Altoma, 2010-10-14 Covering 60 years of materials this bibliography cites translations studies and other writings which represent Iraq s national literature including recent works of numerous Iraqi writers living in Western exile The volume serves as a guide to three interrelated data o Translations that have appeared since 1950 as books or as individual items poems short stories novel extracts plays diaries in print and non print publications in Iraq and other Arab and English speaking countries including Australia Canada the United Kingdom and the United States o Relevant studies and other secondary sources including selected reviews and author interviews which cover Iraqi literature and writers o The scope of displacement or dispersion of Iragi writers artists and other intellectuals who have been uprooted and are now living in exile in Arab or other Western countries By drawing attention to a largely overlooked but relevant and extensive literature accessible in English this first of its kind book will serve as an invaluable guide to students of contemporary Iraq modern Arabic literature and other fields such as women s studies postcolonial studies third world literature American Arab Muslim Modern Arabic Literature in Translation Salih J. Altoma, 2005 This indispensible guide Relations and Diaspora studies to modern Arabic literature in English translation features not only a comprehensive bibliography but also chapters on fiction drama poetry and autobiography as well as a special chapter on Iraq's Arabic literature By focusing on Najib Mahfuz one of Arabic Literature's luminaries and on poetry a major if not the major genre of the region Altoma assesses the progress made towards a wider reception of Arabic writing throughout the western world Essays in Arabic Literary Biography: 1850-1950 Roger Allen, Terri DeYoung, Joseph Edmund Lowry, Devin J. Stewart, 2009 The essays which discuss authors in a variety of literary genres and across the spectrum of the region concerned from Iraq in the East to Tunisia in the West provide clear evidence of the gradually changing roles of the indigenous and the imported which are an intrinsic feature of the movement known in Arabic as all bahada cultural revival and the way in which Arab litterateurs chose to respond to the inspiration that such changes inevitably engendered Teaching Literature in Translation Brian James Baer, Michelle Woods, 2022-07-29 The teaching of texts in translation has become an increasingly common practice but so too has the teaching of texts from languages and cultures with which the instructor may have little or no familiarity. The authors in this volume present a variety of pedagogical approaches to promote translation literacy and to address the distinct phenomenology of translated texts The approaches set forward in this volume address the nature of the translator s task and how texts travel across linguistic and cultural boundaries in translation including how they are packaged for new audiences with the aim of fostering critical reading practices that focus on translations as translations. The organizing principle of the book is the specific pedagogical contexts in which translated texts are being used such as courses on a single work survey courses on a single national literature or a single author and courses on world literature Examples are provided from the widest possible variety of world languages and literary traditions as well as modes of writing prose poetry drama film and religious and historical texts with the aim that many of the pedagogical approaches and strategies can be easily adapted for use with other works and traditions An introductory section by the editors Brian James Baer and Michelle Woods sets the theoretical stage for the volume Written and edited by authorities in the field of literature and translation this book is an essential manual for all instructors and lecturers in world and comparative literature and literary translation Information Resources in the Humanities and the Arts Anna H. Perrault Ph.D., Elizabeth S. Aversa, Sonia Ramírez Wohlmuth, Cynthia J. Miller, Cynthia F. Translating the Language of the Syrian Revolution (2011/12) Eylaf Bader Eddin, 2023-11-20 While the Arab revolutions have obviously triggered extensive social and political changes the far reaching consequences of the cultural and discursive changes have yet to be adequately considered For activists researchers and journalists the revolution was primarily a revolution in language a break with the linguistic oppression and the rigidity of the old regimes This break was accompanied by the emergence of new languages which made it possible to inform tell and translate the ongoing events and transformations This language of the revolution was carried out into the world by competing voices from Syria by local and foreign researchers activists and journalists The core of this project is to find the various translations of the language of the Syrian revolution 2011 2012 from Arabic to English to study and analyze In addition the discursive and non discursive dimensions of the revolution are to be seen as another act of translation including the language of the banners slogans graffiti songs and their representation in English Teaching Modern Arabic Literature in Translation Michelle Hartman, 2018-02-01 Understanding the complexities of Arab politics history and culture has never been more important for North American readers Yet even as Arabic literature is increasingly being translated into English the modern Arabic literary tradition is still often treated as other controversial dangerous difficult esoteric or exotic This volume examines modern Arabic literature in context and introduces creative teaching methods that reveal the literature s richness relevance and power to anglophone students Addressing the complications of translation head on the volume interweaves such important issues such as gender the Palestinian Israeli conflict and the status of Arabic literature in world literature Essays