Down Detour Road Eric J. Cesal, 2010-08-06 A young architect's search for new architectural values in a time of economic crisis I paused at the stoop and thought this could be the basis of a good book The story of a young man who went deep into the bowels of the academy in order to understand architecture and found it had been on his doorstep all along This had an air of hokeyness about it but it had been a tough couple of days and I was feeling sentimental about the warm confines of the studio which had unceremoniously discharged me upon the world from Down Detour Road What does it say about the value of architecture that as the world faces economic and ecological crises unprecedented numbers of architects are out of work This is the question that confronted architect Eric Cesal as he finished graduate school at the onset of the worst financial meltdown in a generation Down Detour Road is his journey one that begins off course and ends in a hopeful new vision of architecture Like many architects of his generation Cesal confronts a cold reality Architects may assure each other of their own importance but society has come to view architecture as a luxury it can do without For Cesal this recognition becomes an occasion to rethink architecture and its value from the very core He argues that the times demand a new architecture an empowered architecture that is useful and relevant New architectural values emerge as our cultural values shift from high risks to safe bets from strong portfolios to strong communities and from clean lines to clean energy This is not a book about how to run a firm or a profession it doesn't predict the future of architectural form or aesthetics It is a personal story and in many ways a generational one a story that follows its author on a winding detour across the country around the profession and into a new architectural reality predict the future of architectural form or aesthetics It is a personal story and in many ways a generational one a story that follows its author on a winding detour across the country around the profession and into a new architectural reality The Financial Architect (or, A Brief Economic History of Architecture), digital original edition Eric J. Cesal, 2014-01-10 The new generation of architects faces a cold reality of economic and ecological crises Architects may assure each other of their own importance but society has come to view architecture as a luxury it can do without For Eric Cesal this recognition becomes an occasion to rethink architecture and its value from the very core In this BIT Cesal considers the economics of architecture and why an architect needs to know about finance as well as about buildings

Humanitarian Architecture Esther Charlesworth, 2014-06-27 Never has the demand been so urgent for architects to respond to the design and planning challenges of rebuilding post disaster sites and cities In 2011 more people were displaced by natural disasters 42 million than by wars and armed conflicts And yet the number of architects equipped to deal with rebuilding the aftermath of these floods fires earthquake typhoons and tsunamis is chronically short This book documents and analyses the expanding role for architects in designing projects for communities after the event of a natural disaster The fifteen case studies featured in the body of the book illustrate how architects can use spatial sensibility and integrated problem solving skills to help alleviate both human and natural disasters The cases include Lizzie Babister Department of International Development UK Shigeru Ban Winner of The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2014 Shigeru Ban Architects and Voluntary Architects Network Japan Eric Cesal Disaster Reconstruction and Resiliency Studio and Architecture for Humanity Japan Hsieh Ying Chun Atelier 3 Taiwan Nathaniel Corum Education Outreach and Architecture for Humanity USA Sandra D Urzo Shelter and Settlements and International Federation of the Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies Switzerland Brett Moore World Vision International Australia Michael Murphy MASS Design Group USA David Perkes Gulf Coast Community Design Studio USA Paul Pholeros Healthabitat Australia Patama Roonrakwit Community Architects for Shelter and Environment Thailand Graham Saunders International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies Switzerland Kirtee Shah Ahmedabad Study Action Group India Maggie Stephenson UN HABITAT Haiti Anna Wachtmeister Catholic Organisation for Relief and Redevelopment Aid the Netherlands The interviews and supporting essays show built environment professionals collaborating with post disaster communities as facilitators collaborators and negotiators of land space and shelter rather than as save the world modernists as often portrayed in the design media The goal is social and physical reconstruction as a collaborative process involving a damaged community and its local culture environment and economy not just shelter projects that build houses but leave no economic footprint or longer term community infrastructure What defines and unites the architects interviewed for Humanitarian Architecture is their collective belief that through a consultative process of spatial problem solving the design profession can contribute in a significant way to the complex post disaster challenge of rebuilding a city and its community

