At Home with Grief Blake Paxton,2018-01-19 What would you say to a deceased loved one if they could come back for one day What if you can t just move on from grief At Home with Grief Continued Bonds with the Deceased chronicles Blake Paxton s autoethnographic study of his continued relationship with his deceased mother In the 90s Silverman Klass and Nickman argued that after the death of a loved one the bond does not have to be broken and the bereaved can find many ways to connect with memories of the dead Building on their work many other bereavement scholars have discussed the importance of not treating these relationships as pathological and have suggested that more research is needed in this area of grief studies However very few studies have addressed the communal and everyday subjective experiences of continuing bonds with the deceased as well as how our relationship with our grief changes in the long term In this book Blake Paxton shows how a community in southern Illinois continues a relationship with one deceased individual more than ten years after her death Through this gripping autoethnographic account of his mother s struggles with a rare cancer her death and his struggles with sexuality he poses possibilities of what might happen when cultural prescriptions for grief are challenged and how continuing bonds with the dead may help us continue or restore broken bonds with the living Home Is Where My People Are Sophie Hudson,2015-01-16 All roads lead to home It s easy to go through life believing that we can satisfy our longing for home with a three bedroom two bath slice of the American dream that we mortgage at 4 percent and pay for over the course of thirty years But ultimately in our deepest places we re really looking to belong and to be known And what we sometimes miss in our search for the perfect spot to set up camp is that wherever we are on the long and winding road of life God is at work in the journey teaching us shaping us and refining us sometimes through the most unlikely people and circumstances In Home Is Where My People Are Sophie Hudson takes readers on a delightfully quirky journey through the South introducing them to an unforgettable cast of characters places and experiences Along the way she reflects on how God has used each of the stops along the road to impart timeless spiritual wisdom and truth Nobody embodies the South like Sophie Hudson and this nostalgic celebration of home is sure to make even those north of the Mason Dixon line long to settle in on the front porch with a glass of sweet tea and reflect on all of the people in our lives who related or not have come to represent home Because at the end of the day it s not the address on the front door or even the name on the mailbox that says home but the people who live and laugh and love there wherever there might happen to be As Long as it Takes Carl Corey,William Pinkney,2006 Highlighting the achievements of one of the great sailboat racers of all time the author reveals how he emerged from the Great Depression in Chicago to become one of a small group of people to have circumnavigated the globe via the five Capes Ball & Other Funny Stories About Cancer Brian Lobel,2012-06-18 Unexpected quirky and provocative BALL Other Funny Stories About Cancer is a unique collection of performances about illness and the changing body over time Documenting a trilogy of Brian Lobel s monologue performances from 2001 2011 this collection challenges the inspirational stories of survivors and martyrs that have come before infusing the cancer story with an urgency and humour which is sometimes inappropriate often salacious and always above all else honest and open Published together for the first time this collection of performances goes beyond the chemotherapy to include reflections on politics sexuality and gender providing cancer and cancer narratives with a much deserved kick in the ball s