cover writers from the recent past like Emile Habiby and Tayeb Salih contemporary Palestinian Egyptian and Syrian literatures and the literature of the nineteenth century Nahda Conscience of the Nation Richard Jacquemond, 2008 Artfully combining social and literary history this unique study explores the dual loyalties of contemporary Egyptian authors from the 1952 Revolution to the present day Egypt's writers have long had an elevated idea of their social mission considering themselves the conscience of the nation At the same time modern Egyptian writers work under the liberal conception of the writer borrowed from the European model As a result each Egyptian writer treads the tightrope between authority and freedom social commitment and artistic license loyalty to the state and to personal expression in an ongoing quest for an elusive literary ideal With these fundamentals in mind Conscience of the Nation examines Egyptian literary production over the past fifty years surveying works by established writers as well as those of dozens of other authors who are celebrated in Egypt but whose writings are largely unknown to the foreign reader Novelists and poets scriptwriters and playwrights critics and journalists all have battled with and tried to resolve the tensions inherent in the conflicting forces of self and society The Complete Review Guide to Contemporary World Fiction M.A. Orthofer, 2016-04-19 A user friendly reference for English language readers who are eager to explore contemporary fiction from around the world Profiling hundreds of titles and authors from 1945 to today with an emphasis on fiction published in the past two decades this guide introduces the styles trends and genres of the world's literatures from Scandinavian crime thrillers and cutting edge Chinese works to Latin American narco fiction and award winning French novels The book's critical selection of titles defines the arc of a country's literary development Entries illuminate the fiction of individual nations cultures and peoples while concise biographies sketch the careers of noteworthy authors Compiled by M A Orthofer an avid book reviewer and the founder of the literary review site the Complete Review this reference is perfect for readers who wish to expand their reading choices and knowledge of contemporary world fiction A bird's eye view of titles and authors from everywhere a book overfull with reminders of why we love to read international fiction Keep it close by Robert Con Davis Udiano executive director World Literature Today M A Orthofer has done more to bring literature in translation to America than perhaps any other individual This book will introduce more new worlds to you than any other book on the market Tyler Cowen George Mason University A relaxed riverine guide through the main currents of international writing with sections for more than a hundred countries on six continents Karan Mahajan Page Turner blog The New Yorker The Literary Mafia Josh Lambert, 2022-01-01 An investigation into the transformation of publishing in the United States from a field in which Jews were systematically excluded to one in which they became ubiquitous Readers with an interest in the industry will find plenty of insights Publishers Weekly From the very first page this book is funnier and more gripping than a book on publishing has any right to be Anyone interested in America's intellectual or Jewish history must read this and anyone looking for an engrossing story should Emily Tamkin author of Bad Jews In the 1960s and 1970s complaints about a Jewish literary mafia were everywhere Although a conspiracy of Jews colluding to control publishing in the United States never actually existed such accusations reflected a genuine transformation from an industry notorious for excluding Jews to one in which they arguably had become the most influential figures Josh Lambert examines the dynamics between Jewish editors and Jewish writers how Jewish women exposed the misogyny they faced from publishers and how children of literary parents have struggled with and benefited from their inheritances Drawing on interviews and tens of thousands of pages of letters and manuscripts The Literary Mafia offers striking new discoveries about celebrated figures such as Lionel Trilling and Gordon Lish and neglected fiction by writers including Ivan Gold Ann Birstein and Trudy Gertler In the end we learn how the success of one minority group has lessons for all who would like to see American literature become more equitable Rewriting Narratives in Egyptian Theatre Sirkku Aaltonen, Areeg Ibrahim, 2016-03-31 This study of Egyptian theatre and its narrative construction explores the ways representations of Egypt are created of and within theatrical means from the 19th century to the present day Essays address the narratives that structure theatrical textual and performative representations and the ways the rewriting process has varied in different contexts and at different times Drawing on concepts from Theatre and Performance Studies Translation Studies Cultural Studies Postcolonial Studies and Diaspora Studies scholars and practitioners from Egypt and the West enter into dialogue with one another expanding understanding of the different fields The articles focus on the ways theatre texts and performances change are rewritten when crossing borders between different worlds The concept of rewriting is seen to include translation transformation and reconstruction and the different borders may be cultural and national between languages and dramaturgies or borders that are present in people s everyday lives Essays consider how rewritings and performances cross borders from one culture nation country and language to another They also study the process of rewriting the resulting representations of foreign plays on stage and representations of the Egyptian revolution on stage and in Tahrir Square This assessment of the relationship between theatre practices exchanges and rewritings in Egyptian theatre brings vital coverage