Flying Home And Other Stories John Callahan, Ralph Ellison, 2016-07-07 Raw lyrical and blazing with intensity these short stories are a potent distillation of the genius of Ralph Ellison author of Invisible Man He saw the dark bird glide into the sun and glow like a bird of flaming gold Ranging from the Jim Crow South to a Harlem bingo parlour from the hobo jungles of the Great Depression to Wales during the Second World War they all display the musically layered voices soaring language and sheer ebullience that made Ellison a giant of twentieth century American writing Written early in Ellison's career several of these fourteen stories were unpublished in his lifetime including A Storm of Blizzard Proportions which features in this collection for the first time Approach the simple elegance of Chekhov Washington Post Probing the Skin Dirk

African American Fiction Darryl Dickson-Carr, 2005-12-06 In both the literal and metaphorical senses it seemed as if 1970s America was running out of gas The decade not only witnessed long lines at gas stations but a citizenry that had grown weary and disillusioned High unemployment runaway inflation and the energy crisis caused in part by U S dependence on Arab oil characterized an increasingly bleak economic situation As Edward D Berkowitz demonstrates the end of the postwar economic boom Watergate and defeat in Vietnam led to an unraveling of the national consensus During the decade ideas about the United States how it should be governed and how its economy should be managed changed dramatically Berkowitz argues that the postwar faith in sweeping social programs and a global U S mission was replaced by a more skeptical attitude about government's ability to positively affect society From Woody Allen to Watergate from the decline of the steel industry to the rise of Bill Gates and from Saturday Night Fever to the Sunday morning fervor of evangelical preachers Berkowitz captures the history tone and spirit of the seventies He explores the decade's major political events and movements including the rise and fall of détente congressional reform changes in healthcare policies and the hostage crisis in Iran The seventies also gave birth to several social movements and the rights revolution in which women gays and lesbians and people with disabilities all successfully fought for greater legal and social recognition At the same time reaction to these social movements as well as the issue of abortion introduced a new facet into American political life the rise of powerful politically conservative religious organizations and activists Berkowitz also considers important shifts in American popular culture recounting the creative renaissance in American film as well as the birth of the Hollywood blockbuster He discusses how television programs such as All in the Family and Charlie's Angels offered Americans both a reflection of and an escape from the problems gripping the country

Corn,2011-10-13 Into the Blue revisits the remarkable trajectory of Americans in air and space gathering sixty of the best eyewitness and participant narratives from Benjamin

Franklin's letters on the first hot air balloons to Chris Jones's account of being marooned on the International Space Station. Here are those who made flight happen: Orville and Wilbur Wright, self-taught pioneers whose homespun invention stunned the world; World War I ace Eddie Rickenbacker whose memoirs excerpted here for the first time in unedited form describe the frightening novelties of aerial combat; and daredevils like Texas barnstormer Slaty Rodgers and test pilot Jimmy Collins. Ernest Hemingway offers a vivid dispatch on a 1922 flight over France, and Gertrude Stein muses on the look of America from the air. Charles A. Lindbergh and Amelia Earhart narrate their groundbreaking transatlantic flights. Ralph Ellison reflects on the experience of African American airmen at Tuskegee. William F. Buckley Jr. recounts his mishaps as an amateur pilot. Wernher von Braun envisions a space station of the future while astronauts John Glenn, Michael Collins, and Buzz Aldrin provide firsthand recollections of the conquest of space. Here too, among many other subjects, are scenes and episodes in the development of commercial aviation from the hiring of the first stewardesses and the high stress lives of air traffic controllers to the new ubiquity of what Walter Kirn calls Airworld. A thirty-two page insert offers photographs, some previously unpublished, of the writers and their crafts.

The ultimate literary bucket list. THE WASHINGTON POST Celebrate the pleasure of reading and the thrill of discovering new titles in an extraordinary book that's as compulsively readable, entertaining, surprising, and enlightening as the 1,000 plus titles it recommends. Covering fiction, poetry, science, and science fiction, memoir, travel, writing, biography, children's books, history, and more, 1,000 Books to Read Before You Die ranges across cultures and through time to offer an eclectic collection of works that each deserve to come with the recommendation: You have to read this. But it's not a proscriptive list of the great works; rather, it's a celebration of the glorious mosaic that is our literary heritage. Flip it open to any page and be transfixed by a fresh take on a very favorite book. Or come across a title you always meant to read and never got around to. Or, like browsing in the best kind of bookshop, stumble on a completely unknown author and work and feel that tingle of discovery. There are classics, of course, and unexpected treasures too. Lists to help pick and choose, like Offbeat Escapes or A Long Climb but What a View. And its alphabetical arrangement by author assures that surprises await on almost every turn of the page, with Cormac McCarthy next to Robert McCloskey and Make Way for Ducklings, Alice Walker next to Isaac Walton. There are nuts and bolts, too: best editions to read, other books by the author if you like this, you'll like that, recommendations, and an interesting endnote of adaptations where appropriate. Add it all up, and in fact there are more than six thousand titles by nearly four thousand authors mentioned, a life-changing list for a lifetime of reading. 948 pages later, you still want more.
