Killed by a Traffic Engineer Wes Marshall,2024-06-04 In the US we are nearing four million road deaths since we began counting them in 1899 The numbers are getting worse in recent years yet we continue to accept these deaths as part of doing business There has been no examination of why we engineer roads that are literally killing us Fixing the carnage on our roadways requires a change in mindset and a dramatic transformation of transportation This goes for traffic engineers in particular because they are still the ones in charge of our streets In Killed by a Traffic Engineer civil engineering professor Wes Marshall shines a spotlight on how little science there is behind the way that our streets are engineered which leaves safety as an afterthought While traffic engineers are not trying to cause deliberate harm to anyone he explains they are guilty of creating a transportation system whose designs remain largely based on plausible but unproven conjecture Thoroughly researched and compellingly written Killed by a Traffic Engineer shows how traffic engineering research is outdated and unexamined at its best and often steered by an industry and culture considering only how to get from point A to B the fastest way possible to the detriment of safety quality of life equality and planetary health Marshall examines our need for speed and how traffic engineers disconnected it from safety the focus on capacity and how it influences design blaming human error relying on faulty data how liability drives reporting measuring road safety outcomes and the education and reeducation of traffic engineers Killed by a Traffic Engineer is ultimately hopeful about what is possible once we shift our thinking and demand streets engineered for the safety of people both outside and inside of cars It will make you look at your city and streets and traffic engineers in a new light and inspire you to take action

Brain Changer David Disalvo, 2013-11-12 Let s be honest You ve tried the sticky note inspirations the motivational calendar and the cute but ineffective carpe diem mug yet your attitude hasn t changed It s time to apply cutting edge science to the challenges of daily life While everyone desires self improvement we are quickly frustrated when trying to implement the contradictory philosophies of self appointed self help gurus Too often their advice is based on anecdote and personal opinion not real research Bestselling author of What Makes Your Brain Happy and Why You Should Do the Opposite David DiSalvo returns with Brain Changer How Harnessing Your Brain s Power to Adapt Can Change Your Life Drawing on the latest research in neuroscience cognitive psychology behavioral economics communications and even marketing DiSalvo replaces self help with science help He demonstrates how the brain s enormous capacity to adapt is the most crucial factor influencing how we feel and act a factor that we can control to change our lives Findings show our brains are fluid and function much like a feedback loop stimulants from both our environment and from within ourselves

catalyze changes in the brain's response That response then elicits additional inputs that the brain identifies and analyzes to further tailor its response DiSalvo shows that the greatest internal tool we have to affect the feedback loop is metacognition thinking about thinking Littered with relatable examples and tackling major aspects of our lives including relationships careers physical health and personal development Brain Changer shows you how to harness metacognition to enrich your life

How to Lead in Church Conflict K. Brynolf Lyon, Dan Moseley, 2012 The hurts of people often spill over into the life of the congregation causing conflict Your church of finance is going through a nasty divorce and is mad at God The mother of one of your Sunday School teachers is chronically ill A major factory in your community has relocated taking with it many of your church members jobs Some losses in your own life remain painful and unresolved And you wonder why the church council meetings are so rancorous and your church is mired in unproductive conflict What do you do How should you lead According to Lyon and Moseley conflict is often about ungrieved loss When conflict occurs pastors and other church leaders must know how to be present in the dynamics of grieving loss encouraging space for a new thing to emerge With rich and helpful illustrations this book reveals how leaders can understand group wide dynamics of conflict ground their leadership in the liturgical meanings and rhythms of church life and accompany congregations through potentially destructive realities toward the creative possibilities that conflict can bring
