

What is a CASE return?

CASE (Crankshaft Angle Sensor Error return) is an advanced way for the truck to detect misfires, using the crankshaft and camshaft position sensors. When a computer is completely rewritten with the latest GDI calibration, the CASE information is lost. To return that information, a dealership or a shop with a Tech II scan tool must perform the procedure, which takes around 5-10 minutes. The only time you need a CASE return is when using our core program option #11. The check engine light for the CASE return is disabled on our latest PCMs, so that it will not illuminate. This does not hurt performance nor disrupt driving in your truck.

Security return procedure:

After installing the PCM, most of the time you will need to perform a Security Return Procedure. This can be done at your home and requires no tools. If your vehicle starts after installing the PCM, you do NOT need to do it.

1. Attempt to start the truck by turning the key to the Start/Run position. Try to crank the vehicle.
2. Observe that the vehicle fails to start and the security light is illuminated.
3. Return key to the ON/RUN position (not the ACC position or OFF).
4. Allow the vehicle to sit with key in the ON/RUN position for no less than 11 minutes. Security light will turn off after this.
5. When the light goes off, turn key to OFF position and allow the vehicle to remain in the OFF position for no less than 30 seconds.
6. Repeat #1-#5 for four cycles or until vehicle starts.

NOTE: Since this is a fairly long procedure (15 minutes) I would limit all electrical sources, such as shutting off headlights and AC lines to prevent discharge of battery. It is safe to wait longer than the allotted times above, but it is not safe to wait less.
