Disrupting Finance Theo Lynn, John G. Mooney, Pierangelo Rosati, Mark Cummins, 2018-12-06 This open access Pivot demonstrates how a variety of technologies act as innovation catalysts within the banking and financial services sector Traditional banks and financial services are under increasing competition from global IT companies such as Google Apple Amazon and PayPal whilst facing pressure from investors to reduce costs increase agility and improve customer retention Technologies such as blockchain cloud computing mobile technologies big data analytics and social media therefore have perhaps more potential in this industry and area of business than any other This book defines a fintech ecosystem for the 21st century providing a state of the art review of current literature suggesting avenues for new research and offering perspectives from business technology and industry

Digital Communications with Emphasis on Data Modems

Richard W. Middlestead, 2017-03-07 This book uses a practical approach in the application of theoretical concepts to digital communications in the design of software defined radio modems This book discusses the design implementation and performance verification of waveforms and algorithms appropriate for digital data modulation and demodulation in modern communication systems Using a building block approach the author provides an introductory to the advanced understanding of acquisition and data detection using source and executable simulation code to validate the communication system performance with respect to theory and design specifications The author focuses on theoretical analysis algorithm design firmware and software designs and subsystem and system testing This book treats system designs with a variety of channel characteristics from very low to optical frequencies This book offers system analysis and subsystem implementation options for acquisition and data detection appropriate to the channel conditions and system specifications and provides test methods for demonstrating system performance This book also Outlines fundamental system requirements and related analysis that must be established prior to a detailed subsystem design Includes many examples that highlight various analytical solutions and case studies that characterize various system performance measures Discusses various aspects of atmospheric propagation using the spherical 4/3 effective earth radius model Examines Ionospheric propagation and uses the Rayleigh fading channel to evaluate link performance using several robust waveform modulations Contains end of chapter problems allowing the reader to further engage with the text Digital Communications with Emphasis on Data Modems is a great resource for communication system and digital signal processing engineers and students looking for in depth theory as well as practical implementations

Competitiveness and Private Sector Development Western Balkans

Competitiveness Outlook 2024: North Macedonia OECD, 2024-06-26 Inclusive and sustainable economic growth in the six Western Balkan WB6 economies depends on greater economic competitiveness Although the gap is closing gradually the standards of living in WB6 are well below those of the OECD and EU Accelerating the rate of socio economic convergence will require a holistic and growth oriented approach to policy making This is the fourth study of the region formerly under the title Competitiveness in South East Europe and it comprehensively assesses policy reforms in the WB6 economies across 15 policy areas key to strengthening their competitiveness It enables WB6 economies to compare economic performance against regional peers as well as EU OECD good practices and standards and to design future policies based on rich evidence and actionable policy recommendations The regional profile presents assessment findings across five policy clusters crucial to accelerating socio economic convergence of the WB6 by fostering regional co operation business environment skills infrastructure and connectivity digital transformation and greening Economy specific profiles complement the regional assessment offering each WB6 economy an in depth analysis of their policies supporting competitiveness They also track the implementation of the previous 2021 study s recommendations and provide additional ones tailored to the economies evolving challenges These recommendations aim to inform structural economic reforms and facilitate the region s socio economic convergence towards the standards of the EU and OECD

