Melissa Benn, 2013-09-26 We have reached a tricky crossroads in modern women's lives and our collective daughters are bearing the brunt of some intolerable pressures. Although feminism has made great strides forward since our mothers and grandmothers day many of the key issues equality of pay equality in the home representation at senior level in the private public and political sectors remain to be tackled. Casual sexism in the media and in everyday life is still rife and our daughters face a host of new difficulties as they are bombarded by images of unrealistically skinny airbrushed supermodels celebrity role models who depend on their looks and partners for status and by competitive social media. The likes of Natasha Walter and Katie Roiphe deal with feminism from an adult point of view but our daughters need to be prepared for stresses that are coming into play now as early as pre school. This is a manifesto for every mother who has ever had to comfort a daughter who doesn't feel pretty for every young woman who outperforms her male peers professionally and wonders why she is still not taken seriously and for anyone interested in the world we are making for the next generation. Fact and Fiction in Contemporary Narratives Jan Alber, Alice Bell, 2021-05-11 This book explores the complex interrelationship between fact and fiction in narratives of the twenty first century. Current cultural theory observes a cultural shift away from postmodernism to new forms of expression. Rather than a radical break from the postmodern however postmodernist techniques are repurposed to express a new sincerity a purposeful self reflexivity a contemporary sense of togetherness and an associated commitment to reality. In what the editors consider to be one manifestation of this general tendency this book explores the ways in which contemporary texts across different media play with the boundary between fact and fiction. This includes the examination of novels autobiography autofiction film television mockumentary digital fiction advertising campaigns and media hoaxes. The chapters engage with theories of what comes after postmodernism and analyse the narratological stylistic and or semiotic devices on which such texts rely. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the European Journal of English Studies. Autotheory as Feminist Practice in Art, Writing, and Criticism Lauren Fournier, 2021-02-23 Autotheory the commingling of theory and philosophy with autobiography as a mode of critical artistic practice indebted to feminist writing and activism. In the 2010s the term autotheory began to trend in literary spheres where it was used to describe books in which memoir and autobiography fused with theory and philosophy. In this book Lauren Fournier extends the meaning of the term applying it to other disciplines and practices. Fournier provides a long awaited account of autotheory situating it as a mode of contemporary post 1960s artistic practice that is indebted to feminist writing art and activism. Investigating a series of works by writers and artists including Chris Kraus and Adrian Piper she considers the politics aesthetics and ethics of autotheory. Knausgård and the Autofictional Novel Claus Elholm Andersen, 2023-12-01 A probing generative analysis of Knausgård's My Struggle with implications for our understanding of the novel form more broadly in the twenty-first century Norwegian author Karl Ove Knausgård's six-volume 3600-page autobiographical novel My Struggle has been widely hailed for its heroic exploration of selfhood, compulsive readability and restless experimentation with form and genre. Knausgård and the Autofictional Novel explains why. Across four chapters, Claus Elholm Andersen shows how Knausgård confronts challenges and rejects the symbiotic relationship between novels and fiction, particularly via a technique of auto-fictionalization. The fifth chapter then explores the further breakdown of this relationship in autofiction by Sheila Heti, Rachel Cusk and Ben Lerner, taking readers to what Lerner called the very edge of fiction.

The Market Logics of Contemporary Fiction Paul Crosthwaite, 2019-07-18 Contemporary British and American fiction is defined by financial markets' power over the global publishing industry and the global economy.

Author Fictions Ingo Berensmeyer, 2023-10-04 Fictional novelists and other author characters have been a staple of novels and stories from the early nineteenth century onwards. What is it that attracts authors to representing their own kind in fiction? Author Fictions addresses this question from a theoretical and historical perspective. Narrative representations of literary authorship not only reflect the aesthetic convictions and social conditions of their actual authors or their time; they also take an active part in negotiating and shaping these conditions. The book unfolds the history of such author fictions in European and North American texts since the early nineteenth century as a literary history of literary authorship, ranging from the Victorian bildungsroman to contemporary autofiction. It combines rhetorical and sociological approaches to answer the question how literature makes authors. Identifying author fictions as narratives that address the fragile material conditions of literary creation in the actual and symbolic economies of production, Ingo Berensmeyer explores how these texts elaborate and manipulate concepts and models of authorship. This book will be relevant to English, American and comparative literary studies and to anyone interested in the topic of literary authorship.
