Writing the Materialities of the Past Sam Griffiths, 2021-06-14 Writing the Materialities of the Past offers a close analysis of how the materiality of the built environment has been repressed in historical thinking since the 1950s Author Sam Griffiths argues that the social theory of cities in this period was characterised by the dominance of socio economic and linguistic cultural models which served to impede our understanding of time space relationality towards historical events and their narration The book engages with studies of historical writing to discuss materiality in the built environment as a form of literary practice to express marginalised dimensions of social experience in a range of historical contexts It then moves on to reflect on England's nineteenth century industrialization from an architectural topographical perspective challenging theories of space and architecture to examine the complex role of industrial cities in mediating social changes in the practice of everyday life By demonstrating how the authenticity of historical accounts rests on materially emplaced narratives Griffiths makes the case for the emancipatory possibilities of historical writing He calls for a re evaluation of historical epistemology as a primarily socio scientific or literary enquiry and instead proposes a specifically architectural time space figuration of historical events to rethink and refresh the relationship of the urban past to its present and future Written for postgraduate students researchers and academics in architectural theory and urban studies Griffiths draws on the space syntax tradition of research to explore how contingencies of movement and encounter construct the historical imagination Resolving Hydrologic Water Balances Through Novel Error Analysis, with Focus on Inter-annual and Long-term Variability in the Tahoe Basin James Charles Trask,2007 The Promise and Peril of CRISPR Neal Baer,2024-07-02 A timely collection of essays on the pressing possibilities and risks of gene editing technology Scientists and genetic engineers are becoming increasingly adept at editing the human genome How far can and should they go in editing future generations In The Promise and Peril of CRISPR editor Neal Baer brings together a timely collection of essays by influential bioethicists philosophers and geneticists to explore the moral ethical and policy challenges posed by CRISPR technology We are at a technological and ethical crossroads in grappling with the impacts of genetic editing Gene editing technology holds the promise of curing more than 7 000 known genetic diseases Yet with that promise comes the peril of using CRISPR to edit the human genome which could not only lead to manipulating human evolution but also to creating and releasing pathogens capable of wreaking havoc on human animal and plant life Although CRISPR has already cured several genetic diseases it could also be used to design biological weapons or to edit the embryos of people who can afford to purchase genetic enhancements for their children What role can and should the public play in discussing the far reaching implications of gene editing What oversights should be put in place to prevent a rogue scientist from engineering another baby as was recently done with twins in China Essay contributors offer informed predictions and guidelines for how the uses of CRISPR today will affect life in the future Decisions we make now may have unpredictable consequences for future generations For anyone concerned about the uses and potential abuses of gene editing these essays provide a critical and comprehensive discussion of the central issues surrounding CRISPR technology Contributors Florence Ashley R Alta Charo Marcy Darnovsky Kevin Doxzen Rosemarie Garland Thomson Gigi Kwik Gronvall Jodi Halpern Katie Hasson Andrew C Heinrich Jacqueline Humphries J Benjamin Hurlbut Ellen D Jorgensen Peter F R Mills Carol Padden Marcus Schultz Bergin Robert Sparrow Sandra Sufian Krystal Tsosie Ethan Weiss Rachel M West Critical and Miscellaneous Essays Thomas Carlyle,1848 Early Childhood Stuttering for Clinicians by Clinicians Ehud Yairi,Nicoline Grinager Ambrose,2005 Year Book ... Institute of Radio Engineers,1949 The Social Origins of Thought Johannes F.M.
