Featuring contributions presented at the 2017 Computational Methods in Experimental Economics (CMEE) conference, which was held in Lublin, Poland, it merges findings from various domains to present deep insights into topics such as game theory, decision theory, cognitive neuroscience, and artificial intelligence. The fields of experimental economics and behavioral economics are rapidly evolving. Experiments are currently being conducted with software that, on the one hand, provides interaction with the people involved in experiments and on the other helps to accurately record their responses The goal of the CMEE conference and the papers presented here is to provide the scientific community with essential research on and applications of computer methods in experimental economics Combining theories methods and regional case studies the book offers a valuable resource for all researchers scholars and policymakers in the areas of experimental and behavioral economics
