Timmermans,1993-09-30 The papers collected in this volume were originally presented at the conference on Design and Decision Support Systems in Architecture and Urban Planning that was held in Mierlo the Netherlands in July 1992 This conference was organized as one of the events celebrating the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Faculty of Architecture Building and Planning at Eindhoven University of Technology The organizing committee had a strong feeling that many interesting developments in this area were emerging within different institutional frameworks and informal networks that do not interact frequently For example scholars working on architectural problems are not particularly familiar with computer applications in urban planning Likewise although many computer aided design systems claim to be based on principles of design methodology serious discussions on the methodological underpinnings of such systems are relatively scarce Consequently we may have little opportunity to learn how scholars in closely related disciplines approach specific design or planning problems

Decision making arises when we wish to select the best possible course of action from a set of alternatives With advancements of the digital technologies it is easy and almost instantaneous to gather a large volume of information and or data pertaining to a problem that we want to solve For instance the world wide web is perhaps the primary source of information and or data that we often turn to when we face a decision making problem However the information and or data that we obtain from the real world often are complex and comprise various kinds of noise Besides real world information and or data often are incomplete and ambiguous owing to uncertainties of the environments All these make decision making a challenging task To cope with the challenges of decision making searchers have designed and developed a variety of decision support systems to provide assistance in human decision making processes The main aim of this book is to provide a small collection of techniques stemmed from artificial intelligence as well as other complementary methodologies that are useful for the design and development of intelligent decision support systems Application examples of how these intelligent decision support systems can be utilized to help tackle a variety of real world problems in different mains e.g business management manufacturing transportation and food industries and biomedicine are also presented A total of twenty chapters which can be broadly divided into two parts i.e. Gotik und Informatik Manfred Nagl, 2019-09-13 Der Autor behandelt den
