Routledge Handbook on Transnational Commercial Law Bruno Zeller, Camilla Baasch Andersen, 2025-02-21 This handbook edited by Zeller and Andersen is an indispensable contribution to the field of transnational commercial law. With an introduction by Sir Roy Goode, this book presents perspectives on legal issues of international sales transactions as perceived by world leading experts exposing pragmatic and modern aspects of everything from drafting to uniform laws to dispute resolution. The book divides itself between fundamental knowledge of transnational commercial law e.g. chapters on forum shopping, CISG, Cape Town Convention etc. and current and topical developments e.g. chapters on blockchain, smart contracts, metaverse, digital assets etc. International or transnational trade during the past twenty years has become more and more important, outstripping domestic trade as a hallmark of economic success. Model laws developed by the United Nations and other international bodies are now being transplanted or ratified by countries so a translational element must always be considered as part of any choice of law. Addressing a global audience as the instruments dealt with herein apply to many states in different regions, this handbook aims not only at an undergraduate and graduate student audience but also will interest professional lawyers.

E-business Law of the European Union Quinten R. Recently revised, updated and expanded, the second edition of e-Business Law of the European Union contains the text of the EU legislation which is of particular relevance to e-business, covering a broad spectrum of legal issues such as data protection, distance selling, electronic signatures, liability of online intermediaries, electronic money, applicable law and jurisdiction in international disputes.

Dynamic Business Law: The Essentials Lucien Dhooge, M. Neil Browne, Linda Barkacs, Daniel Herron, Nancy Kubasek, 2012-01-05 Dynamic Business Law The Essentials is appropriate for the one semester Business Law course. It contains the basics of business law but does not get bogged down in the kind of details that are more appropriate in an upper level law class. The text provides an examination of the basic questions, concepts and legal rules of business law. Emphasis on the BUSINESS in business law. Dynamic Business Law The Essentials emphasizes the tie of legal issues back to the core business curriculum. This will help both students and faculty. Faculty need to know how this is integrated as they are constantly defending the inclusion of this course in the business curriculum. And students need to understand how the concepts tie to their future business careers. Emphasis on TEACHING. Many professors teaching this course are attorneys first and academics second. They do not have a lot of time to prepare or think about how to apply this information effectively for their business students. Dynamic Business Law The Essentials contains a helpful instructor's manual particularly for the many adjuncts teaching this course. Emphasis on CRITICAL THINKING. Neil Browne, one of the co-authors of this text, has written a successful text on critical thinking. His framework is included in Dynamic Business Law The Essentials as well to help students learn how to frame and reframe a question/issue. Critical thinking questions are also included at the end of each case to tie in this component even further

EU Competition Law, Data Protection and Online Platforms: Data as Essential Facility Inge Graef, 2016-10-17 All are agreed that the digital economy contributes to a dynamic evolution of markets and competition. Nonetheless, concerns are increasingly raised about the market dominance of a few key players. Because these companies hold the power to drive rivals out of business, regulators have begun to seek scope for competition enforcement in cases where companies claim that withholding data is needed to satisfy customers and cut costs. This book is the first focus on how competition law enforcement tools can be applied to refusals of dominant firms to give access to data on online platforms such as search engines, social networks, and e-commerce platforms, commonly referred to as the gatekeepers of the Internet. The question arises whether the denial of a dominant firm to grant competitors access to its data could constitute a refusal to deal and lead to competition law liability under the so-called essential facilities doctrine, according to which firms need access to shared knowledge in order to be able to compete. A possible duty to share data with rivals also brings to the forefront the interaction of competition law with data protection legislation, considering that the required information may include personal data of individuals. Building on the refusal to deal concept and using a multidisciplinary approach, the analysis covers such issues and topics as the following: data portability, interoperability, data as a competitive advantage or entry barrier in digital markets, market definition and dominance with respect to data, disruptive versus sustaining innovation, role of intellectual property regimes, economic trade-off in essential facilities cases, relationship of competition enforcement with data protection law, and data-related competition concerns in merger cases. The author draws on a wealth of relevant material, including EU and US decision-making practice, case law, and policy documents, as well as economic and empirical literature on the link between competition and innovation. The book concludes with a proposed framework for the application of the essential facilities doctrine to potential forms of abuse of dominance relating to data. In addition, it makes suggestions as to how data protection interests can be integrated into competition policy. An invaluable contribution to ongoing academic and policy discussions about how data-related competition concerns should be addressed under competition law, the analysis clearly demonstrates how existing competition tools for market definition and assessment of dominance can be applied to online platforms. It will be of immeasurable value to the many jurists, business persons, and academics concerned with this very timely subject.
