Documentary Sources in Ancient Near Eastern and Greco-Roman Economic History Heather D. Baker,Michael Jursa,2014-08-31 This volume breaks new ground in approaching the Ancient Economy by bringing together documentary sources from Mesopotamia and the Greco Roman world Addressing textual corpora that have traditionally been studied separately the collected papers overturn the conventional view of a fundamental divide between the economic institutions of these two regions The premise is that while controlling for differences texts from either cultural setting can be brought to bear on the other and can shed light through their use as proxy data on such questions as economic mentalities and market development The book also presents innovative approaches to the quantitative study of large corpora of ancient documents The resulting view of the Ancient Economy is much more variegated and dynamic than traditional primitivist views would allow The volume covers the following topics Babylonian house size data as an index of urban living standards the Old Babylonian archives as a source for economic history Middle Bronze Age long distance trade in Anatolia long term economic development in Babylonia from the 7th to the 4th century BC legal institutions and agrarian change in the Roman Empire papyrological evidence for water lifting technology money circulation and monetization in Late Antique Egypt the application of Social Network Analysis to Babylonian cuneiform archives price trends in the ancient Near East and Mediterranean in the Hellenistic and Roman periods as well as the effects of locust plagues on prices

Credential Market Quentin Maire,2021-09-22 This book makes an original contribution to credential sociology by analysing how high school certificates become and remain valuable in a context of mass high school participation i e credentialism Building on a detailed analysis of the International Baccalaureate IB Diploma a senior secondary school certificate offered in over 150 countries Quentin Maire argues that the advent of new private credentials can be understood as a phenomenon of credential stratification in a context of intensified academic competition Using original data on high school credentials in Australia and internationally the author makes a strong case for certificates to be studied relationally by locating them in the credentialing structures in which they are inserted He systematically applies the comparative method to explain the role of the curriculum family resources school segregation and higher education selection in creating a credential hierarchy His robust combination of theoretical construction and detailed empirical work allows him to offer new insights into social inequality in education systems credential theory and the IB Diploma Statistical Abstract of the United States ,1980 International Handbook on the Economics of Integration Miroslav N. Jovanović,2011-01-31

International Handbook of Economic Integration edited by Miroslav Jovanovi provides timely and rich academic contributions to considerations of the widest array of integration related issues European integration has been providing an inspiration to a number of academics and researchers The Handbook is a recognition of the dynamic and strong solidarity of the European integration At the same time the European Union often provided an example for integration schemes throughout the world which spread enormously since the mid 1990s Leading experts from all continents contributed to this Handbook which will be a valuable input into academic and policy making discussions and actions Jos Manuel Barroso President of the European Commission Miroslav Jovanovi s publication represents a rich contribution to the complex issue of regional integration its benefits its shortcomings and its relationship with multilateral trade opening It sheds light over an issue which is the subject of intense discussions in trade circles Pascal Lamy Director General of the WTO Much has been written on trade agreements as a mechanism to integrate the markets of two of more countries often inspired by the European example In recent years attention has increasingly focused on the importance of economic geography as a determinant of industrial location. This book combines the two strands of analysis bringing together leading experts in the fields of economic geography and international trade. The result is an outstanding compilation of papers that illuminate how policies and economic forces affect the location of economic activity in an integrated Europe.

Bernard Hoekman, Director, The World Bank, US. The open multilateral trading system is a tremendous success of the past half century and has contributed greatly to the world's unprecedented rate of economic growth. Over the past two decades, however, preferential trading arrangements have proliferated, raising questions as to how compatible they are with the open multilateral system and what policies might be adopted to improve outcomes. The essays in this volume detail the emergence of PTAs and provide comprehensive and up-to-date analyses of the state of play of preferential arrangements in all regions of the world. The volume will provide a useful reference for all those wanting to understand existing preferential arrangements and their role in the international economy today.

Anne O. Krueger, Johns Hopkins University and Stanford University, US. Economic integration is a complex and multifaceted giant with a myriad of aspects ranging from regional and global concentration and dispersal of economic activity to social and political consequences for individuals and communities in developed and developing countries alike. This landmark three-volume collection of chapters by leading authors drawn from many fields is a worthy and timely contribution to the analysis of a phenomenon with profound implications for the future world economy and its governance.

James Zhan, Director, Investment, Agriculture and Environment, and Quantitative Studies of Integration Effects. A removal of barriers for the mobility of factors in certain integration arrangements among countries has an impact on the mobility of capital, firms, and individuals within the group. Various aspects of this factor mobility are analysed in eight detailed chapters. The second theme of the Handbook is devoted to agriculture and environment. This is of great global relevance as the Common Agricultural Policy of the EU has been a bone of contention in international relations over several decades. Finally, seven quantitative studies of the effects of integration attempt to measure various potential benefits of regional integration efforts. Contributors to this major reference work include eminent authors, some of whom contributed to the creation of economic integration theory from the outset. The authors not only survey the literature but also present their own arguments and new ideas in order to offer a new perspective as well as discussing the issues they believe are essential in the field. Each of the insightful chapters is approachable not only to graduate students, scholars, researchers, and policymakers but also to advanced undergraduate students.
