Five Architects Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), 1975 Five Architects originally published in 1975 grew out of a meeting of the CASE group Conference of Architects for the Study of the Environment held at the Museum of Modern Art in 1969 The purpose of this gathering was to exhibit and criticize the work of five architects Eisenman Graves Gwathmey Hejduk and Meier who constituted a New York school and who are now among the most influential architects working today The buildings shown here have more diversity than one might expect from a school but share certain properties of form scale and treatment of material Collectively their work makes a modest claim it is only architecture not the salvation of man and the redemption of the earth Providing complete drawings and photographic documentation this collection also includes a comparative critique by Kenneth Frampton an Introduction by Colin Rowe that suggests a still broader context for the work as a whole and two short texts in which individual positions are outlined Now back in print Five Architects serves as a reference to the early work of some of America's most important architects and provides us with a glimpse back at the direction of architecture as they saw it over twenty years ago

Ostwald, Josephine Vaughan, 2016-09-01 Fractal analysis is a method for measuring analysing and comparing the formal or geometric properties of complex objects In this book it is used to investigate eighty five buildings that have been designed by some of the twentieth century's most respected and celebrated architects Including designs by Le Corbusier Eileen Gray Frank Lloyd Wright Robert Venturi Frank Gehry Peter Eisenman Richard Meier and Kazuyo Sejima amongst others this book uses mathematics to analyse arguments and theories about some of the world's most famous designs Starting with 625 reconstructed architectural plans and elevations and including more than 200 specially prepared views of famous buildings this book presents the results of the largest mathematical study ever undertaken into architectural design and the largest single application of fractal analysis presented in any field The data derived from this study is used to test three overarching hypotheses about social stylistic and personal trends in design along with five celebrated arguments about twentieth century architecture Through this process the book offers a unique

Finishing in Architecture Paul Emmons, Marcia Feuerstein, Negar Goljan, 2025-06-30 Finishing in Architecture Polishing Completing Ending explores the topic of finishing and the fascinating physical and metaphysical implications of its various conceptions in architecture Finishing is essential to all human practices and concepts of time yet simultaneously it is largely impossible to identify an entirely finished state of being As mortals we organize our worlds into beginnings and endings starts and finishes Architecture s temporality however may contain something of both the mortal and immortal within it a desire for permanence combined with lamentation over its impossibility While many approaches to finishing construct two opposed ontological conditions the finished and the unfinished this dualistic ploy neglects the complexity of architectural practice cultural reception and historiographic shifts in semiotics during the lifetime of a building More nuanced approaches are examined in this collection of 38 essays and creative works from a diverse group of scholars architects and artists who conceptualize finishing not simply as a final outcome but as an extended action a mood that presumes an end is near all the while working continuously toward but never achieving completion It is here that the concept of finishing is not a state of being but a state of becoming as an active thickening of time when the end is thought to be imminent but not yet attained Finishing more than a final endpoint is a void state that is extended through efforts framing its territory while never quite containing it From the material to the procedural and the conceptual this volume explores the practices of finishing in architecture within three currents surfaces projects and most broadly architectural times It will be of interest to students and instructors of architecture and design architectural historians and other scholars
