What I Believe Tariq Ramadan:

Tradition and Modernity David Marshall, 2013-05-20 Tradition and Modernity focuses on how Christians and Muslims connect their traditions to modernity looking especially at understandings of history changing patterns of authority and approaches to freedom The volume includes a selection of relevant texts from 19th and 20th century thinkers from John Henry Newman to Tariq Ramadan accompanied by illuminating commentaries The Idea of European Islam Mohammed Hashas, 2018-07-24 Suspicions about the integration of Islam into European cultures have been steadily on the rise and dramatically so since 9 11 One reason lies in the visibility of anti Western Islamic discourses of salafi origin which have monopolized the debate on the true Islam not only among Muslims but also in the eyes of the general population across Europe these discourses combined with Islamophobic discourses reinforce the so called incompatibility between the West and Islam This book breaks away from this clash between Islam and the West by arguing that European Islam is possible It analyzes the contribution that European Islam has made to the formation of an innovative Islamic theology that is deeply ethicist and modern and it clarifies how this constructed European Islamic theology is able to contribute to the various debates that are related to secular liberal democracies of Western Europe Part I introduces four major projects that defend the idea of European Islam from different disciplines and perspectives politics political theology jurisprudence and philosophy Part II uses the frameworks from three major philosophers and scholars to approach the idea of European Islam in the context of secular liberal societies British scholar George Hourani Moroccan philosopher Taha Abderrahmane and the American philosopher John Rawls The book shows that the ongoing efforts of European Muslim thinkers to revisit the concept of citizenship and political community can be seen as a new kind of political theology in opposition to radical forms of Islamic thinking in some Muslim majority countries Opening a new path for examining Islamic thought in and of Europe this book will appeal to students and scholars of Islamic Studies Islam in the West and Political Theology Islam and the Governing of Muslims in France Frank Peter, 2021-01-28 Will Islam be able to adapt to France s secularity and its strict separation of public and private spheres Can France accommodate Muslims In this book Frank Peter argues that the debate about Islam and Muslims is not simply caused by ignorance or Islamophobia Rather it is an integral part of how secularism is reasoned Islam and the Governing of Muslims in France shows that understanding religion as separate from other aspects of life such as politics economy and culture disregards the ways religion has operated and been managed in secular societies such as France This book uncovers the varying rationalities of the secular that have developed over the past few decades in France to govern Islam in order to examine how Muslims engage with the secular regime and contribute to its transformation This book offers a close analysis of French secularism as it has been debated by Islamic intellectuals and activists from the 1990s until the present It will influence the study of secularism as well as the study of Islam in the French Republic and reveal new connections between Islamic traditions and secular rationalities The Future of Political Theology Aakash

Singh, Mika Luoma-aho, Dr Péter Losonczy, 2013-06-28 Recent shifts in the contemporary cultural political and religious landscape are engendering intensive attention concerning political theology New trends and traditional ideas equally colour these movements Given that a medley of recent books and articles have exhaustively treated both the history and the current resurgence of political theology we now find ourselves faced with the task of reinventing and redefining the future of political theology This book presents a rich overview of fresh contemporary theoretical approaches uniquely prioritizing the prospects of the future of political theology but also making room for significant interventions from philosophy and political theory Including prominent essays on Judaic Islamic Buddhist and Christian perspectives this book balances elements from post modern theology with more classical as well as anti post modern approaches IDENTITI MUSLIM EROPAH: PERSPEKTIF TARIQ RAMADAN Nor Faridah Mat Nong, 2015 Discipline, Devotion, and Dissent Graham P. McDonough, Nadeem A. Memon, Avi I. Mintz, 2013-09-03 The education provided by Canada's faith based schools is a subject of public political and scholarly controversy As the population becomes more religiously diverse the continued establishment and support of faith based schools has reignited debates about whether they should be funded publicly and to what extent they threaten social cohesion These discussions tend to occur without considering a fundamental question How do faith based schools envision and enact their educational missions Discipline Devotion and Dissent offers responses to that question by examining a selection of Canada's Jewish Catholic and Islamic schools The daily reality of these schools is illuminated through essays that address the aims and practices that characterize these schools how they prepare their students to become citizens of a multicultural Canada and how they respond to dissent in the classroom The essays in this book reveal that Canada's faith based schools sometimes succeed and sometimes struggle in bridging the demands of the faith and the need to create participating citizens of a multicultural society Discussion surrounding faith based schools in Canada would be enriched by a better understanding of the aims and practices of these schools and this book provides a gateway to the subject Dār al-Islām Revisited Sarah Albrecht, 2018-04-24 Where is dār al islām and who defines its boundaries in the 21st century In Dār al Islām Revisited Territoriality in Contemporary Islamic Legal Discourse on Muslims in the West Sarah Albrecht explores the variety of ways in which contemporary Sunni Muslim scholars intellectuals and activists reinterpret the Islamic legal tradition of dividing the world into dār al islām the territory of Islam dār al arb the territory of war and other geo religious categories Starting with an overview of the rich history of debate about this tradition this book traces how and why territorial boundaries have remained a matter of controversy until today It shows that they play a crucial role in current discussions of religious authority identity and the interpretation of the shari'a in the West Christianity, Islam, and the West Robert A. Burns, 2011-12-01 This book has its origins in a comparative religions course Burns has taught at the University of Arizona for the past thirty years Those who have enrolled in the class have come from diverse religious and cultural backgrounds Whatever the mix a shared curiosity about Christianity Judaism and Islam has always been present Since the 9 11 attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon students as well as the general public are especially interested in Islam Like many Americans they have little or no knowledge of the Islamic religion This work touches upon the origins and central teachings of the Islamic religion and discusses the commonalties and differences between Islam and Christianity Throughout the book Burns poses and answers the kinds of questions most frequently asked by his students This approach will be helpful to students in comparative religions courses as well as other individuals interested in the connections between Christianity and Islam The purpose of this book is to help alleviate the misinformation surrounding Islam and Christianity and to inspire a dialogue between the two religions Such communication will the author hopes help promote justice and peace throughout the world