Architecture 3.0 Cliff Moser, 2013-12-04 This book provides a definitive guide for the future direction of the practice and profession of architecture In five parts Cliff Moser provides you with all the tools and know how to implement changes that will serve you and your practice in the short medium and long term Written at a crucial time for the industry this is essential reading for every architect     Design for Partnerships for Change Sandi Hilal,Merve Bedir,Mette Ramsgaard Thomsen,Martin Tamke,2023-09-27 Architecture has played a very important role in colonization of the society and the earth and today we have the urgent task to crack the theory and practice of this same Architecture We can achieve this only by working collectively towards reframing concepts that has been at the centre of a dominant universalist western knowledge creation Rethinking and reframing the ideals of community participation commons agency design and land this book puts forward a collective effort to shift the centre of architectural thinking and practice and create as many ways possible to understand our role as architects today We acknowledge unrecognized practices by bringing back everyday life experiences different paths and forms of knowledge production and storytelling that inform our understanding of architecture The book is part of a series of six volumes that explore the agency of the built environment in relation to the SDGs through new research conducted by leading researchers The series is led by editors Mette Ramsgaard Thomsen and Martin Tamke in collaboration with the theme editors Design for Climate Adaptation Billie Faircloth and Maibritt Pedersen Zari Design for Rethinking Resources Carlo Ratti and Mette Ramsgaard Thomsen Eds Design for Resilient Communities Anna Rubbo and Juan Du Eds Design for Health Arif Hasan and Christian Benimana Eds Design for Inclusivity Magda Mostafa and Ruth Baumeister Eds Design for Partnerships for Change Sandi Hilal and Merve Bedir Eds     Design for Fragility Esther Charlesworth,John Fien,2022-12-30 The demand is now urgent for architects to respond to the design and planning challenges of rebuilding cities and landscapes being destroyed by civil conflict un natural disasters political instability and poverty The number of people fleeing their homes and being displaced by such conflict now totals almost 100 million Despite the massive human and physical costs of these crises the number of architects planners and landscape architects equipped to work with disaster and development professionals in rebuilding in the aftermath of conflict floods fires earthquakes typhoons and tsunamis remains chronically low Design for Fragility expands the nascent but rapidly growing field of humanitarian architecture by exploring 13 design responses to such conflict and displacement across 11 countries including Australia Bangladesh Fiji India Iran Pakistan and the USA Linked to this displacement is the systemic poverty that often lingers from previous colonial territories and eras in which many of the featured projects in the book are located This book follows Charlesworth s Humanitarian Architecture 15 Stories of Architects Working After Disasters Routledge 2014 which analysed the role for architects in exercising spatial agency while designing shelter and settlement projects for communities after conflict and disaster Since that time the humanitarian architecture movement has expanded globally with the prominence of design agencies including the MASS Design Group and Architecture Sans Fronti res ASF International Design for Fragility analyses this role of spatial agency in architecture by addressing diverse conditions of fragility across 13 built projects from refugee housing in Uganda and an orphanage for teenage girls in Iran to a residential centre in Northern Australia for people with acquired brain injury Each of the projects profiled in this book explore The experiences and perceptions of fragility or precarity that provided a design challenge and directed the particular spatial response The specific typology of the project whether that be a housing health children s or a First Nations project The personal values that influenced the architects to work on humanitarian community projects and how consultation occurred with diverse and often contested project stakeholders The experiences of the design team as well as project managers occupants and donors of the built project exploring what they deemed successful about the project and what if any were its limitations Beautifully designed with over 150 illustrations this practical and inspiring book is for architects landscape architects design educators humanitarian and development aid agencies that are involved or seeking to be part of future disaster mitigation and reconstruction strategies and projects globally

The Architect in Practice David Chappell,Andrew Willis,2010-07-13 The Architect in Practice was first published in 1952 Originally written by a quantity surveyor and an architect it has remained through its nine editions a leading textbook used in the education of architects world wide While the format of the book has developed the message and philosophy remains the same as the original to provide the student of architecture and the young practitioner with a readable guide to the profession outlining an architect s duties to client and contractor the key aspects of running a building contract and the essentials of management finance and drawing office procedure The tenth edition follows in that tradition The authors still an architect and a quantity surveyor have brought the text fully up to date Major revisions in this edition include Revised sections on Planning and the Building Regulations Changes to the education of architects in the UK have been detailed Discussion of the new ARB Architects Code Standards of Professional Conduct and Practice which came into force in January 2010 The commentary on the RIBA Standard Form for the Appointment of an Architect 1999 SFA 99 has been updated The latest RIBA Standard Agreement 2010 S 10 A is now discussed All references to JCT contracts have been updated to refer to the latest revisions of the 2005 suite of contracts Now also includes reference to education registration and CPD requirements of the Royal Institute of the Architects of Ireland The tenth edition of The Architect in Practice will continue to provide the guidance and advice all students and practising architects need in the course of their studies and in their profession

The Architect's Guide to Running a Practice David Littlefield, 2012-05-31 This is your essential one stop shop for information on starting and running a practice Case studies and advice from practitioners big and small run alongside outlines of all the key topics to give you an insight into the problems and challenges others have faced when setting up a design business Accessible and informative this handbook is the ideal first point of reference when starting a practice Architects have many different reasons for setting up in practice equally there are many ways of running your own business This handbook helps you consider whether or not you should set up on your own examining issues such as financing office space recruitment IT and working out a business plan Some architects want to stay small while others have ambitions to grow into large businesses Some grow big accidentally And then there are those who pick and choose their work carefully and even turn down undesirable contracts while others will grab at everything possible This book would explore these different models and illustrate how different kinds of practice develop into successful businesses Importantly the book will stress that these issues are crucial you may be the best designer in the world but unless your business is well managed you will fail On the other hand some successful architects spend a lot of time looking for new work and attending to management issues rarely finding the time for design work This book would illustrate how architects have struck a balance between these two extremes
