Designing For The Homeless Architecture That Works:

Designing for the Homeless Sam Davis, 2004-11-29 An eye opener The subject of homelessness has often been discussed but no one before has cut such a broad swath through the subject There is no other book that deals with the architecture of homelessness Robert Gutman author of Architectural Practice A Critical View Davis lays out a compelling case for us all especially designers to get involved in solutions for the problem of homelessness He discusses the plight of the homeless in terms that make them real and his chapter on the costs of homelessness lays out the argument for involvement in very practical terms Michael Underhill Professor School of Architecture at Arizona State University Material Culture in America Helen Sheumaker, Shirley Wajda, 2007-11-07 The first encyclopedia to look at the study of material culture objects images spaces technology production and consumption and what it reveals about historical and contemporary life in the United States Reaching back 400 years Material Life in America An Encyclopedia is the first reference showing what the study of material culture reveals about American society revelations not accessible through traditional sources and methods In nearly 200 entries the encyclopedia traces the history of artifacts concepts and ideas industries peoples and cultures cultural productions historical forces periods and styles religious and secular rituals and traditions and much more Everyone from researchers and curators to students and general readers will find example after example of how the objects and environments created or altered by humans reveal as much about American life as diaries documents and texts

Homelessness and the Built Environment Jill Pable, Yelena McLane, Lauren Trujillo, 2021-07-08 Winner of the 2020 IDEC award Homelessness and the Built Environment provides a practical introduction to the effective physical design of homes and other facilities that assist unhoused persons in countries identified as middle to high income It considers the supportive role that design can play for unhoused persons and other users and argues that the built environment is an equal partner alongside other therapies and programs for ending a person's state of homelessness By exploring issues trends and the unique potential of built environments this book moves the needle of what is possible to assist people experiencing trauma Examining important architectural and interior architectural design considerations in detail within emergency shelters transitional shelters permanent supportive housing day centers and multi service complexes such as space planning choices circulation and wayfinding visibility lighting and materials and finishes it provides readers with both curated conclusions from empirical knowledge and experienced designers perspectives Homelessness and the Built Environment is an imperative and singular reference for interior designers architects and building renovation sponsors design researchers and students forging new discoveries and policy makers who seek to assist communities affected by homelessness Race, Poverty, and Social Justice José Z. Calderón, 2023-07-03 This volume explores multiple examples of how to connect classrooms to communities through service learning and participatory research to teach issues of social justice The various chapters provide examples of how collaborations between students faculty and community partners are creating models of democratic spaces on campus and off campus where the students are teachers and the teachers are students The purpose of this volume is to provide examples of how service learning can be integrated into courses addressing social justice issues At the same time it is about demonstrating the power of service learning in advancing a course content that is community based and socially engaged To stimulate the adaptation of the approaches described in these books each volume includes an Activity Methodology table that summarizes key elements of each example such as class size pedagogy and other disciplinary applications Click here for the table to this title

Practices in Interior Architecture Garip, Ervin, Garip, S. Banu, 2020-11-20 Studio environments can be defined as multi dimensional integrated production spaces where basic design trainings take place and where design issues including theoretical notions such as sociological political phenomenological and other dimensions are discussed Present approaches within the literature and social media on this topic gives cause for students to evaluate their future professions over finished and pictorial products rather than ontological and processual means While there are many resources available on the present approaches of aesthetics and visuality of interior spaces there is not much research available on new design methodologies related design processes and new applied methods in interior arcitecture Based on different contexts these methods of design practice have the potential to enrich design processes and create multiple discussion platforms within project studios as well as other design media These different representations and narration methods for research in the context of interior architecture can be effectively used in design processes The Handbook of Research on Methodologies for Design and Production Practices in Interior Architecture proposes new design methodologies and related design processes and introduces new applied method approaches while presenting alternative methods that have been used within design studios in the field of interior architecture The chapters deal with four major sections the design process and interdisciplinary approaches then scenario development and content followed by material texture and atmosphere and concluding with new approaches to design While highlighting topics such as spatial perception design strategies architectural atmosphere and design thinking this book is of interest to architects interior designers practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students looking for advanced research on the new design methodologies and processes for interior architecture

