Of Women Borne Cynthia R. Wallace,2016-03-08 The literature of Adrienne Rich Toni Morrison Ana Castillo and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie teaches a risky self giving way of reading and being that brings home the dangers and the possibilities of suffering as an ethical good Working the thought of feminist theologians and philosophers into an analysis of these women s writings Cynthia R Wallace crafts a literary ethics attentive to the paradoxes of critique and re vision universality and particularity and reads in suffering a redemptive or redeemable reality Wallace s approach recognizes the generative interplay between ethical form and content in literature which helps isolate more distinctly the gendered and religious echoes of suffering and sacrifice in Western culture By refracting these resonances through the work of feminists and theologians of color her book also shows the value of broad ranging ethical explorations into literature with their power to redefine theories of reading and the nature of our responsibility to art and each other

African Literature and US Empire Katherine Hallemeier,2024-05-31 Postcolonialism has long been associated with post nationalism Yet the persistence of nation oriented literatures from within the African postcolony and its diasporas registers how dreams of national becoming endure In this fascinating new study Hallemeier brings together African literary studies affect studies and US empire studies to challenge chronologies that chart a growing disillusionment with the postcolonial nation and national development across the twentieth and twenty first centuries The Nigerian and South African writings in African Literature and US Empire while often attuned to the trans and extra national repeatedly scrutinise why visions of national exceptionalism signified by a pan African Nigeria and new South Africa remain stubbornly affecting despite decades of disillusionment with national governments beholden to a neocolonial global order In these fictions optimistic forms of nationalism cannot be reduced to easily critiqued state sanctioned discourses of renewal and development They are also circulated through experiences of embodied need quotidian aspiration and transnational pan African relationship

Postcolonial Poetics Elleke Boehmer, 2018-06-27 Postcolonial Poetics is about how we read postcolonial and world literatures today and about how the structures of that writing shape our reading The book's eight chapters explore the ways in which postcolonial writing in English from various 21st century contexts including southern and West Africa and Black and Asian Britain interacts with our imaginative understanding of the world Throughout the focus is on reading practices where reading is taken as an inventive border traversing activity one that postcolonial writing with its interests in margins intersections subversions and crossings specifically encourages This close sustained focus on reading reception and literariness is an outstanding feature of the study as is its wide generic range embracing poetry essays and life writing as well as fiction The field defining scholar Elleke Boehmer holds that literature has the capacity to keep reimagining and refreshing how we understand ourselves in relation to the world and to some of the most pressing questions of our time including resistance reconciliation survival after terror and migration

Imperial Middlebrow, 2020-05-11 The collection Imperial Middlebrow edited by Christoph Ehland and Jana Gohrisch takes middlebrow studies further in two ways First it focuses on the role middlebrow writing played in the popularisation and dissemination of imperial ideology It combines the interest in the wider function of literature for a colonial society with close scrutiny of the ideological and socio economic contexts of writers and readers The essays cover the Girl's Own Paper fiction about colonial India including its appearance in Scottish writing the West Indies the South Pacific as well as illustrations of Haggard's South African imperial romances Second the volume proposes using the concept of the middlebrow as an analytical tool to read recent Black and Asian British as well as Nigerian fiction

The Cultural and Historical Heritage of Colonialism Kenneth Usongo, 2022-02-17 In the time since most African countries achieved independence from European colonial powers it is unfortunate that these nations are still politically economically and culturally reordered by their former colonisers This book argues that these nations often slavishly emulate Western values to the detriment of indigenous ones It challenges the postcolony to ground itself in local experience and then nativise external values which entails delicately sifting through both the domestic and foreign worlds to

