It offers a unique account of the last fifteen years of nationalized railways in Britain and it sheds light on the current problems of privatized railway systems. This volume is divided into four complete and concise sections for complete study: Railways Under Labour 1974-1979, The Thatcher Revolution, British Rail in the 1980s, On The Threshold of Privatization, Running the Railways 1990-1994, and Responding to Privatization 1981-1997. Author Terry Gourvish is considered Britain's leading railway historian.

Applied to structural health monitoring, smart sensors are key enablers of sparse and dense sensor networks capable of monitoring full-scale structures and components. They are also critical in empowering operators with decision-making capabilities. The objective of this Special Issue is to generate discussions on the latest advances in research on smart sensing technologies for structural health monitoring applications with a focus on decision-enabling systems. This Special Issue covers a wide range of related topics such as innovative sensors and sensing technologies for crack displacement and sudden event monitoring, sensor optimization and novel sensor data processing algorithms for damage and defect detection, operational modal analysis and system identification of a wide variety of structures: bridges, transmission line towers, high-speed trains, masonry, light houses, etc.
