Dispatches Michael Herr:

Dispatches Michael Herr, 1978 Dispatches Michael Herr, 2009-02-17 Written on the front lines in Vietnam Dispatches became an immediate classic of war reportage when it was published in 1977 From its terrifying opening pages to its final eloquent words Dispatches makes us see in unforgettable and unflinching detail the chaos and fervor of the war and the surreal insanity of life in that singular combat zone Michael Herr's unsparing unorthodox retellings of the day to day events in Vietnam take on the force of poetry rendering clarity from one of the most incomprehensible and nightmarish events of our time Dispatches is among the most blistering and compassionate accounts of war in our literature

Kriegskorrespondenten Barbara Korte, Horst Tonn, 2008-05-09 Kriegskorrespondenten haben aktuell eine hohe mediale und kulturelle Präsenz Aus sozial Medien und kulturwissenschaftlicher Perspektive reflektieren die Beiträge in diesem Band die gegenwärtige und die historische Rolle von Berichterstellern bei der Deutung von Kriegswirklichkeiten in verschiedenen Medien und in verschiedenen kulturellen Kontexten Besondere Aufmerksamkeit gilt dabei der Selbstinszenierung von Kriegsreportern in Literatur und Film

Revisiting Vietnam Julia Bleakney, 2013-09-13 This book explores the memorializing practices of American veterans of the Vietnam War at several of the most significant contemporary sites of memory in the United States and Vietnam These sites include veterans' memoirs museum exhibits replicas of the National Vietnam Veterans Memorial and tourism to Vietnam Because war memorializing has since the late 1960s shifted focus from national soul searching to personal identity and recovery I emphasize how contemporary narratives of the war shaped more by memory than by history often are detached from the specific history of the war and its political controversies Drawing on trauma and cultural memory scholarship as well as empirical data gathered during field research in the U.S. and Vietnam the author examines how veterans' memorializing practices have become increasingly individualized commodified and conservative since the early 1980s

