work is based on several years of researching Ghanaian culinary history and cuisine including field work archival research and interdisciplinary investigation The political economy of Ghana is used as an analytical framework with which to investigate the following questions How are traditional food production structures in Ghana coping with global capitalist production distribution and consumption How do land climate and weather structure or provide the foundation for food consumption and how does that affect the separate traditional and capitalist production sectors Despite the post WWII food fight that launched Ghana s bid for independence from the British empire Ghana s story demonstrates the centrality of local foods and cooking to its national character The cultural weight of regional traditional foods their power to satisfy and the overall collective social emphasis on the proper meal have persisted in Ghana irrespective of centuries of trade with Europeans This book will be of interest to scholars in food studies comparative studies and African studies and is sure to capture the interest of students in new ways

Season to Taste Caroline J. Smith, 2023-05-18 2024 Honorable Mention Recipient for the Emily Toth Award for the Best Single Work by One or More Authors from the Popular Culture Association Between 2000 and 2010 many contemporary US American women writers were returning to the private space of the kitchen writing about their experiences in that space and then publishing their memoirs for the larger public to consume Season to Taste: Rewriting Kitchen Space in Contemporary Women s Food Memoirs explores women s food memoirs with recipes in order to consider the ways in which these women are rewriting this kitchen space and renegotiating their relationships with food Caroline J Smith begins the book with a historical overview of how the space of the kitchen and the expectations of women associated with it have shifted considerably since the 1960s Better Homes and Gardens as well as the discourse of the second wave feminist movement tended to depict the space as a place of imprisonment The contemporary popular writers examined in Season to Taste such as Ruth Reichl Kim Sun e Jocelyn Delk Adams Julie Powell and Molly Wizenberg respond to this characterization by instead presenting the kitchen as a place of transformation In their memoirs and recipes these authors reinterpret their roles within the private sphere of the home as well as the public sphere of the world of publishing whether print or digital publication The authors examined here explode the divide of private feminine and public masculine in both content and form and complicate the genres of recipe writing diary writing and memoir These women writers through the act of preparing and consuming food encourage readers to reconsider the changing gender politics of the kitchen

Research Methods in Digital Food Studies Jonatan Leer, Stinne Gunder Strøm Krogager, 2021-05-30 This book offers the first methodological synthesis of digital food studies It brings together contributions from leading scholars in food and media studies and explores research methods from textual analysis to digital ethnography and action research In recent times digital media has transformed our relationship with food which has become one of the central topics in digital and social media This spatiotemporal shift in food cultures has led us to reimagine how we engage in different practices related to food as consumers The book examines the opportunities and challenges that the new digital era of food studies presents and what methodologies are employed to study the changed dynamics in this field These methodologies provide insights into how restaurant reviews celebrity webpages the blogosphere and YouTube are explored as well as how to analyse digital archives digital soundscapes and digital food activism and a series of approaches to digital ethnography in food studies The book presents straightforward ideas and suggestions for how to get started on one s own research in the field through well structured chapters that include several pedagogical features Written in an accessible style the book will serve as a vital point of reference for both experienced researchers and beginners in the digital food studies field health studies leisure studies anthropology sociology food sciences and media and communication studies Food Cultures across Time

Anca-Luminița Iancu,Alexandra Mitrea,2021-08-23 This volume explores the intricacies and complexities of food and maps food cultures and food routes in fiction by analysing consumption related matters in the literary and cultural endeavours of authors from countries as diverse as Ireland Romania the UK and the USA The topics addressed in this vibrant interdisciplinary collection of essays open up questions for further studies and explorations on the interconnections between food fiction and culture Food Health Janet Chrzan,John Brett,2017-02-01 Nutritional Anthropology and public health research and programming have employed similar methodologies for decades many anthropologists are public health practitioners while many public health practitioners have been trained as medical or biological anthropologists Recognizing such professional connections this volume provides in depth analysis and comprehensive review of methods necessary to design plan implement and analyze public health programming using anthropological best practices To illustrates the rationale for use of particular methods each chapter elaborates a case study from the author s own work showing why particular methods were adopted in each case Eating Fandom CarrieLynn D. Reinhard,Julia E. Largent,Bertha Chin,2020-10-29 This book considers the practices and techniques fans utilize to interact with different aspects and elements of food cultures With attention to food cultures across nations societies cultures and historical periods the collected essays consider the rituals and values of fan communities as reflections of their food culture whether in relation to particular foods or types of food those who produce them or representations of them Presenting various theoretical and methodological approaches the anthology brings together a series of empirical studies to examine the intersection of two fields of cultural practice and will appeal to sociologists geographers and scholars of cultural studies with interests in fan studies and food cultures Conversations

With Food Dorothy Chansky,Sarah W. Tracy,2021-02-02 Conversations With Food offers readers an array of essays revealing the power of food and its absence to transform relationships between the human and non human realms to define national colonial and postcolonial cultures to help instantiate race gender and class relations and to serve as the basis for policymaking Food functions in these contexts as items in religious or secular law as objects with which to bargain or over which to fight as literary trope and as a way to improve or harm health individual or collective The anthology ranges from Ancient Greece to the posthuman fairy underworld from the codifying of French culinary heritage to the strategic marketing of 100 calorie snacks from the European famine after the Second World War to the lush and exotic cuisines of culinary tourism today Conversations With Food will engage anyone interested in discovering the disciplinary breadth and depth of food studies The anthology is ideally suited for introductory and advanced courses in food studies as it includes essays in a range of humanities and social science disciplines and each author draws cross disciplinary linkages between their own work and other essays in the volume This thematic and conceptual intercalation when read with the editors introduction makes the collection an exceptionally strong representation of the field of food studies Nutrition Research Drummond,Alison Murphy-Reyes,2017-02-10 Nutrition Research Concepts Applications is written for nutrition students in undergraduate and graduate programs who are beginning to develop the skills necessary to become knowledgeable research consumers conduct and document research projects and understand how to use research findings in practice The first text of its kind to clearly explain each section of a research paper to students who are new at the process this title outlines how to read and analyze research by learning concepts such as sampling design or relative risk and then seeing these abstract ideas brought to life in actual research articles Students also apply these concepts in Application Questions and Critical Thinking Exercises in which they write abstracts answer questions about evidenced based study data or use a checklist to critique a study Students also learn the nuts and bolts of searching databases for appropriate articles using systematic reviews such as the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics
