Divostin And The Neolithic Of Central Serbia:

Divostin and the Neolithic of Central Serbia Alan McPherron, Dragoslav Srejović, 1988 Balkan Prehistory
Douglass W. Bailey, 2002-09-11 Douglass Bailey's volume fills the huge gap that existed for a comprehensive synthesis in English of the archaeology of the Balkans between 6500 and 2000 BC. Much research on the prehistory of Eastern Europe was inaccessible to a western audience before now because of linguistic barriers. Bailey argues against traditional interpretations of the period which focus on the origins of agriculture and animal breeding. He demonstrates that this was a period when monumental social and material changes occurred in the lives of the people in this region with new technologies and ways of displaying identity. Balkan Prehistory will be required reading for everyone studying the Neolithic, Copper and early Bronze Ages of Eastern Europe.

Hunting and Fishing in the Neolithic and Eneolithic Selena Vitezović, Christoforos Arampatzis, 2024-05-02 This volume contains 13 papers on hunting and fishing techniques, weapons and prey in the area from Anatolia to the Gibraltar region. Papers include specific case studies as well as syntheses of wider data sets and provide the latest methodological and theoretical perspectives on the role of hunting and fishing in early agricultural societies.

The Oxford Handbook of Neolithic Europe Chris Fowler, Jan Harding, Daniela Hofmann, 2015 The Neolithic, a period in which the first sedentary agrarian communities were established across much of Europe, has been a key topic of archaeological research for over a century. However, the variety of evidence across Europe and the way research traditions in different countries and languages have developed makes it very difficult for both students and specialists to gain an overview of continent-wide trends. The Oxford Handbook of Neolithic Europe provides the first comprehensive geographically extensive thematic overview of the European Neolithic from Iberia to Russia and from Norway to Malta, offering both a general introduction and a clear exploration of key issues and current debates surrounding evidence and interpretation. Chapters written by leading experts in the field examine topics such as the movement of plants, animals, ideas and people, including recent trends in the application of genetics and isotope analyses, cultural change from the first farming to the first metal artefacts, domestic architecture, subsistence, material culture, monuments and burial, and other treatments of the dead. In doing so, the volume also considers the history of research and sets out agendas and themes for future work in the field.

The Rise of Metallurgy in Eurasia Miljana Radivojević, Benjamin Roberts, Miroslav Marić, Julka Kuzmanović-Cvetković, Thilo Rehren, 2021-12-23 The Rise of Metallurgy in Eurasia is a landmark study in the evolution of early metallurgy in the Balkans. It demonstrates that far from being a rare and elite practice, the earliest metallurgy in the world was a common and communal craft activity.

Going West? Agathe Reingruber, Zoë Tsirtsoni, Petranka Nedelcheva, 2017-04-21 Going West uses the latest data to question how the Neolithic way of life was diffused from the Near East to Europe via Anatolia. The transformations of the 7th millennium BC in western Anatolia undoubtedly had a significant impact on the neighboring regions of southeast Europe. Yet the nature, pace and trajectory of this impact needs still to be clarified Archaeologists searched previously for similarities in prehistoric especially Early Neolithic material cultures on both sides of the Sea of Marmara Recent research shows that although the isthmi of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus connect Asia Minor and the eastern Balkans they apparently did not serve as passageways for the dissemination of Neolithic innovations Instead the first permanent settlements are situated near the Aegean coast of Thrace and Macedonia often occurring close to the mouths of big rivers in secluded bays The courses and the valleys of rivers such as the Maritsa Strymon and Axios were perfect corridors for contact and exchange Using previous studies as a basis for fresh research this volume presents exciting new viewpoints by analyzing recently discovered materials and utilising interdisciplinary investigations with the application of modern research methods The seventeen authors of this book have dedicated their research to a renewed evaluation of an old problem namely the question of how the complex transformations at the transition from the Mesolithic to the Neolithic can be explained They have focused their studies on the vast area of the eastern Balkans and the Pontic region between the Bosphorus and the rivers Strymon Danube and Dniestr Going West thus offers an overview of the current state of research concerning the Neolithisation of these areas considering varied viewpoints and also providing useful starting points for future investigations

