Bannu region provides specific insight into early imperialism in South Asia as throughout this protracted period it was able to maintain a distinctive regional identity in the face of recurring phases of imperial expansion and integration

Miscellaneous Studies in Mexican Prehistory Michael W. Spence, Jeffrey R. Parsons, Mary H. Parsons, 1972-01-01 In this volume the authors present research on three important classes of artifacts from Mexico Michael W Spence and Jeffrey R Parsons report on prehispanic obsidian exploitation in Central Mexico and Mary Hrones Parsons writes about Aztec figurines and spindle whorls from the Teotihuacan Valley

The "Keros Hoard" Panagiōta I. Sōtērakopoulou, Peggy Sotirakopoulou, 2005 Keros is a small mountainous and now deserted island situated between Naxos Amorgos and Ios in the southeast Cyclades Keros became widely known after a series of extensive and clandestine excavations in the 1950s and early 1960s which concentrated on a particularly rich deposit of material at the site of Kavos situated at its barren western extremity These major lootings resulted in the illegal export from Greece of a large number of Early Cycladic objects mostly fragmentary marble figurines that flooded the international antiquities market under the general name the Keros Hoard The cache was said to have included at least 350 Cycladic objects and is now widely dispersed This study features a review of the archaeological investigations on Keros a discussion of the so called Keros Hoard an extensive account of the various aspects of Cycladic figurines and a catalogue of the objects identified as coming from the Hoard Also included are an analysis of the data derived from the Hoard the results of the study comparing the fragments in the Museum of Cycladic Art with those

Wilson, 2023-04-10 From 1923 to 1933 the Chicago Field Museum and the University of Oxford conducted archaeological excavations at the site of Kish located on the floodplain of the Euphrates River in modern Iraq approximately 80 kilometers south of Baghdad Over the course of ten years of work the expedition explored seventeen different mounds both inside and outside the ancient boundaries of Kish The finds were divided at the end of each season with the Iraq Museum retaining half of the objects and any one of a kind items and the two excavating institutions splitting the remainder

Beginning in 2004 the Field Museum undertook a reevaluation of its Kish holdings To highlight new research and insights into the material culture from Kish and our understanding of the importance of the site to Mesopotamian archaeology the Field Museum held a symposium in 2008 that brought together an international group of scholars who presented papers on various aspects of the ancient city This volume which grew out of that symposium presents a wide array of studies on the excavated material remains from Kish including cuneiform texts animal figurines human remains lithics figural stucco wall decorations and more

Hellenistic and Roman Terracottas Giorgos Papantoniou, Demetrios Michaelides, Maria Dikomitou - Eliadou, 2019-05-15 Edited by G Papantoniou D Michaelides and M Dikomitou Eliadou Hellenistic and Roman Terracottas is a collection of 29 chapters with an introduction presenting diverse and innovative approaches archaeological stylistic iconographic functional contextual digital and physicochemical in the study of ancient terracottas across the Mediterranean and the Near East from the Hellenistic period to Late Antiquity The 34 authors advocate collectively the significance of a holistic approach to the study of coroplastic art which considers terracottas not simply as works of art but most importantly as integral components of ancient material culture The volume will prove to be an invaluable companion to all those interested in ancient terracottas and their associated iconography and technology as well as in ancient artefacts and classical archaeology in general
