Mission to Tehran ,1968      Iran and Russian Imperialism Moritz Deutschmann, 2015-12-22 Rather than a centralized state Iran in the nineteenth century was a delicate balance between tribal groups urban merchant communities religious elites and an autocratic monarchy While Russia gained an increasingly dominant political role in Iran over the course of this century Russian influence was often challenged by banditry on the roads riots in the cities and the seeming arbitrariness of the Shah Iran and Russian Imperialism develops a comprehensive picture of Russia s historical entanglements with one of its most important neighbours in Asia It recounts how the Russian Empire strived to gain political influence at the Persian court promote Russian trade and secure the enormous southern borders of the empire Using hitherto often neglected documents from archives in Russia and Georgia and reading them against the grain this book reveals the complex reactions of different groups in Iranian society to Russian imperialism As it turns out the Iranians were in the words of the Russian orientalist Konstantin Smirnov ideal anarchists whose resistance to imperial domination as well as to centralized state institutions more generally impacted developments in the region in the century to come Iran s troubled relationship with the wider world continues to be a topic of considerable interest to historians yet little focus has been given to Russia s historical connections to Iran This book thus represents a valuable contribution to Iranian and Russian History as well as International Relations

The Iran-Contra Affair Malcolm Byrne, Peter Kornbluh, 1990      Decolonization and the Evolution of International Human Rights Roland Burke, 2011-06-06 In the decades following the triumphant proclamation of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in 1948 the UN General Assembly was transformed by the arrival of newly independent states from Asia Africa and the Middle East This diverse constellation of states introduced new ideas methods and priorities to the human rights program Their influence was magnified by the highly effective nature of Asian Arab and African diplomacy in the UN human rights bodies and the sheer numerical superiority of the so called Afro Asian bloc Owing to the nature of General Assembly procedure the Third World states dominated the human rights agenda and enthusiastic support for universal human rights was replaced by decades of authoritarianism and an increasingly strident rejection of the ideas laid out in the Universal Declaration In Decolonization and the Evolution of International Human Rights Roland Burke explores the changing impact of decolonization on the UN human rights program By recovering the contributions of those Asian African and Arab voices that joined the global rights debate Burke demonstrates the central importance of Third World influence across the most pivotal battles in the United Nations from those that secured the principle of universality to the passage of the first binding human rights treaties to the flawed but radical step of studying individual pleas for help The very presence of so many independent voices from outside the West and the often defensive nature of Western interventions complicates the common presumption that the postwar human rights project was driven by Europe and the United States Drawing on UN transcripts archives and the personal papers of key historical actors this book challenges the notion that the international rights order was imposed on an unwilling and marginalized Third World Far from being excluded Asian African and Middle Eastern diplomats were powerful agents in both advancing and later obstructing the promotion of human rights