The Theology of Tariq Ramadan Gregory Baum, 2009 Tariq Ramadan has emerged as one of the most influential Muslim theologians in the world today In this important book Gregory Baum presents for the first time an introduction to several key aspects of Ramadan s theological enterprise Baum examines Ramadan s work historically within an interfaith perspective drawing several parallels between Islamic and Catholic encounters with modernity His comparison of the debates in the two traditions suggests that reform and renewal are compatible with the substance of both Catholic and Muslim traditions After a brief account of the evolution of Catholic theology up to the Second Vatican Council Baum introduces Ramadan s published work and theological orientation examining both within the historical development of Islam He outlines Ramadan s theology of God humanity and the universe and discusses Ramadan s interpretation of sharia the divinely revealed Islamic way of life The book then addresses what fidelity to Islam means for Western Muslims and contrasts Ramadan s theology with the theological liberalism advocated by some Muslim authors Throughout Baum makes helpful connections between Islam and Vatican II Catholicism Both belief systems are steeped in ancient traditions rely on a sacred book and find themselves confronting a modern context Reformist Islam shares much with Catholic social thought in showing a regard for the poor and marginalized Baum concludes by examining points of difference between Muslim and Catholic theology that support further conversation This readable introduction to Ramadan s work is accessible to non Muslim students teachers clergy and general readers interested in Islam and interfaith dialogue This book is a beautiful example of serious theological dialogue between two seminal theologians of our age Gregory Baum and Tariq Ramadan It is a balanced and significant contribution to scholarship about Ramadan s thought for at least two reasons first it provides a very important perspective on the similarities that Catholicism earlier and Islam today have shared in facing the many challenges of modernity and second the conclusion Professor Baum reaches may be short but is profound the time for religious secular dialogue has come Patrice Brodeur Canada Research Chair on Islam Pluralism and Globalization Universite de Montreal Gregory Baum is a gift to the Church and indeed to the world A stalwart of the Vatican II era he is now an eminence grise of North American Christianity in its efforts to engage the secular world through a confident and critical dialogue about meaning In this remarkable and pioneering volume he engages contemporary Islam through a typically generous reading of one of its most influential theologians Tariq Ramadan Avoiding the often silly but sometimes brutal polemics that have obscured the quality of Ramadan's reformist thought Baum notes the striking affinities between Islam's and Catholicism's respective encounters with democracy religious freedom and critical reading of sacred sources among other contested issues Having absorbed the deepest insights of Catholicism's recent revolution in self-understanding a revolution he helped to stimulate and advance this unofficial quietly charismatic ambassador of Christian intellectual innovation has provided invaluable insight into the mind of the person who has been termed the Muslim Martin Luther Baum as he has in the past is pointing the way forward for innovative and serious theological work in the opening of sustained dialogue and conversation with the contemporary current of Islamic reform represented by figures like Ramadan he rightly sees an opportunity for a renewal of Catholic theology in its service to the cause of reconciliation and peace Scott Appleby University of Notre Dame

What I Believe Tariq Ramadan, 2009-10-06 Tariq Ramadan is very much a public figure named one of Time magazine's most important innovators of the twenty-first century He is among the leading Islamic thinkers in the West with a large following around the world But he has also been a lightning rod for controversy Indeed in 2004 Ramadan was prevented from entering the U.S. by the Bush administration and despite two appeals supported by organizations like the American Academy of Religion and the ACLU he was barred from the country until spring of 2010 when Secretary of State Hillary Clinton finally lifted the ban In What I Believe Ramadan attempts to set the record straight laying out the basic ideas he stands for in clear and accessible prose He describes the book as a work of clarification directed at ordinary citizens politicians journalists and others who are curious or skeptical about his positions Aware that that he is dealing with emotional issues Ramadan tries to get past the barriers of prejudice and misunderstanding to speak directly from the heart to his Muslim and non-Muslim readers alike In particular he calls on Western Muslims to escape the mental social cultural and religious ghettos they have created for themselves and become full partners in the democratic societies in which they live At the same time he calls for the rest of us to recognize our Muslim neighbors as citizens with rights and responsibilities the same as ours His vision is of a future in which a shared and confident pluralism becomes a reality at last

Globalising Hatred Denis MacShane, 2008-09-25 A hard hitting essay combined with factual reportage on the new anti semitism throughout Europe This book argues that what the 21st century now faces is an ideological assault based on hatred of Jews which is as serious as any major threat to universal values as the world has faced Anti semitism is the visible language and action of a deeper threat to world peace to the achievements of the human spirit we call the Enlightenment and undermines vital work to address problems like poverty and the challenges of the environment Denis MacShane's survey of 21st century anti semitism is based on the All Party Commission of Enquiry which was chaired by the author in the UK His book considers examples in Europe and how anti semitism is now a linking mechanism between different extremisms usually but not exclusively of the Right It lists in detail the anti semitism in national party politics including the European Parliament and it examines how Holocaust denial is not a question of liberal free expression issues but an organised ideological position The new anti semitism arises from three main sources state sanctioned anti semitism that of terrorist movements like Al Qaeda and that of political movements like the Muslim Brotherhood and its off shoots and spokesmen The book is both a cri de coeur for a new tolerance and a resolution to throw light on 21st century anti semitism which has left Europe to become a new form of mobilising politics across many continents
