The term "Didactic" means "the art or practice of teaching or the study by using a correspondence, providing questions and answers." Think of your didactical journal as a series of correspondences with the texts we read during the course. The purpose is meant to help you develop a better understanding of the texts we read. Use your journal to incorporate your personal responses to the texts, your thoughts about the themes we cover and our class discussions. You will find that it is a useful way to process what you're reading, promote interest in group discussion, and foster student autonomy for your literary analysis assignments.