Artisans Rule Ina Miloglav,Jasna Vuković,2019-01-10 Craft production and its significance for understanding social relations are one of the essential topics in prehistoric archaeology Standardization of raw materials products and manufacturing procedures and the presence or absence of specialized artisans still challenge scholars engaged in the studies of technology social archaeology exchange and distribution networks and economy in the past In this volume seven case studies covering a chronological span from the Neolithic to La T ne Europe explore the notions of standardization and specialization the nature of their interrelationship the methods for assessing their presence in the archaeological record and their significance for the reconstruction of social relations and emergence of social complexity while two ethnoarchaeological studies focus on the organization of production and methods of estimation of a number of artisans This volume brings together research from prominent scholars based on different theoretical perspectives thus giving new insight into the fundamental issues related to artisans and their crafts

Animal Husbandry and Hunting in the Central and Western Balkans Through Time Nemanja Marković,Jelena Bulatović,2020-11-05 This volume presents the results of new research on animal herding and hunting in the central and western Balkans during the prehistoric and historic periods The investigations cover a wide range of topics related to animal exploitation strategies ranging from broad syntheses to specific case studies

Lithic Studies: Anatolia and Beyond Adnan Baysal,2022-03-31 This volume aims to show networks of cultural interactions by focusing on the latest lithic studies from Turkey Greece and the Balkans bringing to the forefront the connectedness and techno cultural continuity of knapped and ground stone technologies

Fragmentation in Archaeology John Chapman,2013-04-15 Fragmentation in Archaeology revolutionises archaeological studies of material culture by arguing that the deliberate physical fragmentation of objects and their often structured deposition lies at the core of the archaeology of the Mesolithic Neolithic and Copper Age of Central and Eastern Europe John Chapman draws on detailed evidence from the Balkans to explain such phenomena as the mass sherd deposition in pits and the wealth of artefacts found in the Varna cemetery to place the significance of fragmentation within a broad anthropological context Communities in Transition Søren Dietz, Fanis Mavridis, Žarko Tankosić, Turan Takaoglu, 2017-11-30

Communities in Transition brings together scholars from different countries and backgrounds united by a common interest in the transition between the Neolithic and the Early Bronze Age in the lands around the Aegean Neolithic community was transformed in some places incrementally and in others rapidly during the 5th and 4th millennia BC into one that we would commonly associate with the Bronze Age Many different names have been assigned to this period Final Neolithic Chalcolithic Eneolithic Late Neolithic I II Copper Age which to some extent reflects the diversity of archaeological evidence from varied geographical regions During this long heterogeneous period developments occurred that led to significant changes in material culture the use of space the adoption of metallurgical practices establishment of far reaching interaction and exchange networks and increased social complexity The 5th to 4th millennium BC transition is one of inclusions entanglements connectivity and exchange of ideas raw materials finished products and quite possibly worldviews and belief systems Most of the papers presented here are multifaceted and complex in that they do not deal with only one topic or narrowly focus on a single line of reasoning or dataset Arranged geographically they explore a series of key themes Chronology cultural affinities and synchronization in material culture changing social structure and economy inter and intra site space use and settlement patterns caves and include both site reports and regional studies This volume presents a tour de force examination of many multifaceted aspects of the social cultural technological economic and ideological transformations that mark the transition from Neolithic to Early Bronze Age societies in the lands around the Aegean during the 5th and 4th millennium BC From These Bare Bones Alice Choyke, Sonia O'Connor, 2013-12-19 A fundamental component of the study of worked osseous objects is the identification of the raw materials chosen to make them In archaeological contexts many objects become degraded to the point where identification is very difficult and the way in which these materials decay during burial and upon excavation can vary greatly Correct identification is crucial to the investigation of objects their conservation and future curation Above all understanding raw material selection aids our understanding of human animal interaction in the past both on pragmatic and symbolic levels since the choices made by artisans vary by cultural tradition as well as availability The 20 papers presented here explore a wealth of information pertaining to the use of osseous materials over the long period of human craftsmanship and tool manufacture by exploring several key themes Raw material selection and curation within tool types Social aspects of raw material selection New methods of materials identification It is demonstrated that the issue of raw material identification has numerous implications for conservation work reproduction of objects the physical characteristics of the tool or ornament availability of raw materials the materials chosen for procurement and the cultural reasons that lie behind the choice of raw materials from particular species and skeletal elements to produce planned tool and ornament types Together these papers emphasize the need for confident and correct materials identification and demonstrate that functionality is by no means the only nor necessarily the most important factor in the selection of osseous raw materials for the fabrication of tools and other cultural objects

Prehistoric Europe Andrew Jones, 2008-11-10 Prehistoric Europe Theory and Practice provides a comprehensive introduction to the range of critical contemporary thinking in the study of European prehistory Presents essays by some of the most dynamic researchers and leading European scholars in the field today Ranges from the Neolithic period to the early stages of the Iron Age and from Ireland and Scandinavia to the Urals and the Iberian Peninsula

