Practicing Empathy Mark Fagiano, 2022-09-08 There is widespread disagreement over what constitutes an experience of empathy In this study of its value and moral features Mark Fagiano acknowledges the ambiguity surrounding the term and offers a unified theory of empathy that includes rival definitions His historical account of the multiple meanings of empathy lays the groundwork for a new philosophical theory Based on relations it resolves the problem of conflicting definitions of empathy by distinguishing between the three kinds of empathy the relations of feeling into feeling with and feeling for each of which has been defined historically as a type of empathy Fagiano's unique focus on relations on the modes and manner by which we are connected with things and with people reveals a transactional account of empathy that can be applied to a variety of different contexts and social circumstances Grounded in the philosophical tradition of American Pragmatism Fagiano's approach demonstrates the practical benefits of adopting a broad and pluralistic understanding of empathy as both an idea and a practice His pragmatic and contextualist philosophy of empathy provides a valuable starting point for answering some of the most pressing questions surrounding empathy today including can empathy be developed Is empathy moral What is the difference between empathy and sympathy

Thoughts of Love Fiona Peters, Gary Peters, 2013-07-29 Perhaps because love is a feeling rather than a thought there is a serious shortage of thinking on love available for the increasing number of students studying on courses devoted to the subject This volume aims to address this lack providing a much needed resource that will support and enliven research across a wide range of disciplines The essays collected here have been contributed by both established and emerging international scholars in the field and are drawn from a variety of subject areas including continental philosophy ethics critical theory psychoanalysis feminist theory post colonial theory literary theory and personal memoir Addressing a varied but overlapping set of concerns that speak of desire friendship obsession destructiveness sympathy and loss the writers here bring a shared commitment to the theme of love in the face of its denial and destruction in so many quarters so much of the time In such dark times it is work such as this that perhaps can restore our faith in the power of thinking This volume will be of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as researchers in the field but most of all is intended for all readers whether specialist or non specialist who wish to give some serious thought to the most human of human feelings love

Informational Privacy for Service Design Davide M. Parrilli, 2024-11-09 This open access book equips designers with a deeper understanding of informational privacy emphasizing why and how designers should design services that respect and enhance people's privacy The solution to these issues is more important and challenging in our globalized service and design landscape In their quest to understand the rationale for privacy in service design authors embarked on an extensive journey through various disciplines and practices Ultimately author grounded their findings in ethics and philosophy from a designerly thus pragmatic and multicultural perspective The next challenge has been to translate these ethical and philosophical principles into practical guidelines for designers an easy to implement and global privacy ethical framework for service designers

Living in Words Garry L. Hagberg, 2023-05-16 Living in Words Literature Autobiographical Language and the Composition of Selfhood pursues three main questions What role does literature play in the constitution of a human being What is the connection between the language we see at work in imaginative fiction and the language we develop to describe ourselves And is something more powerful than just description at work that is does self descriptive or autobiographical language itself play an active role in shaping and solidifying our identities This adventurous book suggests that interdisciplinary work interweaving philosophy and literature can answer these questions Main sections investigate the relational model of the self derived from American pragmatism the sense of rightness that can attach to descriptions of ourselves and our actions the analogy between interpreting works of art and the interpretation of persons the special power of literature as a self compositional tool and the architecture of self narratives and the corresponding growth of self understanding what we can learn from cautionary tales concerning the tragic lack of self knowledge the possibility of rewriting and rereading the self and overall the assembly of real life structures of self definition through our reflective engagement with literature Throughout the book develops a model of active self constitutive literary reading that provides language for and sharpens self individuation and sensibility Conjoining a relational conception of selfhood to a narrative conception of self understanding Living in Words makes a powerful claim that aesthetic experience and our engagement with the arts is a far more serious matter in human life and society than it in some quarters is taken to be
