Education and Development in Zimbabwe Edward Shizha,Michael T. Kariwo,2012-01-01 The book represents a contribution to policy formulation and design in an increasingly knowledge economy in Zimbabwe It challenges scholars to think about the role of education its funding and the egalitarian approach to widening access to education The nexus between education democracy and policy change is a complex one The book provides an illuminating account of the constantly evolving notions of national identity language and citizenship from the Zimbabwean experience The book discusses educational successes and challenges by examining the ideological effects of social political and economic considerations on Zimbabwe s colonial and postcolonial education Currently literature on current educational challenges in Zimbabwe is lacking and there is very little published material on these ideological effects on educational development in Zimbabwe This book is likely to be one of the first on the impact of social political and economic meltdown on education The book is targeted at local and international academics and scholars of history of education and comparative education scholars of international education and development undergraduate and graduate students and professors who are interested in educational development in Africa particularly Zimbabwe Notwithstanding the book is a valuable resource to policy makers educational administrators and researchers and the wider community Shizha and Kariwo s book is an important and illuminating addition on the effects of social political and economic trajectories on education and development in Zimbabwe It critically analyses the crucial specifics of the Zimbabwean situation by providing an in depth discourse on education at this historical juncture The book offers new insights that may be useful for an understanding of not only the Zimbabwean case but also education in other African countries Rosemary Gordon Senior Lecturer in Educational Foundations University of Zimbabwe Ranging in temporal scope from the colonial era and its elitist legacy through the golden era of populist universal elementary education to the disarray of contemporary socioeconomic crisis covering elementary through higher education and touching thematically on everything from the pernicious effects of social adjustment programmes through the local deprofessionalization of teaching this text provides a comprehensive wide ranging and yet carefully detailed account of education in Zimbabwe This engagingly written portrayal will prove illuminating not only to readers interested in Zimbabwe s education specifically but more widely to all who are interested in how the sociopolitical shapes education how ideology policy international pressures economic factors and shifts in values collectively forge the historical and contemporary character of a country s education Handel Kashope Wright Professor of International Handbook of Mathematical Learning Difficulties Annemarie Fritz, Vitor Gerald Haase, Pekka Räsänen, 2019-01-30 This comprehensive volume provides teachers, researchers and education professionals with cutting edge knowledge developed in the last decades by the educational, behavioural and neurosciences integrating cognitive, developmental and socioeconomic approaches to deal with the problems children face in learning mathematics. The neurocognitive mechanisms and the cognitive processes underlying acquisition of arithmetic abilities and their significance for education have been the subject of intense research in the last few decades but the most part of this research has been conducted in non-applied settings and there's still a deep discrepancy between the level of scientific knowledge and its implementation into actual educational settings. Now it's time to bring the results from the laboratory to the classroom. Apart from bringing the theoretical discussions to educational settings, the volume presents a wide range of methods for early detection of children with risks in mathematics learning and strategies to develop effective interventions based on innovative cognitive test instruments. It also provides insights to translate research knowledge into public policies in order to address socioeconomic issues. And it does so from an international perspective, dedicating a whole section to the cultural diversity of mathematics learning difficulties in different parts of the world. All of this makes the International Handbook of Mathematical Learning Difficulties an essential tool for those involved in the daily struggle to prepare the future generations to succeed in the global knowledge society. Problems of teaching in Mathematics in Zimbabwean schools Chrispen

Mawarire, 2023-05-24 Akademische Arbeit aus dem Fachbereich Didaktik Mathematik Sprache Deutsch Abstract This paper aims to explore on Mathematics teachers' understandings of the Mathematics curriculum in the Zaka West cluster due to an outcry over poor Mathematics passes from both urban and rural schools in Zimbabwe. A study was undertaken to explore and illuminate the complexities faced by O Level Mathematics teachers in the implementation of a Mathematics curriculum so that necessary recommendations that would help improve the teaching and learning of Mathematics would be made to all participating schools and other teachers across the country. The major aim of the study was to stimulate Mathematical thinking in teachers and to revitalize the teaching of the subject in Zimbabwean Secondary Schools. The following research questions will be answered: What do the teachers perceive to be the aims of the 4008 ZIMSEC O Level Mathematics syllabus? What are the pedagogical strategies that the teachers use in Mathematics lessons? How are these pedagogical strategies methodology and REACT related to the nature of O Level Mathematics? What do O Level Mathematics teachers perceive as the challenges faced in the teaching and learning of 4008 Mathematics? How can these challenges be eliminated or reduced?

