"Things are always at their best in their beginning." - Pascal

"Medical history teaches us where we came from, where we stand in medicine at the present time, and in what direction we are marching. It is the compass that guides us into the future," Henry E. Sigerist

Summary

Marjory Warren (1897 - 1960) was a person with innovation and dynamism. Her work was missionary and her proposals visionary. She was a surgeon to start with, and yet she created geriatrics out of medicine. She advocated practising geriatrics as a specialist, and yet she emphasized the importance of generalist training. She argued for having separate wards with environment and caring process appropriate for elderly patients, but she insisted that these wards should be an integral part of a general hospital with equal access to diagnostic and therapeutic facilities. She was thankful that she was not distracted by fame during her early endeavours so that she could quietly build up this special branch of medicine. Her concern for human life, not only for the unwanted and unfittest elderly patients but also for her passengers, ended up in her tragic death in a car accident at the age of 62. Her work continues to influence and inspire those who share her conviction that elderly people deserve the best care.

Introduction

Although it has often been quoted that geriatric medicine in Hong Kong follows a British model, the pioneer work of Dr. Marjory Warren in British Geriatrics is not as widely appreciated locally. A review of the work and writings of Marjory Warren will inspire many to take up the challenge of geriatric medicine and throw light on the development of this speciality in Hong Kong.

A non-physician: from a surgeon to a medical superintendent to a geriatrician

Born in London in 1897, Marjory Winsome Warren was the eldest daughter of a barrister. She qualified from the Royal Free Hospital School of Medicine in London in 1923. After house appointments, she became an assistant medical officer in 1926 at the West Middlesex County Hospital, where her primary interest was in surgery, performing four thousand operations¹. In 1931, she became Deputy Medical Superintendent. Her career took a turning point in 1935 when the nearby Poor Law Infirmary was annexed into the West Middlesex Hospital, and she was given overnight the medical responsibility for 714 new patients, who were chronically ill, primary elderly patients labelled as "incurable". She attributed the high number of elderly bedridden chronic sick in this infirmary to poor diagnosis, a lack of medical supervision, insufficient treatment, a lack of multidisciplinary teamwork and an absence of rehabilitation. She accepted this new challenge by creating the first geriatric unit in the United Kingdom, based upon comprehensive assessment and early rehabilitation of the patients by a multidisciplinary team². Her innovative work led to the publication of the British Medical Association Report on the Care and Treatment of the Elderly and Infirm³ in 1947, and the initiation of comprehensive geriatric medicine service by the National Health Service Act in UK in 1948. In 1947, she became a founding member of the Medical Society for the Care of the Elderly, the forerunner of the British Geriatrics Society⁴. She was appointed as one of the first consultant geriatricians in the United Kingdom in 1949.

It is of interest to note that Marjory Warren was not a physician to start with, but a surgeon. This allowed her to take a fresh and unbiased look at the problems and needs of those elderly patients thought to be having a "disposal problem" only; and to conceive the idea of creating geriatrics as a speciality. Another example of a non-physician becoming a geriatrician is Lionel Cosin. Lionel Cosin was an orthopaedic surgeon who became a pioneer geriatrician and a founder member of the British Geriatrics Society⁵. He established an early model geriatric unit in Oxford and developed the first
