

NEWSPAPER REPORT

features & language

MAIN BODY

This is where you provide details about the event or incident. This should be much more informative than your introduction.

Expand on all the main points of your article.
Turn each main point into a sentence.

Include all the details about the event.

INTRODUCTION

This is a short summary about the piece. The introduction should include the main idea of the story without giving too much away.

Set the scene for your article.
Where did it happen?

Who are the main characters in your article?

When did it happen?

Very briefly summarise the main points in the article.

Make the reader want to read more.

HEADLINE

The headline is the first thing that the reader will see, so it must be catchy to get their attention.

Create a bold heading that stands out! It should be bigger than the article.

Use action words and exclamation marks to get the reader excited about the article.

Keep it brief! Only use a few words so that you keep the reader interested.

Don't tell the reader exactly what the article is about.

WHAT ARE THE FEATURES?
