"This fresh, unsentimental look at what slave owning does to (and for) one's interior life must be a first. And the writing—so prised and cleanlimbed—is a marvel."

Yann Martel

Property By Valerie Martin:

Property Valerie Martin, 2007-12-18 WINNER OF THE ORANGE PRIZE Set in 1828 on a Louisiana sugar plantation this novel from the bestselling author of Mary Reilly presents a fresh unsentimental look at what slave owning does to and for one's interior life The writing so prized and clean limbed is a marvel Toni Morrison Nobel Prize winning author of Beloved Manon Gaudet pretty bitterly intelligent and monstrously self absorbed seethes under the dominion of her boorish husband In particular his relationship with her slave Sarah who is both his victim and his mistress Exploring the permutations of Manon's own obsession with Sarah against the backdrop of an impending slave rebellion Property unfolds with the speed and menace of heat lightning casting a startling light from the past upon the assumptions we still make about the powerful and powerful

New Orleans T. R. Johnson, 2023-03-02 The neighborhoods of New Orleans have given rise to an extraordinary outpouring of important writing Over the last century and a half or so these stories and songs have given the city its singular place in the human imagination This book leads the reader along five thoroughfares that define these different parts of town Royal St Claude Esplanade Basin and St Charles to explore how the writers who have lived around them have responded in closely related ways to the environments they share On the outskirts of New Orleans today the city's precarious relation to its watery surroundings and the vexed legacies of race loom especially large But the city's literature shows us that these themes have been near to hand for New Orleans writers for several generations whether reflected through questions of masquerade dreams of escape the innocence of children or the power of money or of violence or of memory

Women and Domestic Space in Contemporary Gothic Narratives A. Soon, 2016-04-29 Moving away from traditional studies of Gothic domesticity based on symbolism Soon instead focuses on domestic space's material presence and the traces it leaves on the human subjects inhabiting it Approaching novels and films such as Beloved and The Exorcist this study intersects psychoanalysis phenomenology and various spatial theories

Reparations for Slavery Ronald P. Salzberger, Mary Turck, 2004 Reparations for Slavery A Reader is a collection of essays on the topic of reparations for slavery in the United States Unlike other readers on the topic the selections in this volume provide rich historical context by giving the reader a vivid sense of the injuries inflicted by slavery its aftermath and the continuing history of state supported discrimination Visit our website for sample chapters

Transcultural Memory Rick Crownshaw, 2016-03-16 Memories are not static or frozen remaining in particular sites or places within and belonging to particular groups cultures or nations rather memory travels Broadly speaking memory has travelled because of the demographic displacements brought about by modernity's extremes slavery colonialism ethnic cleansing and genocide and also because of the trade travel and migration made possible by globalisation Whether social movement is violent exilic migratory emancipatory or oppressive it is accompanied by memory With the movement of people memories of modernity's histories and postmodern legacies meet correspond and often become mutually constitutive Even where memories compete with each other for cultural dominance mutual dialogue and recognition is implicit if not explicit Memories travel through and across cultures and national boundaries a process increasingly facilitated by mass media technologies This collection explores a range of case studies of transcultural memory as well as theorising the mobility of memory as it travels It was originally published as a special issue of the journal parallax Rooting Memory, Rooting Place C. Lloyd, 2015-06-04 This timely and incisive study reads contemporary literature and visual culture from the American South through the lens of cultural memory Rooting texts in their regional locations the book interrupts and questions the dominant trends in Southern Studies providing a fresh and nuanced view of twenty first century texts

An accessible and easy-to-read guide that no serious book lover should be without. The essential guide to the wild, uncharted world of contemporary and 20th-century writing. Robert McCrum. The Observer Gender and the Abjection of Blackness Sabine Broeck, 2018-05-23

An anti-racist critique of gender studies as a field. In Gender and the Abjection of Blackness, Sabine Broeck argues that gender studies as a mostly white field has taken insufficient account of Black contributions and that more than being an ethnocentric limitation or blind spot, this has represented a structural anti-Blackness in the field. Engaging with the work of Black feminist authors Sylvia Wynter, Hortense Spillers, and Saidiya Hartman, Broeck critiques a selection of canonical white gender studies texts to make this case. The book discusses this problem at the core of gender theory as a practice which Broeck terms enslavism: the ongoing abjection of Black life which Hartman has called the afterlife of slavery. This has become manifest in the repetitive employment of the woman as slave metaphor so central to gender theory as well as in recent theoretical mutations of these anti-Black politics of analogy. It is the structural separation of Blackness from gender that has functioned over and over again as the scaffold enabling white women's struggles for successful recognition of equality and subjectivity in the human world as we know it. This book challenges white readers to rethink their own untroubled identification with gender theory and it provides all readers with a white feminist theorist's sophisticated theoretical and self-critical scholarly account of her own reckoning with and learning in dialogue from Black feminism's critique. Broeck draws on a wide range of experience to provide a frame for rethinking gender as category that can work towards something like Black freedom. Most importantly, Black theoretical insights in this work move beyond intervention to offer a whole new way of being, and the author grapples with the new conceptual terrain she is now occupying. Rinaldo Walcott, author of Queer Returns: Essays on Multiculturalism, Diaspora, and Black Studies Cotton's Queer Relations Michael P. Bibler, 2009-02-10