War, Human Dignity and Nation Building Gary D. Badcock,2010-08-11 Canada s involvement in Afghanistan is the longest martial conflict in its history precipitated literally overnight by a world changing event in the 2001 9 11 attack in New York City In 2010 the Afghan Mission remains front page news for Canadians even threatening to undermine the Federal Government due to the so called Detainee Scandal The human cost Canadian and Afghan financial burdens and impact on the self perception of Canadians as a peace keeping Middle Power are immense and likely will form a watershed in Canadian history And yet the Mission remains little scrutinized by faith communities and further left as a non conversation for many and the domain of a nebulous foreign policy and largely toothless Manley Report This volume is the first such major attempt by the Centre for Public Theology to bring together theologians philosophers faith leaders NGOs politicians and other academics from sociology politics and peace keeping in order to dialogue about the impact of the Afghan Mission These papers form much of the conversation of a conference held in May 2009 at the Centre for Public Theology The papers offer reflections on the Manley Report investigations on the theological and philosophical issues at play in Canada s response interaction with Canada s shift from peace keeping to war fighting and the new NATO mandate thoughts on the role of Islamic nations and analysis of the role of the Abrahamic faith communities in this wider Canadian conversation The Centre for Public Theology is a federally funded research centre housed at Huron University College whose mandate is to bring into conversation academics NGOs media Government and the public on issues of public policy and life with a particular attention to the role of religion in Canadian life Its founding motto is intelligence not advocacy It is not an advocacy or lobbying centre instead seeking only to facilitate dialogue across boundaries Its webpage can be found at www publictheology org

Enhancing Evaluation Use Marlène Läubli Loud, John Mayne, 2013-04-05 Enhancing Evaluation Use Insights from Internal Evaluation Units offers invaluable insights from real evaluators who share strategies they have adopted through their own experiences in evaluation Readers will learn about the challenges solutions and lessons drawn from the experience of evaluators working in a wide range of organizations Referencing the latest literature contributors discuss factors that help or undermine attempts to foster an evaluative thinking and learning culture within an organization Applicable in a wide range of situations their accounts demonstrate the initiative and innovative thinking they use to address challenges in various sometimes complex evaluation settings Questions at the end of each chapter stimulate thought and discussions about the issues raised and allow readers to apply their findings to their own situations This book speaks to a cutting edge topic that is the potential to generalize program evaluation expertise to larger organizational questions and the cases from multiple international contexts represent a unique feature John Clayton Thomas Georgia State University The use of actual cases to highlight major concepts in evaluation in the public sector is a great feature Danica G Hays Old Dominion University The text provides practical information from a variety of organizational contexts and the integration of international experiences provides for expanded discussion of evaluation theory and practice Kathleen Norris Plymouth State University The key strengths of this book lie in its national supra national and international organizational contexts its consistency in insider perspectives and the detailed examples provided Donna Haig Friedman University of Massachusetts Boston The book of essays reviewed here was edited by two eminent evaluators It fills an important gap in the literature in pursuit of improved quality of evaluation products evaluation thinkers have lavished attention on evaluation methods ethics and use but they have sorely neglected evaluation governance issues and have largely failed to probe the workings of evaluation within organizations Yet most evaluations are commissioned by or undertaken within organizations The choices organizations make in structuring evaluation functions and designing evaluation processes have a major bearing on the relevance validity and usefulness of evaluations Refreshingly the book offers fresh mental models and practical lessons about evaluation systems and practices adopted in diverse organizational settings All contributors to the book are seasoned practitioners They hail from national supranational and international organizations and many of them have trespassed across these thematic and organizational boundaries They all are equipped to draw on a vast reservoir of hands on experience as evaluation commissioners managers internal evaluators or external practitioners Remarkably they also display considerable familiarity with relevant themes treated by the organization management and evaluation literature Given its pragmatic focus the book is bound to elicit broad based interest among evaluation practitioners While it addresses familiar dilemmas and challenges

