 Move explains how we got here and where we're headed It's crucial guide to the world we are creating Elizabeth Kolbert author of Under a White Sky and The Sixth Extinction A vivid journalistic account of how climate change will make American life as we know it unfeasible Humanity is on the precipice of a great climate migration and Americans will not be spared Tens of millions of people are likely to be driven from the places they call home Poorer communities will be left behind while growth will surge in the cities and regions most attractive to climate refugees America will be changed utterly Abraham Lustgarten's On the Move is the definitive account of what this massive population shift might look like As he shows the United States will be rendered unrecognizable by four unstoppable forces wildfires in the West frequent flooding in coastal regions extreme heat and humidity in the South and droughts that will make farming all but impossible across much of the nation Reporting from the front lines of climate migration Lustgarten explains how a pattern of shortsighted policies encouraged millions to settle in vulnerable parts of the country and introduces us to homeowners in California insurance customers in Florida and ranchers in Colorado who are being forced to make the agonizing choice of when not whether to leave Employing the most current climate data and predictive models he shows how America's population will be squeezed northward into a shrinking triangle of land stretching from Tennessee to Maine to the Great Lakes The places many of us now call home are at risk and On the Move reveals how we'll deal with the consequences Ecological Restoration Law Afshin Akhtar-Khavari, Benjamin J. Richardson, 2019-01-25 Ecological restoration is as essential as sustainable development for the health of the biosphere Restoration however has been a low priority of most countries environmental laws which tend to focus narrowly on rehabilitation of small discrete sites rather than the more ambitious recovery of entire ecosystems and landscapes Through critical theoretical perspectives and topical case studies this book's diverse contributors explore a more ambitious agenda for ecological restoration law Not only do they investigate current laws and other governance mechanisms they also consider the philosophical and methodological bases for the law to take ecological restoration more seriously

Picciano, 2016-09-13

Online Education Policy and Practice examines the past, present and future of networked learning environments and the changing role of faculty within them. As digital technologies in higher education increasingly enable blended classrooms, collaborative assignments and wider student access, an understanding of the creation and ongoing developments of these platforms is needed more than ever. By investigating the history of online education, the rise and critique of MOOCs, the mainstreaming of social media, mobile devices, gaming in instruction and more, this expansive book outlines a variety of potential scenarios likely to become realities in higher education over the next decade. Science and Diplomacy Mauro Galluccio, Ph.D., 2021-01-06. This book lays the groundwork for a new field of study and research in the intersection between science and diplomacy. It will review the multi-disciplinary research in this burgeoning area, providing the scientific foundation for the application of psychological principles to understanding and facilitating political decisions in an international context. Focusing on how people think, act and feel on both individual and collective levels, this book takes into account a realistic perspective from which transformative processes can emerge. It follows the ongoing debate in the EU and the world in providing a better understanding of the tools that can be deployed to improve communication and cooperation between scientists, politicians and diplomats in this field. The failure of communication in this COVID-19 planetary crisis has not been about whether or not objectives have been achieved, but about the ability of major actors to cooperate to forge links with people. The way policymakers and scientists will manage their interpersonal negotiations will be of great importance in fostering international cooperation and coordinated problem-solving behaviours. Otherwise, science diplomacy will lose sight of its most important purpose: that of helping to solve problems, conflicts and diplomatic processes for the sake of humanity.

Technological Innovation in Legacy Sectors William B. Bonvillian, Charles Weiss, 2015-08-18. The American economy faces two deep problems: expanding innovation and raising the rate of quality job creation. Both have roots in a neglected problem: the resistance of legacy economic sectors to innovation. While the U.S. has focused its policies on breakthrough innovations to create new economic frontiers like information technology and biotechnology, most of its economy is locked into legacy sectors defended by technological, economic, political, social paradigms that block competition from disruptive innovations that could challenge their models. Americans like to build technology-covered wagons and take them out west to open new innovation frontiers; we don't head our wagons back east to bring innovation to our legacy sectors. By failing to do so, the economy misses a major opportunity for innovation which is the bedrock of U S competitiveness and its standard of living Technological Innovation in Legacy Sectors uses a new unifying conceptual framework to identify the shared features underlying structural obstacles to innovation in major Legacy sectors energy air and auto transport the electric power grid buildings manufacturing agriculture health care delivery and higher education and develops approaches to understand and transform them It finds both strengths and obstacles to innovation in the national innovation environments a new concept that combines the innovation system and the broader innovation context for a group of Asian and European economies Manufacturing is a major Legacy sector that presents a particular challenge because it is a critical stage in the innovation process By increasingly offshoring production the U S is losing important parts of its innovation capacity Innovate here produce here where the U S took all the gains of its strong innovation system at every stage is being replaced by innovate here produce there which threatens to lead to produce there innovate there To bring innovation to Legacy sectors authors William Bonvillian and Charles Weiss recommend that policymakers focus on all stages of innovation from research through implementation They should fill institutional gaps in the innovation system and take measures to address structural obstacles to needed disruptive innovations In the specific case of advanced manufacturing the production ecosystem can be recreated to reverse jobless innovation and add manufacturing led innovation to the U S s still strong research oriented innovation system
