London in Cinema Charlotte Brunsdon, 2019-07-25 Charlotte Brunsdon s illuminating study explores the variety of cinematic Londons that appear in films made since 1945 Brunsdon traces the familiar ways that film makers establish that a film is set in London by use of recognisable landmarks and the city s shorthand iconography of red buses and black taxis as well as the ways in which these icons are avoided She looks at London weather fog and rain and everyday locations like the pub and the housing estate while also examining the recurring patterns of representation associated with films set in the East and West Ends of London from Spring in Park Lane 1948 to Mona Lisa 1986 and from Night and the City 1950 to From Hell 2001 Brunsdon provides a detailed analysis of a selection of films exploring their contribution to the cinematic geography of London and showing the ways in which feature films have responded to and created changing views of the city She traces London s transformation from imperial capital to global city through the different ways in which the local is imagined in films ranging from Ealing comedies to Pressure 1974 as well as through the shifting imagery of the River Thames and the Docks She addresses the role of cinematic genres such as horror and film noir in the constitution of the cinematic city as well as the recurrence of figures such as the cockney the gangster and the housewife Challenging the view that London is not a particularly cinematic city Brunsdon demonstrates that many London set films offer their own meditation on the complex relationships between the cinema and the city

Moving Pictures/Stopping Places David B. Clarke, Valerie Crawford Pfannhauser, Marcus A. Doel, 2009-05-16 Mobility has long been a defining feature of modern societies yet remarkably little attention has been paid to the various stopping places _hotels motels and the like_ that this mobility presupposes If the paradoxical qualities of fixed places dedicated to facilitating movement have been overlooked by a variety of commentators film makers have shown remarkable prescience and consistency in engaging with these still points around which the world is made to turn Hotels and motels play a central role in a multitude of films ranging across an immensely wide variety of genres eras and national cinemas Whereas previous film theorists have focused on the movement implied by road movies and similar genres the outstanding contributions to this volume extend the recent engagement with space and place in film studies providing a series of fascinating explorations of the cultural significance of stopping places both on screen and off Ranging from the mythical elegance of the Grand Hotel through the uncanny spaces of the Bates motel to Korean love motels the wealth of insights from a variety of theoretical perspectives that this volume delivers is set to change our understanding of the role played by stopping places in an increasingly fluid world Roger Ebert's Movie

Yearbook 2006 Roger Ebert, 2005-11 Now fully updated this annual yearbook includes every review Ebert had written from January 2007 to July 2009 It also includes interviews essays tributes and all new questions and answers from his Questions for the Movie Answer Man columns Transplant Fictions Emily Russell, 2019-04-17 Removing an organ from one typically dead body and placing it in another living body challenges our most foundational ideas about boundaries between self and other individual and social identity life and death health and illness But despite these transgressions organ transplant is a celebrated and relatively common procedure Transplant Fictions brings together a diverse set of cultural representations to understand how we have overcome the profound ideological violations represented by organ exchange in order to reimagine the concept and practice as technological and moral victories From the plots of horror stories and sci fi novels to sentimental romances and feel good media reports of stranger donation this cultural study offers a nuanced portrait of the conceptual journey of organ exchange from strange and terrible to the gift of life The Spectral Metaphor E.

Peeren, 2014-01-30 What does it mean to live as a ghost Exploring spectrality as a metaphor in the contemporary British and American cultural imagination Peeren proposes that certain subjects migrants servants mediums and missing persons are perceived as living ghosts and examines how this figuration can signify both dispossession and empowerment or agency
