As this volume demonstrates, fictional television provides a crucial space for social and political debate in much of the region. Writing from a range of disciplines: anthropology, communication, folklore, gender studies, history and law, contributors include seasoned academics who have dedicated their careers to researching Middle Eastern media and emerging scholars who build on earlier work and introduce fresh perspectives. Together they provide an invaluable overview of Middle Eastern serial television and their political impact, drawing examples from Afghanistan, Egypt, Iran, Syria and Turkey.