to an undervisited area and will be of interest to developments in theatre translation and beyond Asiatische Studien ,2007 The Anglo-Arab Encounter Geoffrey Nash, 2007 This concise study argues there is a qualitative difference between Arabic literature Arabic literature translated into English and a literature conceived and executed in English by writers of an Arab background It examines the corpus of a group of contemporary Arab writers who incorporate Arab subjects and themes into the English language Specters of World Literature Mattar Karim Mattar, 2020-04-02 At the heart of this book is a spectral theory of world literature that draws on Edward Said Aamir Mufti Jacques Derrida and world systems theory to assess how the field produces local literature as an e othere that haunts its universalising assimilative imperative with the force of the uncanny It takes the Middle Eastern novel as both metonym and metaphor of a spectral world literature It explores the worlding of novels from the Middle East in recent years and focusing on the pivotal sites of Middle Eastern modernity Egypt Turkey Iran argues that lost to their global production circulation and reception is their constitution in the logic of spectrality With the intention of redressing this imbalance it critically restores their engagements with the others of Middle Eastern modernity and shows through a new reading of the Middle Eastern novel that world literature is always already haunted by its others the ghosts of modernity Culture and Customs of the Arab Gulf States Rebecca L. Torstrick, Elizabeth Faier, 2009-03-20 Names such as Dubai and Abu Dhabi have been emerging in the world's eye over the past decade as exotic hotspots wealthy from oil production and advanced in the means of technology However at the same time the Arab Gulf States have managed to maintain their traditional culture adapting it to modern life With complete coverage on Oman Qatar Bahrain Kuwait and the United Arab Emirates Culture and Customs of the Arab Gulf States is a must have for every high school and public library shelf Clear and vivid descriptions of contemporary life in the Arab Gulf help students discover how traditions of the past have evolved into customs today This exhaustive volume covers topics such as religion festivals cuisine fashion family life literature the media and music among many others Up to date and comprehensive this volume offers a unique and contemporary depiction of culture in some of the world s wealthiest up and coming nations Rhetorics of Belonging Anna Bernard, 2013 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library The crisis in Israel Palestine has long been the world's most visible military conflict Yet the region's cultural and intellectual life remains all but unknown to most foreign observers which means that literary texts that make it into circulation abroad tend to be received as historical documents rather than aesthetic artefacts Rhetorics of Belonging examines the diverse ways in which Palestinian and Israeli world writers have responded to the expectation that they will narrate the nation invigorating critical debates about the political and artistic value of national narration as a reading and writing practice It considers writers whose work is rarely discussed together offering new readings of the work of Edward Said Amos Oz Mourid Barghouti Orly Castel Bloom Sahar Khalifeh and Anton Shammas This book helps to restore the category of the nation to contemporary literary criticism by attending to a context where the idea of the nation is so central a part of everyday experience that writers cannot not address it and readers cannot help but read for it It also points a way toward a relational literary history of Israel Palestine one that would situate Palestinian and Israeli writing in the context of a history of antagonistic interaction The book s findings are relevant not only for scholars working in postcolonial studies and Israel Palestine studies but for anyone interested in the difficult and unpredictable intersections of literature and politics Literature in Translation Carol Maier, Françoise Massardier-Kenney, 2010 In the last several decades literary works from around the world have made their way onto the reading lists of American university and college courses in an increasingly wide variety of disciplines This is a cause for rejoicing Through works in translation students in our mostly monolingual society are at last becoming acquainted with the multilingual and multicultural world in which they will live and work Many instructors have expanded their reach to teach texts that originate from across the globe Unfortunately literature in English translation is frequently taught as if it had been written in English and students are not made familiar with the cultural linguistic and literary context in which that literature was produced As a result they submit what they read to their own cultural expectations they do not read in translation and do not reap the benefits of intercultural communication Here a true challenge arises for an instructor Books in translation seldom contain introductory information about the mediation that translation implies or the stakes involved in the transfer of cultural information Instructors are often left to find their own material about the author or the culture of the source text Lacking the appropriate pedagogical tools they struggle to provide information about either the original work or about translation itself and they might feel uneasy about teaching material for which they lack adequate preparation Consequently they restrict themselves to well known works in translation or works from other countries originally written in English Literature in Translation Teaching Issues and Reading Practices squarely addresses this pedagogical lack The book s sixteen essays provide for instructors a context in which to teach works from a variety of languages and cultures in ways that highlight the effects of linguistic and cultural transfers