Leadership Lessons from Books I Have Read Tshilidzi Marwala, 2021-06-18

Professor Marwala has sought to understand what good leadership should mean by drawing on the collective experience of authors who have written on many topics. Former President of South Africa THABO MBEKI. We cannot underestimate how critical strong leadership is in all aspects of our lives. It enables us to run our lives, homes, communities, workplaces, and nations. Given its importance, it is pertinent to ask: What is the source of good leadership? Albert Einstein once said: The only source of knowledge is experience. Many philosophers have observed this, and if we accept experience as the only source of knowledge, can we extend this conclusion to leadership? Or is the basis of good leadership intuition or instinct? Or is it perhaps a combination of these? In Leadership Lessons From Books I Have Read, Tshilidzi Marwala adopts the thesis that the source of good leadership is knowledge, and the source of knowledge is experience, which can take many forms: reading, widely listening, and engaging in discussion and debate with other knowledge seekers. If leadership is derived from knowledge and knowledge is derived from experience, the experience in this book is from 50 books that Tshilidzi has read, and so the source of knowledge informing leadership is the collective experience of the more than 50 accomplished authors who wrote those books, including among others Chinua Achebe, Thomas Sankara, NoViolet Bulawayo, Nelson Mandela, Mandla Mathebula, Eugene Marais, Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, Jean Jacques Rousseau, Daniel Kahneman, Karl Marx, Ng g wa Thiong o, Nassim Taleb, and Aristotle. Divided into four sections, Tshilidzi shares his leadership lessons in the areas of Africa and the diaspora, the search for the ideal polity, science, technology, and society, and the leadership of nations. Those who do not read should not lead. THILIDZI MARWALA. The Palgrave Handbook of African Men and Masculinities Ezra Chitando, Obert Bernard Mlambo, Sakhumzi Mfecane, Kopano Ratele, 2024-05-07. This handbook provides a comprehensive interdisciplinary overview of key theoretical and analytical approaches, topics, and debates in contemporary scholarship on African masculinities. Refusing to privilege Western theoretical constructs but remaining in dialogue with them, contributors explore the contestations around and diversities within men, masculinities, and sexualities in Africa, investigate individual and collective practices of masculinity, and interrogate the social construction of masculinities. Bringing together insights from scholars across gender studies, sociology, anthropology, philosophy, history, literature, and religion, this book demonstrates how recognizing and upholding the integrity of African phenomena, locating and reflecting on men and masculinities in varied African contexts, and drawing new theoretical frameworks all combine to take the discourse on men and masculinities in Africa forward. Chapters examine a range of issues within the context of masculinities, including embodiment, sport, violence, militarism, spirituality, gender roles, fatherhood, homosexuality, health, and work. This handbook will be valuable reading for scholars, researchers, and policymakers in Masculinity Studies and more broadly Gender Studies, as well as African Studies. Feminism Dennis S. Erasga, Michael Eduard L. Labayandoy, 2023-12-13. By focusing on new materiality, this edited volume offers new optics on the affordance of women's physical and objective body. The interdisciplinary essays assembled in the book interrogate the concepts of corporeality and embodiment by interpreting them as material enactivism of a woman's physical body geared toward performance and demonstration respectively. The book situates body bodily movements as agentic initiatives to make sense of women's bodies in motion. Although flesh in its constitution a woman's body is the very material entity that does not only perform what it is expected to do for its many audiences as in spectacle but also its corporeality imputes a demonstrative kinetics hitherto associated with the objective body in recent social theorizing.

Globalization and Transnational Migrations Oluyato Adesina, 2009-03-26. The past three decades have proved extremely challenging for Africa and its peoples both at home and in the Diaspora. Coincidentally these were also the decades that globalization reached maturity and that the world became more interconnected and interdependent. The paradox of globalization for Africa has included increase in marginalization poverty inequality migration and instability. This book highlights global asymmetries by interfacing the notion of one world or flat world with the challenges thrown up by transnational migration brain drain citizenship identity multiculturalism religion and ethnicity. It presents researches and discourses on globalization across disciplines and across regions and fosters ongoing inquiry into important assumptions beliefs and perspectives about the implications of globalization for Africa and Africans. It covers major areas of concern movement of refugees xenophobia transition from economic migration to citizenship challenges of integration and conflict of identity. The authors investigate the experiences of Africans in various economic sectors and geographical locations and the trends in hegemony inequality cultural changes and the dynamics of social movements and struggles. Through illuminating narratives and copious explanations this book assists readers to make sense of globalization and the position of Africa and Africans in it.
