Documentaries On Femicide In Ciudad Juarez:

Representations of Ciudad Juárez and Femicide in Two Novels Maria Concepción Romero, 2007 Cultural Representations of Femicidio at the US-Mexico Border Nuala Finnegan, 2018-07-18 Since the early 1990s the repeated murders of women from Ciudad Juarez Mexico have become something of a global cause célèbre Cultural Representations of Femicidio at the US Mexico Border examines creative responses to these acts of violence It reveals how theatre art film fiction and other popular cultural forms seek to remember and mourn the female victims of violent death in the city at the same time as they interrogate the political legal and societal structures that produce the crimes Different chapters examine the varying art forms to engage with Ciudad Juarez's feminicidal wave Finnegan discusses lex Rigola's theatrical adaptation of Roberto Bolaño's novel 2666 by Teatre Lliure in Barcelona as well as painting about the victims of feminicidio by Irish painter Brian Maguire There is analysis of documentary film about Ciudad Juarez including Lourdes Portillo's acclaimed Se orita Extraviada 2001 The final chapter turns its attention to writing about feminicide and examines testimonial and crime fiction narratives like the mystery novel Desert Blood The Juarez Murders by Alicia Gaspar de Alba among other examples By drawing on a range of artistic responses to the murders in Ciudad Juarez Cultural Representations of Femicidio at the US Mexico Border shows how art film theatre and fiction can unsettle official narratives about the crimes and undo the static paradigms that are frequently used to interpret them Latin American Documentary Filmmaking David William Foster, 2013-05-02 Latin American Documentary Filmmaking is the first volume written in English to examine themes in major works of Latin American documentary films Foster looks at the major ideological issues raised and the approaches to Latin American social and political history taken by key documentary films Making a Killing Alicia Gaspar de Alba, Georgina Guzmán, 2010-11-01 Since 1993 more than five hundred women and girls have been murdered in Ciudad Juarez across the border from El Paso Texas At least a third have been sexually violated and mutilated as well Thousands more have been reported missing and remain unaccounted for The crimes have been poorly investigated and have gone unpunished and unresolved by Mexican authorities thus creating an epidemic of misogynist violence on an increasingly globalized U S Mexico border This book the first anthology to focus exclusively on the Juarez femicides as the crimes have come to be known compiles several different scholarly interventions from diverse perspectives including feminism Marxism critical race theory semiotics and textual analysis Editor Alicia Gaspar de Alba shapes a multidisciplinary analytical framework for considering the interconnections between gender violence and the U S Mexico border The essays examine the social and cultural conditions that have led to the heinous victimization of women on the border from globalization free trade agreements exploitative maquiladora working conditions and border politics to the sexist attitudes that pervade the social discourse about the victims The book also explores the evolving social movement that has been created by NGOs mothers organizing efforts and other grassroots forms of activism related to the crimes Contributors include U S and Mexican scholars and activists as well as personal testimonies of two mothers of femicide victims

Political Documentary

Cinema in Latin America Antonio Traverso, Kristi Wilson, 2016-01-08 The chapters in this book show the important role that political documentary cinema has played in Latin America since the 1950s Political documentary cinema in Latin America has a long history of tracing social injustice and suffering depicting political unrest intervening in periods of crisis and upheaval and reflecting upon questions about ideology cultural identity genocide and traumatic memory This collection bears witness to the region's film culture's diversity discussing documentaries about workers strikes riots and military coups against elected governments crime poverty homelessness prostitution children's work and violence against women urban development progress under development capitalism and neoliberalism exile diaspora and border cultures trauma and post memory The chapters focus on documentaries made in Argentina Brazil Chile Cuba Mexico and Venezuela as well as on the work of Latino and diasporic Latin American political documentarians The contributors to the anthology reflect the cultural and linguistic diversity of current Latin American film scholarship with some writing in Spanish and Portuguese from Argentina and Brazil with their original works especially translated and others writing in English from Australia Europe and the USA This book was originally published as a special issue of Social Identities forum for inter-american research Vol 3

Sandra Ponzanesi, 2014-07-11 This wide ranging collection of essays elaborates on some of the most pressing issues in contemporary postcolonial society in their transition from conflict and contestation to dialogue and resolution It explores from new angles questions of violent conflict forced migration trafficking and deportation human rights citizenship transitional justice and cosmopolitanism The volume focuses more specifically on the gendering of violence from a postcolonial perspective as it analyses unique cases that disrupt traditional visions of violence by including the history of empire and colony and its legacies that continue to influence present day configurations of gender race nationality class and sexuality Part One maps out the gendered and racialized contours of conflict zones from war zones prisons and refugee camps to peacekeeping missions and humanitarian aid reframing the field and establishing connections between colonial legacies and postcolonial dynamics Part Two explores how these conflict zones are played out not just outside but also within Europe demonstrating that multicultural Europe is fraught with different legacies of violence and postcolonial melancholia Part Three gives an idea of the kind of future that can be offered to post conflict societies defined as contact zones by exploring opportunities for dialogue restoration and reconciliation that can be envisaged from a gendered and postcolonial perspective through alternative feminist practices and the work of art and their redemptive power in mobilizing social change or increasing national healing processes Though strongly anchored in postcolonial critique the chapters draw from a range of traditions and expertise including conflict studies gender theory visual studies new media theory sociology race theory international security studies and religion studies