An die Hölle verraten Michael Herr, 1981-01 Friendly Fire : American Images of the Vietnam War Riverside Katherine Kinney Associate Professor of English University of California, 2000-10-09 Hundreds of memoirs novels plays and movies have been devoted to the American war in Vietnam In spite of the great variety of mediums political perspectives and the degrees of seriousness with which the war has been treated Katherine Kinney argues that the vast majority of these works share a single story that of Americans killing Americans in Vietnam Friendly Fire in this instance refers not merely to a tragic error of war it also refers to America's war with itself during the Vietnam years Starting from this point this book considers the concept of friendly fire from multiple vantage points and portrays the Vietnam age as a crucible where America's cohesive image of itself is shattered pitting soldiers against superiors doves against hawks feminism against patriarchy racial fear against racial tolerance Through the use of extensive evidence from the film and popular fiction of Vietnam i.e. Kovic's Born on the Fourth of July Didion's Democracy O'Brien's Going After Cacciato Rabe's Sticks and Bones and Streamers Kinney draws a powerful picture of a nation politically culturally and socially divided and a war that has been memorialized as a contested site of art media politics and ideology Reader's Guide to Literature in English Mark Hawkins-Dady, 1996 First Published in 1996 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Photography in the Middle: Dispatches on Media Ecologies and Aesthetics Dean Lockwood, Rob Coley, 2016-10-31 It is easy to forget there is a war on when the front line is everywhere encrypted in plain sight Gathered in this book are several chapters are dispatches on the role of photography in a War Universe a space and time in which photographers such as Hilla Becher Don McCullin and Eadweard Muybridge exist only insofar as they are a mark of possession in the sway of larger forces These photographers are conceptual personae that collectively fabulate a different kind of photography a paraphotography in which the camera produces negative abyssal flashes or endarkenment In his Vietnam War memoir Dispatches Michael Herr imagines a dropped camera receiving jumping and falling images images which capture the weird indivisibility of medium and mediated in a time of war The movies and the war the photographs and the torn bodies fused and exchanged Reporting from the chaos at the middle of things Herr invokes a kind of writing attuned to this experience Photography in the Middle eschewing a high theoretical mode seeks to exploit the bag of tricks that is the dispatch The dispatch makes no grand statement about the progress of the war Cultivating the most perverse implications of its sources it tries to express what the daily briefing never can Ports of entry in the script we are given odd and hasty little glyphs unhelpful rips in the cover story dispatches are futile dark intuitions an expeditious inefficacy They are bleak but necessary responses to an indifferent world in which any action whatever has little noticeable effect As luck would have it Photography in the Middle begins with some nasty accidents and extracts from the wreckage a few lessons learned Dusting itself off it ships out and puts up with a bunch of battle scarred big gun photojournalists in the Holiday Inn of a typical world city Later it immerses itself within the leaked files of an enigmatic police cabal which detail the surveillance of conceptual photographers Bernd and Hilla Becher an operation that even extends to the duo's dreams Further back in time in 1897 we are invited to an inflammatory yet patchily documented public lecture given by the Titan Muybridge More than any other it is William Burroughs conceived here as a war photographer who is our tutelary figure hovering over all these pages in his attempt to map emergent vectors of mediation ever more intimate forms of control and accelerants of planetary catastrophe Burroughs believed that it was necessary to both keep pace with and formulate new vectors vectors that might act as intersections with a nonhuman outside Photography has an agency of its own one that scrambles the patterns and refrains of mediation upon which human life is based glitching the human and provoking relations with external coordinates With Burroughs and other inspirations such as J G Ballard Georges Bataille Tom McCarthy and Eugene Thacker our notion of the dispatch does not offer positive knowledge of something that we can reconcile with existing rational explanations but rather the revelation of a night side our redundancy in a photography that suspends all operations in a general blindness Impossible Plays Jack Shepherd, Keith Dewhurst, 2014-06-01 Bill Bryden's Cottesloe Company which flourished at Peter Hall's National Theatre was the English theatre's only true ensemble of the last thirty or so years Impossible Plays tells the story of the company and the many actors and musicians connected to it Co-written by Keith Dewhurst author of eight plays for the group and Jack Shepherd a founder actor it explains the ideas behind the company's work and how the work was staged and provides an idiosyncratic lively and deeply personal take on the company The search was always to find a popular theatre a form of theatre that would draw into it people from all backgrounds not just the cultured and the educated Beginning with a Royal Court Theatre Sunday night performance in 1970 the story of one company's aim to create a popular theatre form includes such milestone productions as The Mystery cycle of plays and Lark Rise to Candleford With photographs by John Haynes Michael Mayhew and Nobby Clark Impossible Plays is a glorious and timely tribute to one of theatre's most innovative companies

Friendly Fire Katherine Kinney, 2000 Friendly Fire refers not merely to a tragic error of war witnessed at least as much in Vietnam as in American wars prior and following it also refers metaphorically to America's war with itself during the Vietnam years