evaluation independence evaluation utilization organizational learning nurturing of an evaluation culture etc it does so from the distinctive perspective of insiders who have had to contend with a variety of organizational constraints and management pressures Revealingly most contributors find good reasons to be optimistic about the possibility of positive change The stage is set by John Mayne whose introductory and authoritative chapter identifies the critical importance of organizational factors in the utilization of evaluation results This is followed by Bastiaan de Laat s chapter which puts forward an ingenious analytical construct the tricky triangle of relationships that links commissioners evaluators and evaluands Specifically De Laat unmasks and assesses the different and complex configurations that result from this triangular interplay Penny Hawkins elegant contribution underlines the importance of evaluation independence It highlights the considerable impact that the electoral cycle may have on evaluation approaches It also reveals that indigenous cultures may present formidable obstacles to the very notion of external evaluative oversight The next chapter penned by Marlene Laubli s is equally perceptive in tracing the creative adaptation that the evaluation function underwent in response to changes in the organizational force field of the Swiss Federal Office of Public Health s Evaluation Unit In a similar vein Erica Wimbush provides a lucid exposition of the strategies used to bridge evaluative knowledge and management action in Scotland s public health agency Still within the health field Nancy Porteous and Steve Montague show convincingly that transformative organizational change in Canada s Public Health Agency was facilitated through judicious evaluation programming and what has come to be called double loop learning Finally Bastiaan de Laat and Kevin Williams summarize important findings from two empirical studies of evaluation use in the European Commission that go a long way in identifying good practices for evaluation commissioning in a supra national organizational context The next two chapters of the book focus on two specialized agencies of the United Nations They tread gently in what is admittedly a highly sensitive and contested terrain Maria J Santamaria Hergueta Alan Schnur and Deepak Thapa discuss how the World Health Organization s evaluation function evolved towards greater independence over several decades while Janet Neubecker Matthew Ripley and Craig Russon focus on the innovative techniques used within the International Labour Organization to enhance utilization of self evaluation findings The final chapter by Marlene Laubli Loud misses the opportunity to compensate for the good news bias that understandably characterizes the previous contributions Surprisingly it displays ambivalence towards evaluation independence which it equates with externality a concept soundly rejected by de Laat But setting this dimension aside the chapter is interesting and valuable since it reflects the co editor vast experience as an evaluator evaluation trainer and evaluation manager in diverse national and international contexts Thus the chapter provides a useful compilation of take away messages focused on good evaluation management practices It is on solid grounds when it describes how to make effective use of advisory committees motivate potential evaluation users design good terms of reference select the right evaluators craft judicious evaluation policies and keep an eye out for political windows of opportunity Each chapter of the book concludes with a crisp exposition of overarching findings discussion topics and references Thus the volume should be of practical value to teachers students professional evaluators as well as evaluation commissioners and programme managers All in all this is a book that belongs on your shelf if you are intent on enhancing the role that evaluation plays in your organization Robert Picciotto UKES Council Member

The book is intended to equip current and future software engineering teams and operations research experts with the skills and tools they need in order to fully utilize advanced data science artificial intelligence heuristics and economic models to develop software capabilities that help to achieve sustained food security for future generations Geological Survey of Canada, Current Research (Online) no. 2008-9 , Image Processing '92 (Icip '92) - Proceedings Of The 2nd Singapore International Conference Srinivasan Venugopal, Sim Heng Ong, Yew Hock Ang, 1992-09-02 This volume contains papers on Image Compression Implementations Feature Detection 3 D Vision Document Processing Multi Resolution Processing Medical Imaging Image Analysis Modelling Neural Networks Object Recognition Remote Sensing Dynamic Vision Application System Architecture Image Restoration Enhancement and Image Segmentation Crisis in Higher Education Mark A. Vonderembse, 2017-10-24 While many students parents educators and organizations who hire their graduates hold US universities in high regard the cost of higher education has risen much faster than the rate of inflation. High costs in turn have severely limited access to higher education for large portions of the US population or caused graduates and those who fall short of graduation to face substantial student loan debt. This book examines the root causes of these underlying problems and offers a comprehensive easy to understand high impact solution. The book identifies actions that improve higher education outcomes including lower tuition costs better access for student from low and middle income homes faster throughput fewer dropouts and better job opportunities for graduates. It links a real and implementable solution to the underlying problems and their root causes. Upon finishing this book readers should understand why the performance of higher education needs to improve and have solid ideas about how to fix it. The book focuses on public universities but the ideas discussed are also applicable to private for profit and not for profit universities. The writing style is simple and direct Dr. Dobb's Journal , 1999
