practitioners the nourishment of TCM by traditional Chinese culture and the exchanges between TCM and its western counterparts The vivid narrative of each section is complemented with elaboration of one related key TCM concept in a specific column It is a brilliant reader for those interested in TCM and traditional Chinese culture Essentials of Chinese Medicine Zhanwen Liu,2009-09-16 The Essentials of Chinese Medicine is a text book intended for international students who wish to gain a basic understanding of Chinese Medicine CM at the university level The idea of writing such a text was originated from the Sino American Consortium for the Advancement of Chinese Medicine SACACM which was founded in February 2000 In 1995 the British Hong Kong Administration set up a Preparatory Committee for the Development of Chinese Medicine to look into ways of bringing Chinese medical practice and herbal trade under proper control and regulation After the reunification of Hong Kong with mainland China in 1997 the Government of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region continued the efforts to uplift the practice of CM to a fully professional level through legislation To help bring up a new generation of professional CM practitioners the Hong Kong Baptist University HKBU obtained approval from the Government's university funding authority to develop a School of Chinese Medicine to prepare students who will meet the future professional requirements through public examinations In order to establish itself quickly as a rigorous provider of university level CM education HKBU sought alliance with eight major CM universities in the Chinese Mainland and one US university which was interested in developing CM education within its medical college As a result the Consortium known as SACACM was formed with ten founding institutions from Beijing Shanghai Nanjing Shandong Guangzhou Chengdu Heilongjiang Hong Kong and the United States Earth Acupuncture Gail Reichstein Rex,2016-02-18 Applying the principles of Chinese medicine and Native American shamanism to answer the call of the Earth and heal its polluted landscapes Explains how to build a healing relationship with the natural world by making offerings of thanks and listening to the Earth's responses Details methods of diagnosis and several types of Earth acupuncture treatment including building stone circles planting crystals and working with wooden and copper rod needles Shares the author's journey of healing a river with these methods After experiencing a powerful vision of the nuclear power plant near her home and its toxic effects on the Hudson River acupuncturist Gail Rex was inspired to help heal the river and surrounding lands but was unsure how to begin Soon after at a workshop with Cherokee wisdom teacher Venerable Dhyani Ywahoo she discovered the answer she could treat the landscape just as she treated her patients by taking its pulses and treating the points of stagnant energy and pollution with acupuncture Tracing her journey from initial vision and pulse taking to building a stone circle to open a major energy meridian of the Hudson the author reveals how our rivers valleys and forests are capable of illness and healing just like a living being She explains simple practices for attuning with the living landscape and responding appropriately to the messages and images received from the Earth's intelligence By making offerings of thanks and asking the land's permission before every interaction Gail Rex demonstrates the power of right relationship in action Drawing upon the principles of Chinese medicine and her work with Native American shamanic traditions Rex shows how the landscape itself reveals both its imbalances and the opportunities for treatment Using a broad range of diagnostic tools including direct observation principles of feng shui listening to pulses and working with maps she demonstrates ways of identifying the master points of the surrounding landscape She then explores different methods of Earth acupuncture treatment including building stone circles planting crystals and working with wooden and copper rod needles to treat these specific points and restore energy balance Offering not only a proactive method for healing the environment Rex also reveals how to communicate with the rivers mountains trees and rocks that surround us allowing each of us to develop an authentic spiritual relationship with the living body of the Earth

36 Deadly Bubishi Points Rand Cardwell, 2019-03-26 Learn how to target the weaknesses of an attacker and effectively exploit them in order to defend yourself The 36 Deadly Bubishi Points explains the pressure point techniques found in the Bubishi the ancient Bible of Karate and how recognizing them allows you to defend yourself against such attacks This book closely examines these vital points and the science behind them and the author fills a gap in general understanding of how the 36 vital points found in the Bubishi can be targeted using pressure point fighting techniques While much has been written about the vital points and their medicinal importance thanks to the popularity of practices such as acupuncture martial research on the subject has been lacking Cardwell discusses the vital points from the perspective of an experienced martial artist including how the body's vital points are related to the 8 extraordinary vessels and 12 meridians which circulate energy throughout the body Through detailed step by step instructions and over 96 photographs and illustrations The 36 Deadly Bubishi Points shows how this knowledge can be employed in self defense

