Islamic Finance as a Complex System Haider Ali Khan, Karamo N.M. Sonko, 2020-07-24 There has been a rapid increase in the interest in the study of Islamic finance resulting in a dramatic rise in financing since the beginning of the century By the end of 2017 global industry assets had reached 2 4 trillion and were forecasted to reach 3 2 trillion by 2020 despite historic challenges to Islam itself at the same time This collection of chapters provides key theoretical empirical and policy insights into Islamic finance from an overall complex financial and economic systems perspective Within the complex financial and economic systems framework this book addresses questions such as how to conceptualize Islamic financial institutions in a nonlinear general equilibrium system how to promote Islamic Finance in Africa how Islamic is Islamic finance and how it affects price stability among other topics The book provides case studies in Africa and Asia addresses the subject in a structural financial CGE model demonstrates the development impact of Islamic finance and presents an Islamic version of the Iceland Plan for Monetary Reform

From Political to Economic Awakening in the Arab World Jean-Pierre Chauffour, 2012-12-05 The popular grievances that have fueled the Arab Spring since 2010 demonstrate that past development paradigms have failed to achieve the inclusive and sustainable growth expected by Arab populations Countries in the Middle East and North Africa MENA region have failed to develop a strong private sector that is linked with global markets survives without state assistance and generates productive employment for young people One key symptom of this maldevelopment is that with the exception of the petroleum sector MENA remains the least trade integrated region in the world The Deauville Partnership launched by the Group of Eight G8 in Deauville France in May 2011 is thus strategic and timely At the request of the G8 this report provides an analytical framework for increasing trade and foreign direct investment FDI for Egypt Jordan Libya Morocco and Tunisia the Partnership countries Increased trade and FDI is a key means by which Partnership countries can achieve a path of sustainable growth that reduces youth unemployment Moreover trade and investment can also show short term results The G8 countries Turkey the Gulf states and other Deauville partners can help the new Arab democracies achieve their objectives in two main ways by effectively expanding market opportunities and by supporting domestic regulatory reforms To start implementing a long term vision of increased trade and investment integration based on an integrated economic space in the Mediterranean basin the Deauville Partnership could focus on five priority areas These are helping Partnership countries adapt to a fast changing trade FDI and jobs landscape improving market access opportunities and market regulations fostering competitiveness diversification and employment facilitating trade and mobilizing trade finance and diaspora resources and promoting inclusiveness equity and sustainability of the structural transformation brought about by the process of integration The success of the Arab political awakening will greatly depend on the emergence of such an economic awakening that can generate quality employment for the millions of young Arab men and women who seek jobs and a decent life