Design on the Edge Waverly Lowell, Elizabeth Byrne, Betsy Frederick-Rothwell, 2009 Designing Publics Christopher A. Le Dantec, 2016-09-16 An exploration of design considerations in the design of technologies that support local collective action Contemporary computing technologies have thoroughly embedded themselves in every aspect of modern life conducting commerce maintaining and extending our networks of friends and mobilizing political movements all occur through a growing collection of devices and services designed to keep and hold our attention Yet what happens when our attention needs to be more local collective and focused on our immediate communities Perhaps more important how can we imagine and create new technologies with local communities In Designing Publics Christopher Le Dantec explores these questions by designing technologies with the urban homeless Drawing on a case study of the design of a computational infrastructure in a shelter for homeless women and their children Le Dantec theorizes an alternate vision of design in community contexts Focusing on collective action through design Le Dantec investigates the way design can draw people together on social issues and create and sustain a public By designing publics he refers both to the way publics arise out of design intervention and to the generative action publics take how they do design as they mobilize and act in the world This double lens offers a new view of how design and a diverse set of design practices circulate in sites of collective action rather than commercial production Routledge International Handbook of Participatory Design Jesper Simonsen, Toni Robertson, 2013 Participatory Design is about the direct involvement of people in the co design of the technologies they use Embracing a diverse collection of principles and practices aimed at making technologies tools environments businesses and social institutions more responsive to human needs this is a state of the art reference handbook for the subject The Routledge International Handbook of Participatory Design brings together a multidisciplinary and international group of experts to discuss the pivotal issues in participatory design Architectural Record, 2008 Basics Design 08: Design Thinking Gavin Ambrose, Paul Harris, 2010-01-11 Basics Design Design Thinking is an introduction to the process of generating creative ideas and concepts used by designers in order to start the process that leads to a finished piece of work This focus on ideas and methods favours a useable approach to design as a problem solving activity This is supported by practical work examples and case studies from leading contemporary design studios accompanied by concise descriptions technical expansions and diagrammatic visualisations Basics Design Design Thinking teaches the generation of ideas as a practical skill vital to the creation of successful design The International Design Yearbook 2005 Marcel Wanders, 2005 In this the 20th edition of the leading international showcase of domestic design guest editor and acclaimed Dutch designer Marcel Wanders surveys the world of design and identifies new original and interesting work in the areas of furniture lighting tableware textiles and other products Humanitarian Architecture Esther Charlesworth, 2014-06-27 Never has the demand been so urgent for architects to respond to the design and planning challenges of rebuilding post disaster sites and cities In 2011 more people were displaced by natural disasters 42 million than by wars and armed conflicts And yet the number of architects equipped to deal with rebuilding the aftermath of these floods fires earthquake typhoons and tsunamis is chronically short This book documents and analyses the expanding role for architects in designing projects for communities after the event of a natural disaster The fifteen case studies featured in the body of the book illustrate how architects can use spatial sensibility and integrated problem solving skills to help alleviate both human and natural disasters The cases include Lizzie Babister Department of International Development UK Shigeru Ban Winner of The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2014 Shigeru Ban Architects and Voluntary Architects Network Japan Eric Cesal Disaster Reconstruction and Resiliency Studio and Architecture for Humanity Japan Hsieh Ying Chun Atelier 3 Taiwan Nathaniel Corum Education Outreach and Architecture for Humanity USA Sandra D Urzo Shelter and Settlements and International Federation of the Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies Switzerland Brett Moore World Vision International Australia Michael Murphy MASS Design Group USA David Perkes Gulf Coast Community Design Studio USA Paul Pholeros Healthabitat Australia Patama Roonrakwit Community Architects for Shelter and Environment Thailand Graham Saunders International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies Switzerland Kirtee Shah Ahmedabad Study Action Group India Maggie Stephenson UN HABITAT Haiti Anna Wachtmeister Catholic Organisation for Relief and Redevelopment Aid the Netherlands The interviews and supporting essays show built environment professionals collaborating with post disaster communities as facilitators collaborators and negotiators of land space and shelter rather than as save the world modernists as often portrayed in the design media The goal is social and physical reconstruction as a collaborative process involving a damaged community and its local culture environment and economy not just shelter projects that build houses but leave no economic footprint or longer term community infrastructure What defines and unites the architects interviewed for Humanitarian Architecture is their collective belief that through a consultative process of spatial problem solving the design profession can contribute in a significant way to the complex post disaster challenge of rebuilding a city and its community Interior Design Katherine S. Ankerson, Jill Pable, 2008-02-04 Interior Design Practical Strategies for Teaching and Learning provides a pedagogical approach specifically geared to instruction in interior design Combining theory with practical application and examples unique to the interior design discipline the unifying theme of the book is achieving excellence in design education For first time teachers whose formal training as educators is more limited than their expertise in the discipline of interior design this text serves as a primary specialized resource For both new and seasoned teachers it is a handy just in time reference for those sticky situations when one needs a fresh perspective in teaching an idea in a new way The text is enriched by case studies grading rubrics and student critiques definitions of educational jargon tables and graphs photos of teaching related