Construction & Strangification Jan Brousek, Following the Austrian Federal President's socio politically important call to make your bubble burst this book undertakes nothing less than an attempt to do justice to Karl Raimund Popper's credo to make philosophy effective which was pointing the way for Friedrich Wallner's development of the epistemological Viennese School of Constructive Realism CR In the spirit of CR making philosophy effective by bursting our bubbles means first and foremost making readers aware of the sub cultural conditionality in relation to our ways of constructing reality and inviting them to leave well trodden paths of thought and thus gain intellectual space for expanded scope for action For this purpose long time companions from different phases of the development of CR as well as current research colleagues from all over the world have been invited to shed light on different aspects of Prof Wallner's oeuvre from several disciplinary and cultural perspectives The nineteen contributors from Asia and Europe as well as North and South America explain and evaluate Wallner's work and show the numerous fields of application and reveal possibilities for further development not least by pointing out the one or other vagueness of CR as well as by referring to some overlaps with other schools of thought In order to facilitate further discussions concerning CR the appendix offers a selected bibliography to help readers find their way through the wide field of Friedrich respectively Fritz G Wallner's publications About the author Jan Brousek born 1979 holds a PhD in philosophy of science and is a university lecturer and independent trainer as well as a shiatsu therapist He studied philosophy sociology and comparative religion at the universities of Vienna Macerata IT and Calgary CA focusing on the topics of interculturality and peace studies In his dissertation he critically examined the epistemological shortcomings of conflict resolution from the perspective of Constructive Realism Referring to this he has been propagating a relational concept of commitment which he since then has tried to apply to other research fields especially those of politics and medicine In this context he co edited the bilingual volume Slovenija sterreich Befreiendes Erinnern Osvobajajo e spominjanje Drava as well as Constructive Realism and Chinese Medicine libri nigri 81 and published several related papers including peer reviewed ones such as The Concept of Peace Region as Alternative to Traditional Political Autonomy Experiences from the Project Building the Peace Region Alps Adriatic Treatises and Documents 81 and Die Landkarte ist nicht die Landschaft oder eine nicht newtonische Ann herung an Akupunktur Polylog 45

The Making of Modern Chinese Medicine, 1850-1960 Bridie Andrews, 2014-12-20 Medical care in nineteenth century China was spectacularly pluralistic herbalists shamans bone setters midwives priests and a few medical missionaries from the West all competed for patients In the century that followed pressure to reform traditional medicine in China came not only from this small clutch of Westerners but from within the country itself as governments set on modernization aligned themselves against the traditions of the past and individuals saw in the Western system the potential for new wealth and power This book examines the dichotomy between Western and Chinese medicine showing how it has been greatly exaggerated As missionaries went to lengths to make their medicine more acceptable to Chinese patients modernizers of Chinese medicine worked to become more scientific by eradicating superstition and creating modern institutions Andrews challenges the supposed superiority of Western medicine in China while showing how traditional Chinese medicine was deliberately created in the image of a modern scientific practice Chinese Traditional Herbal Medicine Michael Tierra,

Classical Chinese Medicine Liu Lihong, 2019-04-19 The English edition of Liu Lihong's milestone work is a sublime beacon for the profession of Chinese medicine in the 21st century Classical Chinese Medicine delivers a straightforward critique of the politically motivated integration of traditional Chinese wisdom with Western science during the last sixty years and represents an ardent appeal for the recognition of Chinese medicine as a science in its own right Professor Liu's candid presentation has made this book a bestseller in China treasured not only by medical students and doctors but by vast numbers of non professionals who long for a state of health and well being that is founded in a deeper sense of cultural identity Oriental medicine education has made great strides in the West since the 1970s but clear guidelines regarding the traditional nature of Traditional Chinese Medicine TCM remain undefined Classical Chinese Medicine not only delineates the educational and clinical problems faced by the profession in both East and West but transmits concrete and inspiring guidance on how to effectively engage with ancient texts and designs in the postmodern age Using the example of the Shanghanlun Treatise on Cold Damage one of the most important Chinese medicine classics Liu Lihong develops a compelling roadmap for holistic medical thinking that links the human body to nature and the universe at large