The Perfect War James William Gibson, 2007-12-01 Powerfully and persuasively Gibson tells us why we were in Vietnam a work of daring brilliance an eye-opening chronicle of waste and self-delusion Robert Olen Butler In this groundbreaking book James William Gibson shatters the misled assumptions behind both liberal and conservative explanations for America's failure in Vietnam Gibson shows how American government and military officials developed a disturbingly limited concept of war what he calls technowar in which all efforts were focused on maximizing the enemy's body count regardless of the means Consumed by a blind faith in the technology of destruction American leaders failed to take into account their enemy's highly effective guerrilla tactics Indeed technowar proved woefully inapplicable to the actual political and military strategies used by the Vietnamese and Gibson reveals how US officials consistently falsified military records to preserve the illusion that their approach would prevail Gibson was one of the first historians to question the fundamental assumptions behind American policy and The Perfect War is a brilliant reassessment of the war now republished with a new introduction by the author This book towers above all that has been written to date on Vietnam LA Weekly American Literature in Transition, 1970-1980 Kirk Curnutt, 2018-03-22 American Literature in Transition 1970-1980 examines the literary developments of the twentieth century's gaudiest decade For a quarter century filmmakers musicians and historians have returned to the era to explore the legacy of Watergate stagflation and Saturday Night Fever uncovering the unique confluence of political and economic phenomena that make the period such a baffling time Literary historians have never shown much interest in the era however a remarkable omission considering writers as diverse as Toni Morrison Thomas Pynchon Marilyn French Adrienne Rich Gay Talese Norman Mailer Alice Walker and Octavia E Butler were active Over the course of twenty-one essays contributors explore a range of controversial themes these writers tackled from 1960s nostalgia to feminism and the redefinition of masculinity to sexual liberation and rock n roll Other essays address New Journalism the rise of blockbuster culture memoir and self help and crime fiction all demonstrating that the Me Decade was nothing short of mesmerizing WLA, 1997 The Gang That Wouldn't Write Straight Marc Weingarten, 2010-03-31 In Cold Blood The Electric Kool Aid Acid Test Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas Slouching Towards Bethlehem The Armies of the Night Starting in 1965 and spanning a ten-year period a group of writers including Tom Wolfe Jimmy Breslin Gay Talese Hunter S Thompson Joan Didion John Sack and Michael Herr emerged and joined a few of their pioneering elders including Truman Capote and Norman Mailer to remake American letters The perfect chroniclers of an age of frenzied cultural change they were blessed with the insight that traditional tools of reporting would prove inadequate to tell the story of a nation manically hopscotching from hope to doom and back again from war to rock assassination to drugs hippies to Yuppies Kennedy to the dark lord Nixon Traditional just the facts reporting simply couldn't provide a neat and symmetrical order to this chaos Marc Weingarten has interviewed many of the major players to provide a startling behind-the-scenes account of the rise and fall of the most revolutionary literary outpouring of the postwar era set against the backdrop of some of the most turbulent and significant years in contemporary American life These are the stories behind those stories from Tom Wolfe's white-suited adventures in the counterculture to Hunter S Thompson's drug-addled invention of gonzo to Michael Herr's redefinition of war reporting in the hell of Vietnam Weingarten also tells the deeper backstory recounting the rich and surprising history of the editors and the magazines who made the movement possible notably the three greatest editors of the era Harold Hayes at Esquire Clay Felker at New York and Jann Wenner at Rolling Stone And finally Weingarten takes us through the demise of the New Journalists a tragedy of hubris miscalculation and corporate menacing This is the story of perhaps the last great good time in American journalism a time when writers didn't just cover stories but immersed themselves in them and when journalism didn't just report America but reshaped it Within a seven year period a group of writers emerged seemingly out of nowhere Tom Wolfe Jimmy Breslin Gay Talese Hunter S Thompson Joan Didion John Sack Michael Herr to impose some order on all of this American mayhem each in his or her own distinctive manner a few old hands like Truman Capote and Norman Mailer chipped in as well They came to tell us stories about ourselves in ways that we couldn't stories about the way life was being lived in the sixties and seventies and what it all meant to us The stakes were high deep fissures were rending the social fabric the world was out of order So they became our master explainers our town criers even our moral conscience the New Journalists from the Introduction

War and Words Wojciech Drąg, Jakub Krogulec, Mateusz Marecki, 2016-05-11 Despite the vast body of texts inspired by warfare from The Iliad to Maus war writing is perpetually haunted by the notions of unrepresentability and inadequacy War and Words examines the methods conventions and pitfalls of constructing verbal accounts of military conflict in literature and the media This multifocal study draws on a wide array of theoretical perspectives including feminism posthumanism masculinity trauma spatiality and media studies and brings together such diverse material as canonical literature war veterans testimonies imaginative fiction computer games English curricula and Al Qaeda's propaganda pieces In five consecutive sections Spreading War Propaganda Reconstructing War Spaces Envisioning War Gendering War and Teaching War the contributors consider war in its manifold aspects as an ideological tool used for propaganda purposes as a spatial reconstruction performed for the critical reassessment of past conflicts as a projection or extrapolation of possible future conflicts and their social repercussions as a political statement to deconstruct the oppressive nature of violence and finally as a didactic tool to foster empathy This collection will appeal primarily to academics specialising in English and American literature but also to those researching media gender and game studies
