Jacobs, 2012-10-19 This edited volume examines the realizations between theological considerations and natural law theorizing from Plato to Spinoza Theological considerations have long had a pronounced role in Catholic natural law theories but have not been as thoroughly examined from a wider perspective The contributors to this volume take a more inclusive view of the relation between conceptions of natural law and theistic claims and principles They do not jointly defend one particular thematic claim but articulate diverse ways in which natural law has both been understood and related to theistic claims In addition to exploring Plato and the Stoics the volume also looks at medieval Jewish thought the thought of Aquinas Scotus and Ockham and the ways in which Spinoza's thought includes resonances of earlier views and intimations of later developments Taken as a whole these essays enlarge the scope of the discussion of natural law through study of how the naturalness of natural law has often been related to theses about the divine The latter are often crucial elements of natural law theorizing having an integral role in accounting for the metaethical status and ethical bindingness of natural law At the same time the question of the relation between natural law and God and the relation between natural law and divine command has been addressed in a multiplicity of ways by key figures throughout the history of natural law theorizing and these essays accord them the explanatory significance they deserve

Reflections on Reason, Religion, and Tolerance Klass Grinell, 2015-06-07 This is an attempt to reflect on Islam as it appears in the context of Fethullah Gulen's teachings an influential Turkish Muslim scholar who inspired a movement of education and interfaith dialogue Grinell's extensive study of Islam and of Gulen allows him to pinpoint a unique expression of values and beliefs that could alter the typical understanding of Islam and Muslims in the West He draws upon his previous studies of the Gulen Movement and comparatively places Gulen in a wider context of faith and society What is the concept of knowledge in Islam as understood by Gulen How is faith and service to people connected Is Gulen after building a sultanate Does the Gulen movement have a hidden political agenda How traditional or modern is Gulen These are some of the questions Grinell attempts to answer from his perspective As a humanistic researcher on Islam Grinell believes we definitely have something to learn from Islam Faith from a Positive Psychology Perspective Cindy Miller-Perrin, Elizabeth Krumrei Mancuso, 2014-10-01 This book highlights religious faith from a positive psychology perspective examining the relationship between religious faith and optimal psychological functioning It takes a perspective of religious diversity that incorporates international and cross cultural work The empirical literature on the role of faith and cognition faith and emotion and faith and behaviour is addressed including how these topics relate to individuals mental health well being strength and resilience Information on how these faith concepts are relevant to the broader context of relational functioning in families friendships and communities is also incorporated Psychologists have traditionally focused on the treatment of mental illness from a perspective of repairing damaged habits damaged drives damaged childhoods and damaged brains In recent years however many psychological researchers and practitioners have attempted to re focus the field away from the study of human weakness and damage toward the promotion of a positive psychology of well being among individuals families and communities One domain within the field of positive psychology is the study of religious faith as a human strength that has the potential to enhance individuals optimal existence and well being Faith as Life in the Spirit Aaron Gabriel Ross, 2025-06-26 This incisive work shows that faith does not need to be understood as what one believes does or feels when faith is understood as being in Christ by being in the Spirit The way in which Christians and Christian theology at least in Western traditions including the family of Pentecostals and renewal movements engages with the idea of faith has a problem faith is often defined as what people must do whether that is to believe in a list of doctrines to do good works or to love properly in order for God to respond with forgiveness and salvation However this work takes a new approach with a pneumatological trajectory in constructing a theology of faith understood as life in the Spirit overcoming a stalemated discussion on faith as belief versus works As such faith is being in Christ by being in the Spirit is the theological recognition that faith is first relationality to the Spirit by which a person is invited into life with Christ and the triune God Faith is not what one does beliefs works affections but rather what one is in relationality with the Spirit Beliefs works and affections are best understood as those things that are the outward expressions of the relationality rather than that which brings one into relationality with God The Christians as the Romans Saw Them Robert Louis Wilken, 2003-01-01 This book offers an engrossing portrayal of the early years of the Christian movement from the perspective of the Romans Catholic Theology

Tracey Rowland, 2017-01-26 Rowland showcases here the dominant contemporary approaches to doing Catholic theology Chapter 1 offers a summary of the two International Theological Commission ITC documents on the discipline of Catholic theology These documents set out the general principles which should govern any approach to Catholic theology at least according to the ITC The subsequent chapters each focus on one of four different approaches frequently found in contemporary Catholic academies the approach of Thomists members of the Communio milieu members of the Concilium milieu and promoters of different varieties of Liberation Theology Rowland's work is pitched at the level of first time students of theology who are trying to make sense of the methodological choices which undergird the different approaches to Catholic theology Rowland concludes with four appendices a list of all Doctors of the Church a list of all encyclicals since the 19th century a list of the documents of the Second Vatican Council and a list of definitions of the various Christological heresies which were the subject of the debates of the early Church Councils These appendices will provide useful reference tables for young scholars including seminarians

The Quest for Purpose Perry L. Glanzer, Jonathan P. Hill, Byron R. Johnson, 2017-08-07 Demonstrates how students and educators can resist narrow utilitarian views of higher education's purpose While the search for meaning and purpose appears to be a constant throughout human history there are characteristics about our current time period that make this search different from any other previous time particularly for college students In this book Perry L Glanzer Jonathan P Hill and Byron R Johnson explore college students search for meaning and purpose and the role that higher education plays To shed empirical light on this complex issue the authors draw on in depth interviews with four hundred college students from different types of institutions across the United States They also analyze three sets of national survey data the National Study of Youth and Religion College Students Beliefs and Values and their own Gallup conducted survey of 2 500 college students Their research identifies important social educational and cultural influences that shape students' quests and the answers they find Arguing against a utilitarian view of education Glanzer Hill and Johnson conclude that colleges and universities can and should cultivate and aid students in their journeys and they offer suggestions for doing so
