O'Kane, 2016-09-01 This Festschrift containing sixteen invited essays and papers is a tribute to the distinguished Irish hydrologist James Dooge on the occasion of his 70th birthday His former students colleagues and friends in fourteen countries have provided a varied selection on his favourite topics flow in open channels and unsaturated soil and also from his major interest of recent years large scale hydrology and global change The book has three sections The first section on hydrological processes contains six papers The second section on large scale hydrology has four papers Six historical reflective and philosophical essays on the past and future of the hydrological sciences form the third section of the book Functional Assessment of Wetlands E. Maltby, 2009-04-27 Wetlands perform functions that deliver benefits to society often referred to as ecosystem services These ecosystem services include water supply flood regulation water purification climate regulation biodiversity agriculture e g grazing land and amenity A functional approach to wetland assessment enables a holistic view to be taken of the wide range of services wetlands can provide The functional assessment procedures FAPs in this volume translate best available scientific knowledge into reasonable predictions of how component parts of wetlands function in different landscape contexts They can be used to indicate the potential and priorities for management options in such areas as flood control pollution reduction and biodiversity conservation Functional assessment enables the user to predict the functioning of a wetland area without the need for comprehensive and expensive empirical research The FAPs therefore provide a methodology that can be used by both experts and non experts to assess wetland functioning relatively rapidly The volume includes an electronic version of the FAPs on CD which automates aspects of the assessment once the initial recording stage is completed It is anticipated that the FAPs will be used by a range of individuals or organisations concerned with wetland management who wish to gain a better understanding of the processes functions services or benefits and potential of the wetlands for which they have responsibility Provides a systematic methodology to evaluate how wetlands function Allows non experts to assess wetland functioning rapidly and cost effectively Automates aspects of the functional assessment through the accompanying CD ROM

Assessment of Hydrologic and Hydrometeorological Operations and Services National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Commission on Engineering and Technical Systems, National Weather Service Modernization Committee, 1997-01-03 Floods are by far the most devastating of all weather related hazards in the United States The National Weather Service NWS is charged by Congress to provide river and flood forecasts and warnings to the public to protect life and property and to promote the nation's economic and environmental well being such as through support for water resources management As part of a modernization of its technologies and organizational structure the NWS is undertaking a thorough updating of its hydrologic products and services and the activities that produce them The National Weather Service Modernization Committee of the National Research Council undertook a comprehensive assessment of the NWS plans and progress for the modernization of hydrologic and hydrometeorological operations and services The committee's conclusions and recommendations and their related analysis and rationale are presented in this report Hydrological and Biological Responses to Forest Practices John D.
