Kalinovsky,2015-02-11 Orientalism as a concept was first applied to Western colonial views of the East Subsequently different types of orientalism were discovered but the premise was that these took their lead from Western style orientalism applying it in different circumstances This book on the other hand argues that the diffusion of interpretations and techniques in orientalism was not uni directional and that the different orientologies Western Soviet and oriental orientologies were interlocked in such a way that a change in any one of them affected the others that the different orientologies did not develop in isolation from each other and that importantly those being orientalised were active not passive players in shaping how the views of themselves were developed The New Asian Renaissance François Godement,1997 In the global race for growth the Asia Pacific region is emerging as the front runner This study provides a comprehensive history of today s East Asia tracing the essential stages in the rise of the region from its birth under colonial rule to the post Cold War period The New Asian Renaissance recounts the evolution of China Japan North South Korea Malaysia Singapore Burma the Philippines Thailand and Vietnam François Godement outlines the major forces that have led to the present economic political and social shape of East Asia Originally published in French this work is an essential tool for understanding the past present and future of a region that has become a significant actor in the international political economy Early Encounters Between East Asia and Europe Ralf Hertel,Michael Keevak,2017 Countering a tendency in scholarship to overlook unsuccessful encounters it starts from the assumption that failures can prove highly illuminating and provide valuable insights into both the specific shapes and limitations of East Asian and Western imaginations of the Other as well as of the nature of East West interaction Interdisciplinary in outlook this collection brings together the perspectives of sinology Japanese and Korean studies historical studies literary studies art history religious studies and performance studies The subjects discussed are manifold and range from missionary accounts travel reports letters and trade documents to fictional texts as well as material objects such as tea chinaware or nautical instruments exchanged between East and West In order to avoid a Eurocentric perspective the collection balances approaches from the fields of English literature Spanish studies Neo Latin studies and art history with those of sinology Japanese studies and Korean studies Regional Minorities and Development in East and Southeast Asia Elizabeth Morrell,2009
