

Strategy 1: The Number Line

After students have studied pages 1 and 2, ask students to work in pairs to create a number line graphing the given division problems. Once students have an understanding of how to label points, assign students to determine how many points they will graph on the number line.

The same problem was presented a third time with the use of a number line below the number line for graphing. The number line is also a good way to graph division problems that are not as simple as the ones above.

Each student has a number line graph on their desk. Students will graph the number line. They will then write the number line on the back of their desk. They will then write the number line on the back of their desk. They will then write the number line on the back of their desk. They will then write the number line on the back of their desk.

1. The number line graphing problem set is on page 2 of the problem set.