More or Less Dead Alice Driver, 2015-03-26 In Ciudad Ju rez Mexico people disappear their bodies dumped in deserted city lots or jettisoned in the unforgiving desert All too many of them are women More or Less Dead analyzes how such violence against women has been represented in news media books films photography and art Alice Driver argues that the various cultural reports often express anxiety or criticism about how women traverse and inhabit the geography of Ciudad Ju rez and further the idea of the public female body as hypersexualized Rather than searching for justice the various media art photography and even graffiti often reuse victimized bodies in sensationalist attention grabbing ways In order to counteract such views local activists mark the city with graffiti and memorials that create a living memory of the violence and try to humanize the victims of these crimes The phrase more or less dead was coined by Chilean author Roberto Bola o in his novel 2666 a penetrating fictional study of Ju rez Driver explains that victims are more or less dead because their bodies are never found or aren't properly identified leaving families with an uncertainty lasting for decades or forever The author's clear precise journalistic style tackles the ethics of representing femicide victims in Ciudad Ju rez Making a distinction between the words femicide the murder of girls or women and femicide murder as a gender driven event one of her interviewees says Women are killed for being women and they are victims of masculine violence because they are women It is a crime of hate against the female gender These are crimes of power

Gender Violence at the U.S.-Mexico Border Hector Dom'nguez-Ruvalcaba, Ignacio Corona, 2010-03-15 The U S Mexico border is frequently presented by contemporary media as a violent and dangerous place But that is not a new perception For decades the border has been constructed as a topographic metaphor for all forms of illegality in which an ineffable link between space and violence is somehow assumed The sociological and cultural implications of violence have recently emerged at the forefront of academic discussions about the border And yet few studies have been devoted to one of its most disturbing manifestations gender violence This book analyzes this pervasive phenomenon including the femicides in Ciudad Ju rez that have come to exemplify at least for the media its most extreme manifestation Contributors to this volume propose that the study of gender motivated violence requires interpretive and analytical strategies that draw on methods reaching across the divide between the social sciences and the humanities Through such an interdisciplinary conversation the book examines how such violence is represented in oral narratives newspaper reports films and documentaries novels TV series and legal discourse It also examines the role that the media have played in this process as well as the legal initiatives that might address this pressing social problem Together these essays offer a new perspective on the implications of and connections between gendered forms of violence and topics such as mechanisms of social violence the micro social effects of economic models the asymmetries of power in local national and transnational configurations and the particular rhetoric aesthetics and ethics of discourses that represent violence

Human Rights along the U.S.-Mexico Border Kathleen Staudt, Tony Payan, Z. Anthony Kruszewski, 2022-08-23 Much political oratory has been devoted to safeguarding America's boundary with Mexico but policies that militarize the border and criminalize immigrants have overshadowed the region's widespread violence against women the increase in crossing deaths and the lingering poverty that spurs people to set out on dangerous northward treks This book addresses those concerns by focusing on gender based violence security and human rights from the perspective of women who live with both violence and poverty From the Pacific to the Gulf of Mexico scholars from both sides of the 2 000 mile border reflect expertise in disciplines ranging from international relations to criminal justice conveying a more complex picture of the region than that presented in other studies Initial chapters offer an overview of routine sexual assaults on women migrants the harassment of Central American immigrants at the hands of authorities and residents corruption and counterfeiting along the border and near death experiences of border crossers Subsequent chapters then connect analysis with solutions in the form of institutional change social movement activism policy reform and the spread of international norms that respect human rights as well as good governance These chapters show how all facets of the border situation globalization NAFTA economic inequality organized crime political corruption rampant patriarchy promote gendered violence and other expressions of hyper masculinity They also show that U S immigration policy exacerbates the problems of border violence in marked contrast to the border policies of European countries By focusing on women s everyday experiences in order to understand human security issues these contributions offer broad based alternative approaches and solutions that address everyday violence and inattention to public safety inequalities poverty and human rights And by presenting a social and democratic international feminist framework to address these issues they offer the opportunity to transform today s security debate in constructive ways