Arab Monetary Integration (RLE Economy of Middle East) Khair El-Din Haseeb, Samir Makdisi, 2014-10-30 Pre eminent among the requisites for economic integration is monetary integration. It is the premise of the chapters in this book that if the Arab world is to achieve a closer degree of cooperation in economic and political spheres the issue of monetary integration must be given much more attention. To this end the contributors to this book who include well known academics and economic experts from the Arab countries, Europe, the USA and Latin America have looked at the experience of other areas of the world which have introduced monetary unity. They consider the experiences of Western Europe, Latin America and Western Africa evaluating them with the objective of focusing on the various major issues which have to be coped with when planning for closer monetary cooperation. While the analysis concerning the scope for future Arab monetary integration revealed varying positions as to the factors which should be stressed and the pre requisites which should be fulfilled, there emerged general agreement on certain major issues including the following: at the present time the Arab countries should strive to achieve partial rather than full monetary integration and to create the requisite conditions for such a move; economic and monetary integration should be viewed as mutually reinforcing rather than as successive processes and the political will to achieve integration is a major pre requisite for any move in that direction. Offshore Financial Centers, Accounting Services and the Global Economy Don E. Garner, David L. McKee, Yosra AbuAmara McKee, 2000-07-30 The new global climate of free enterprise has brought with it a proliferation of offshore financial centers that presumably have important roles to play in the emergent global economy The air of secrecy that appears to pervade the activities of offshore financial centers may well slant or obscure any real understanding of the functions of such centers The authors investigate the role of major international accounting firms and their services in the processes of business facilitation in the locations that host these centers By focusing the investigation upon the role of the accounting firms in offshore financial centers the authors gain a better grasp of the real or potential impacts of the firms in the global economy and in the jurisdictions that host them Not only do the authors provide a detailed assessment of what the major accounting firms are actually doing in the centers but they point out what attributes are needed by jurisdictions hoping to succeed as offshore financial centers The centers included are Antigua Barbuda the Bahamas Barbados Bermuda the Cayman Islands the Channel Islands the Isle of Man Gibraltar Malta Cyprus Bahrain the United Arab Emirates Mauritius the Seychelles Singapore and Vanuatu The authors describe the legal and institutional environments facing business operations in general and the accounting firms in particular in offshore financial centers By studying these operations it should show what they are doing in terms of facilitating the international activities that flow through such centers It should also add to the understanding of the potential that offshore activities have as vehicles for development in small emerging economies This study should be of interest to a wide range of business disciplines as well as governmental agencies in advanced and emerging nations international agencies such as regional development banks and accountants and the international financial community commerce in many parts of the world Definition of a major company world Global Finance in Emerging Market Economies Todd Knoop, 2013-02-11 Emerging market economies have accounted for three quarters of world economic growth and more than half of world output over the last decade But the energy and ideas inherent in emerging economies cannot generate growth by themselves without resources to support them and first among these resources is money which is needed to purchase the capital and knowhow that turn ideas and initiative into income How do emerging economies rich in resources other than money get money This question encapsulates what emerging market finance is all about and why finance is absolutely crucial to economic development In emerging countries most of the population does not have access to bank accounts or financial markets to save or borrow The result is that many firms cannot get access to financial resources to grow while households cannot borrow and save in ways that could reduce the riskiness and poverty of their lives Even those that do have access to formal finance find that credit is unreliable and expensive These financial failures limit growth and also increase the frequency of costly financial crises These issues and many more like them mean that finance in emerging economies is different and often more complex than the view presented in most textbooks where finance is only considered from the perspective of wealthy developed economies This book addresses this failure by focusing on the important characteristics of financial systems in emerging market economies and their differences from those in developed countries This book surveys both theoretical and empirical research on finance in emerging economies as well as reviewing numerous case studies The final chapters describe and compare financial systems within the four different regions that encompass most emerging economies Sub Saharan Africa the Middle East Asia and South America Macprudential Policy and Financial Stability in the Arab Region Ananthakrishnan Prasad, Heba Abdel Monem, Pilar Garcia Martinez, 2016-05-20 Several characteristics of the structure of the Arab economies their economic policy framework and their banking systems make macroprudential policy a particularly relevant tool For most oil exporters heavy reliance on the extractive sector for generating fiscal revenues and export earnings translates into increased vulnerabilities to oil price shocks In the case of oil importers relatively small external and fiscal buffers make them highly vulnerable to shocks This paper discusses the experience of Arab countries in implementing macroprudential policies and contains recommendations to strengthen their macroprudential framework

Corporate Governance in MENA Building a Framework for Competitiveness and Growth OECD, 2019-04-15 A strong corporate governance framework is essential for MENA economies as they strive to boost economic growth strengthen competitiveness and build prosperous societies The G20 OECD Principles of Corporate Governance and the OECD Guidelines on Corporate Governance of State Owned Enterprises are a reference in order to build such a framework The Arab World Allan M. Findlay, 2002-09-11 Disruption following the Gulf War and the need to satisfy both rising economic aspirations and the Islamic values of the region's peoples demands fresh examination of development issues in the Arab world This introductory text assesses how agricultural industrial and urban development has evolved in the Arab region

Contrasting Arab and Western interpretations of development it draws on case studies covering states as diverse as Saudi Arabia Yemen Morocco and Jordan The author suggests that until the Arabs define their own identity there will continue to be change but not necessarily progress in the region
