competence are identified among them the ability to create stylistically authentic texts in English the ability to monitor and edit output and the psychological attitudes that the translator brings to the task While the case studies mainly deal with Arabic speakers undergoing translator training in Australia the conclusions will have implications for translation into a second language especially English around the world Translation into the Second Language is firmly grounded in empirical research and in this regard it serves as a stimulus and a methodological guide for further research It will be a valuable addition for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students of applied linguistics translation theory bilingualism and second language acquisition as well as those involved in teaching or practicing translation at a professional level