Finally breaking through heterosexual clichés of flirtatious belles and cavaliers, sinister black rapists and lusty Jezebels, Cotton's Queer Relations exposes the queer dynamics embedded in myths of the southern plantation. Focusing on works by Ernest J. Gaines, William Faulkner, Tennessee Williams, Lillian Hellman, Katherine Anne Porter, Margaret Walker, William Styron, and Arna Bontemps, Michael P. Bibler shows how each one uses figures of same-sex intimacy to suggest a more progressive alternative to the pervasive inequalities tied historically and symbolically to the

South's most iconic institution Bibler looks specifically at relationships between white men of the planter class between plantation mistresses and black maids and between black men arguing that while the texts portray the plantation as a rigid hierarchy of differences these queer relations privilege a notion of sexual sameness that joins the individuals as equals in a system where equality is rare indeed Bibler reveals how these models of queer egalitarianism attempt to reconcile the plantation's regional legacies with national debates about equality and democracy particularly during the eras of the New Deal World War II and the civil rights movement Cotton's Queer Relations charts bold new territory in southern studies and queer studies alike bringing together history and cultural theory to offer innovative readings of classic southern texts A book in the American Literatures Initiative ALI a collaborative publishing project supported by The Andrew W Mellon Foundation For more information please visit www.americanliteratures.org

Literary Spinoffs Birgit Spengler, 2015-03-05 Literary Spinoffs Rewriting the Canon Re Imagining the Community explores the literary strategies theoretical dimensions and cultural implications of contemporary rewritings of nineteenth century classics By hooking on to powerful literary and cultural narratives literary spinoffs seek to interfere with the cultural imaginary and revise the ways in which the cultural community constructs itself via formative narratives Spengler offers in depth case studies of prominent contemporary rewritings and the cultural work they undertake while also examining the genre's particular aesthetics and effects Through their intensely intertextual form spinoffs raise urgent questions about the possibilities for participation in processes of cultural meaning making and invigorate contemporary debates about intellectual property cultural capital as well as high and popular culture

Neo-Victorian Families Christian Gutleben, 2011 Tracing representations of re imagined Victorian families in literature film and television and social discourse this collection the second volume in Rodopi's Neo Victorian Series analyses the historical trajectory of persistent but increasingly contested cultural myths that coalesce around the heterosexual couple and nuclear family as the supposed normative foundation of communities and nations past and present It sheds new light on the significance of families as a source of fluctuating cultural capital deployed in diverse arenas from political debates social policy and identity politics to equal rights activism and analyses how residual as well as emergent ideologies of family are mediated and critiqued by contemporary arts and popular culture This volume will be of interest to researchers and students of neo Victorian studies as well as scholars in contemporary literature and film studies cultural studies and the history of the family Situating the nineteenth century family both as a site of debilitating trauma and the means of ethical resistance against multivalent forms of oppression neo Victorian texts display a fascinating proliferation of alternative family models albeit overshadowed by the apparent recalcitrance of familial ideologies to the same historical changes neo Victorianism reflects and seeks to promote within the cultural imaginary

Narrating Empire and Domesticity in Neo-Victorian Fiction Marlena Tronicke, 2025-05-12 Fiction classified as neo Victorian has steadily emerged as a crucial mode of British cultural production It is no coincidence that this most recent Victorian renaissance is taking shape in a climate of widespread empire nostalgia with imperial colonial legacies being relegated to a distant elsewhere In its critical re visitations of the nineteenth century neo Victorianism has the potential to intervene in this often selective memory of Britain s imperial past Nevertheless systematic re readings of empire have so far played a comparatively minor role in neo Victorian scholarly debate This monograph addresses this lacuna by examining how neo Victorianism negotiates constructions of empire in conjunction with the domestic Drawing on a range of neo Victorian novels as well as their Victorian intertexts and bringing these into dialogue with postcolonial theory it asks how neo Victorian fiction engages with perpetuates or subverts Victorian imaginaries of urban British centres in opposition to remote imperial margins It examines why domesticity broadly understood as ideologically charged concepts of family home and belonging based on formations of gender sexuality and class can never be constituted independently of empire In addition the book raises questions regarding neo Victorianism s larger potentiality of narrating empire suggesting that it is precisely the disorienting moments that constitute a characteristically neo Victorian mode of exploring the entanglements of empire and domesticity

Gender, Genre, and Race in Post-Neo-Slave Narratives Dana Renee Horton, 2022-08-16 Gender Genre and Race in Post Neo Slave Narratives provides an innovative conceptual framework for describing representations of slavery in twenty first century American cultural productions Covering a broad range of narrative forms ranging from novels like The Known World to films like 12 Years a Slave and the music of Missy Elliott Dana Renee Horton engages with post neo slave narratives a genre she defines as literary and visual texts that mesh conventions of postmodernity with the neo slave narrative Focusing on the characterization of black women in these texts Horton argues that they are portrayed as commodities who commodify enslaved people a fluid and complex characterization that is a foundational aspect of postmodern identity and emphasizes how postmodern identity restructures the conception of slave owners