This paper is organised as follows the first part is the conceptual framework of the study the second part presents the methodologies employed in the study the third part is the section on the findings the fourth part discusses the findings which is followed by the fifth and last part which is the conclusion

Introduction to

Zimbabwe Gilad James, PhD, Zimbabwe is a landlocked country in southern Africa bordered by South Africa to the south Botswana to the west Zambia to the north and Mozambique to the east The country has a population of approximately 14 4 million people with the majority living in rural areas Zimbabwe gained its independence from British colonial rule in 1980 and has been governed by the Zimbabwe African National Union Patriotic Front ZANU PF since then Zimbabwe s economy has faced many challenges in recent years including hyperinflation a shortage of foreign currency and political instability Agriculture is the largest sector of the economy with the majority of the population engaged in subsistence farming The country is also rich in minerals such as gold platinum and diamonds Despite its economic struggles Zimbabwe remains a popular tourist destination known for its wildlife natural beauty and historical landmarks such as Great Zimbabwe a 15th century stone city that is now a UNESCO World Heritage site

Moto ,1998 The World of Science Education Femi S. Otulaja,Meshach B. Ogunniyi,2017-09-12 Each volume in the 7 volume series The World of Science Education reviews research in a key region of the world These regions include North America South and Latin America Asia Australia and New Zealand Europe and Israel North Africa and the Middle East and Sub Saharan Africa The focus of this Handbook is on research in science education in mostly former British colonies in Sub Saharan Africa and the scholarship that most closely support this program The reviews of the research situate what has been accomplished within a given field in Sub Saharan Africa rather than an international context The purpose therefore is to articulate and exhibit regional networks and trends that produced specific forms of science education The thrust lies in identifying the roots of research programs and sketching trajectories focusing the changing face of problems and solutions within regional contexts The approach allows readers to review what has been done and accomplished what is missing and what might be done next

Investigating the Impact of Information Communication Technology on Self-directed Professional Development of Teachers Emmanuel Mushayikwa,2011-03-02 The aim of this research was to investigate the perceived impact of ICT on Zimbabwean A level science and mathematics teachers self directed professional development The study was based on a questionnaire survey of 254 teachers throughout the country Supplementary data came from 54 interviews Some observations of teachers using ICT in teacher centres e mail correspondence and field reports also contributed to the database of the study An analysis framework was developed through the use of grounded theory on the interview transcripts The framework yielded 9 themes relating to the teachers use of ICT for their professional development These were 1 perceived professional identity 2 career development 3 Managing the ICT environment 4 theoretical and content knowledge 5 practical knowledge and skills 6 adaptation 7 professional networking and 8 9 perceived benefits to teachers and students Chaos complexity theory was used to identify the major attractors goals for teachers self directed professional development using ICT Two attractors were identified These were personal professional development and classroom practice However an over riding factor common to both attractors was identified as self efficacy The study identified the over arching driver for self directed professional development as the teacher s need to improve their self efficacy A two dimensional model of self directed professional development was suggested The systemic element of the model focused on the self correcting impact of ICT use on professional development whilst the personal element focused on self efficacy as the central stratum for self directed professional development The study concluded by acknowledging the potent role that ICT is playing in the self directed continuing professional development of teachers in Zimbabwe and recommended among other things the inclusion of A level teachers in the development of localised online materials resources for their subjects This will help to enhance relevance of the materials to the Zimbabwean context

Learning: Assessment, Ideologies and Policies in Sub-Saharan Africa Colin Reilly,Feliciano Chimbutane,John Clegg,Casmir Rubagumya,Elizabeth J. Erling,2023-11-30 This edited volume provides the follow up to Erling et al s 2021 Multilingual Learning and Language Supportive Pedagogies in Sub Saharan Africa The strategies put forward in Volume 1 included multilingual pedagogies that allow students to draw on their full linguistic repertoires translanguaging and other language supportive pedagogies While there is great traction in the pedagogical strategies proposed in Volume 1 limited progress has been made in terms of multilingual education in Sub Saharan Africa SSA Thus the main focus of this follow up volume is to explore the question of why former colonial languages and monolingual approaches continue to be used as the dominant languages of education even when we have multilingual pedagogies and materials that could and do work and despite substantial evidence that learners have difficulties when taught in a language they do not understand This book offers perspectives to answer this question through focusing on the internal and external pressures which impact the capacity for implementing multilingual strategies in educational contexts at regional national and community levels Chapters provide insights into how to better understand and work within these contemporary constraints and challenge dominant monoglossic discourses which inhibit the implementation of multilingual education in SSA The volume focuses on three main areas which have proven to be stumbling blocks to the effective implementation of multilingual education to date namely assessment ideology and policy An insightful collection that will be of great interest to academics researchers and practitioners in the fields of language education language in education policy and educational assessments in the wide range of multilingual contexts in Africa