Flexible Stones Anna Stroulia, 2010-03-30 Despite their ubiquitous presence among prehistoric remains in Greece ground stone tools have yet to attract the same kind of attention as have other categories of archaeological material such as pottery or lithics Flexible Stones provides a detailed analysis of the material discovered during the excavations at Franchthi Cave Peloponnese Greece Approximately 500 tools the raw material used for their manufacture as well as the byproducts of such manufacture were found Most of this collection comes from the Neolithic component of the site including a small number of Palaeolithic and Mesolithic cases with a large number of the studied tools indicating multiple uses Anna Stroulia sees the multifunctional character of these tools as a conscious choice that reflects a flexible attitude of tool makers and users toward tools and raw materials

Communities, Landscapes, and Interaction in Neolithic Greece Apostolos Sarris, Evita Kalogiropoulou, Tuna Kalayci, Evagelia Karimali, 2018-08-17 The last three decades have witnessed a period of growing archaeological activity in Greece that have enhanced our awareness of the diversity and variability of ancient communities New sites offer rich datasets from many aspects of material culture that challenge traditional perceptions and suggest complex interpretations of the past This volume provides a synthetic overview of recent developments in the study of Neolithic Greece and reconsiders the dynamics of human environment interactions while recording the growing diversity in layers of social organization It fills an essential lacuna in contemporary literature and enhances our understanding of the Neolithic communities in the Greek Peninsula

Deer and People Karis Baker, Ruth Carden, Richard Madgwick, 2014-09-30 Deer have been central to human cultures throughout time and space whether as staples to hunter gatherers icons of Empire or the focus of sport Their social and economic importance has seen some species transported across continents transforming landscape as they went with the establishment of menageries and park The fortunes of other species have been less auspicious some becoming extirpated or being in threat of extinction due to pressures of over hunting and or human instigated environmental change In spite of their diverse deep rooted and long standing relations with human societies no multi disciplinary volume of research on cervids has until now been produced This volume draws together research on deer from wide ranging disciplines and in so doing substantially advances our broader understanding of human deer relationships in the past and the present Themes include species dispersal exploitation patterns symbolic significance material culture and art effects on the landscape and management The temporal span of research ranges from the Pleistocene to the modern day and covers Europe North America and Asia Papers derived from international conferences held at the University of Lincoln and in Paris

Balkan Dialogues Maja Gori, Maria Ivanova, 2017-02-17 Spatial variation and patterning in the distribution of artefacts are topics of fundamental significance in Balkan archaeology For decades archaeologists have classified spatial clusters of artefacts into discrete cultures which have been conventionally treated as bound entities and equated with past social or ethnic groups This timely volume fulfils the need for an up to date and theoretically informed dialogue on group identity in Balkan prehistory Thirteen case studies covering the beginning of the Neolithic to the Middle Bronze Age and written by archaeologists conducting fieldwork in the region as well as by ethnologists with a research focus on material culture and identity provide a robust foundation for exploring these issues Bringing together the latest research with a particular intentional focus on the central and western Balkans this collection offers original perspectives on Balkan prehistory with relevance to the neighbouring regions of Eastern and Central Europe the Mediterranean and Anatolia Balkan Dialogues challenges long established interpretations in the field and provides a new contextualised reading of the archaeological record of this region

A Most Indispensable Art James B. Petersen,1996 This collection of essays chronicles the diversity and richness of one broad category of traditional material culture fiber industries or textiles among prehistoric and historic Native Americans in eastern North America Such industries which include basketry fabrics cordage and netting played an important role in the economic social and ceremonial life of indigenous cultures However because of the extreme age of the artifacts their fragile nature and unfavorable preservation conditions knowledge of these industries has long been incomplete resulting in a gap in scholarship that this volume does much to address

The Origins and Spread of Domestic Animals in Southwest Asia and Europe Sue Colledge,James Conolly,Keith Dobney,Katie Manning,Stephen Shennan,2016-06-16 This volume tackles the fundamental and broad scale questions concerning the spread of early animal herding from its origins in the Near East into Europe beginning in the mid 10th millennium BC Original work by more than 30 leading international researchers synthesizes of our current knowledge about the origins and spread of animal domestication In this comprehensive book the zooarchaeological record and discussions of the evolution and development of Neolithic stock keeping take center stage in the debate over the profound effects of the Neolithic revolution on both our biological and cultural evolution
